HESITATION CAN BE COSTLY

QUESTION: I've just put my home up for sale and the first prospect who crossed the threshold offered to buy it at the asking price. Should I raise the price or accept his offer?

ANSWER: Once you put your house on the market, you have to make up your mind to sell when the right offer comes. The right offer may be your FIRST offer. If you turn it down, you may never get another as good. The best prospects usually show up early.

However, the offer should be a written one — the only kind that has any real significance and be accompanied by "earnest" money. Never take your property off the market on a verbal promise.

ONCE YOU PUT real estate on the market, make up your mind to sell when the right offer comes.

Newbury Pl. Apartments Open At Old Quincy School

The Newbury Place Apartments, the former Quincy School at 94 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, were officially opened with a ribbon-cutting.

The old schoolhouse has been converted into 37 one-bedroom units and 12 two-bedroom apartments with rents ranging from $495 to $800 a month.

Both Mayor Francis X. McCauley and City Councilor Joanne Condon were pleased with the efforts of the developer, Urban Consulting Associates.

"The neighborhood said from the beginning that they wanted mostly one bedroom units at affordable prices," said Condon. "I think the developer has worked very hard to respond to our concerns."

"This is the kind of innovative financing we need to provide additional housing at affordable rents here in Quincy," said McCauley.

Robert T. Kenney of Urban Consulting Associates, the managing general partner, said the project was made feasible by use of federal tax credits available through the Accelerated Cost Recovery System.

Other partners in the project are Richard Barry, former city solicitor; Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt of Quincy; and Francis X. Messina of Braintree.

The old school building has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places and the developer worked with the Massachusetts Historical Commission to keep the rehabilitation within design guidelines.

While the interior is completely new with contemporary living units, the exterior remains unchanged, except for cleaning and minor ground floor alterations.

More than 50 per cent of the apartment units are rented.

Spring Cleanup Next Week

Councillor Patricia Toland, Chairman of the City Council's Beautification Committee, announces that next week will be Quincy's Spring Cleanup Week.

The Department of Public Works and the Park Department will make an intensive effort to clean up litter and cut the grass in their respective areas, said

Mrs. Toland.

She also said she has requested the School Department to join in the clean-up effort by having the students form "Clean Teams" to pick up litter in the school environs.

Mrs. Toland asks that all residents cooperate in the spring clean-up by cleaning up their own residential area and keeping lids on their trash cans to keep litter from blowing around.

Next week, Councillor Toland said, letters will go out to owners of parcels of land around the city where litter has accumulated. In addition, business owners in the city will be requested to keep their property free of litter and their dumpsters covered and not allow them to overflow.

Colton Gets $8,000 Pay Hike

to other city employees.

Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson had argued for the increase in the position held by David Colton from $22,483 to $30,379 because Colton makes less than some people he supervises.

"I can't justify an $8,000 pay raise for one employee," said Mrs. Condon.

Councilor Richard Knapp Jr. seconded the motion, which later failed.

Councillor Michael Cheney said he couldn't support the motion because Colton has had a change in his responsibilities.

For two and a half to three days a week, he acts as commissioner, said Cheney, while Anderson is at the newly created Water and Resources Authority.

Cheney suggested that if the authority compensates Anderson for his time, that money go back to the city.

Councillor Patricia Toland defended the increase by saying it was legitimizing the position which had been underpaid.

Harold Urges Ho Jo Sale To Boston Group

Senator Paul D. Harold, has urged the British-based owners of the Howard Johnson restaurant and motel chain to sell the properties to a Boston investment group.

The British firm, Imperial Group, Ltd., is reported to be considering sale of the Howard Johnson properties, which it purchased several years ago.

In a letter to Imperial Group Chairman Geoffrey Kent, Harold noted that of the five groups expressing interest in acquiring Howard Johnson's, only the Boston-based Exeter Group has made commitments to retain the chain's headquarters and manufacturing operations in Massachusetts.

Harold said that between 3,000 and 4,000 jobs in Massachusetts would be affected by the sale, including employees who work at the candy manufacturing and meat processing plants in Quincy and the ice cream plant in Brockton.

Others reportedly interested in Howard Johnson's include the Marriott Hotel chain and investment groups in New York, New Jersey, and Canada.

Harold noted that he has discussed the sale with one of the principals of the Exeter Group, Robert Friedlander, whose father served as a director of the original Howard Johnson's Corporation board.

Because of Friedlander's long family association with the business, the group would preserve the manufacturing jobs in Massachusetts and maintains its headquarters here, Senator Harold said.

"While I understand that the Imperial Group's business decisions are its own to make, I would point out that Howard Johnson started his business in Quincy, and his success is a classic American success story," Harold said.

"I think it would be unfortunate if the company were split up, or ceased to serve as a continuing landmark of business character and unity."

Morrissey Backs State Takeover Of County Jails

Rep. Michael Morrissey is among several legislators who have proposed a state takeover of the county jails.

"The time has come for the state to assume the continuing costs of the operation of these facilities," he said.

"County and local governments are experiencing serious diminishing fiscal resources. For this reason, we are in favor of this proposal which will reduce county assessments and thereby increase local aid and spending."

At the same time, he urged that authority over the institutions remain with the county sheriffs.

"We are presently working with the sheriffs and county officials to develop the statutory language necessary to adopt and implement a proposal of state assumption of costs," said Morrissey.

"The transition must be instituted in a manner in which fiscal impact on local government is positive and also to produce a smooth merger of county personnel into the state personnel administration system."

The proposal is also backed by House Speaker George Keever and Rep. Richard Voke, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

SSCFC Distributors Teen Self Help Guide

The South Shore Council for Children is distributing free self-help resource guides for parents and teens. One is a "Self-Help Guide for Teens" which lists area phone numbers of services that provide emergency help answers to alcohol and drug questions, low-cost counseling services, help for health and parenting concerns, and services for employment and recreation, needs. This guide is pocket-sized and designed for easy use.

The Council also published "A Parents Guide to Public Service Agencies" which describes town, state and federal agencies that serve children and families in Quincy.

For a copy of either guide, call the South Shore Area Office for Children at 849-1882.

On Unanimous Vote $75 Million Hospital Bond Issue Approved

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The City Council voted unanimously Monday to approve a home rule petition for a $75,000,000 bond issue for replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital.

The action was taken after councillors were satisfied with the future of the Quincy Detoxification Center at the hospital.

It's a crucial first step," said Gerald Marquis, chairman of the hospital's board of managers, who explained that approvals are now needed by the general court and federal government, followed by a bond sale.

If all goes well, said Marquis, bids could go out in September and construction could start in October and would continue for 24 months.

Agreement has been reached on a three-year lease for the detox center at the hospital's now vacant Gordon House, said Marquis.

The new facility will give the center 11,900 sq. ft. on two floors at the back of the building, according to Marquis who noted there is 60,000 sq. ft. in the entire facility.

The detox center has been located since the early 1970s at the Faxon House which is scheduled to be torn down as part of the replacement plans.

Marquis said that will remain at $1,000 a month and there is no option to renew after the three year lease expires.

"But we have expressed in the lease an obligation to work with them (the detox center) so they can carry on their mission," said Marquis.

"The board would never have them on the street."

Marquis said the rest of the Gordon House may be used for medical offices.

Councillor Michael Cheney was among those

Water Authority To Decide Quincy Told 'No Deal' Made On Long Island

By DAN CONNELLY

Quincy officials were told at a State House meeting Tuesday, no deal was struck by Governor Michael Dukakis to site a new regional sewage treatment plant off Long Island.

The assurance came from Secretary of Environmental Affairs James Hoyte to Mayor Francis X. McCauley who asked: "There is no decision being made yet and no deal in the offering? And, would it be fair to say a decision of a site for new regional sewage treatment plant will be made solely on the merits of the case."

The choice between Long Island and Deer Island will actually be made by the board of directors of the newly created Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, Hoyte told the Quincy area delegation.

The battle over the site erupted following published reports that quoted a Winthrop activist who opposes the selection of Deer Island as a site for the treatment plant as saying that someone in the governor's office told her Governor Dukakis supported Long Island.

Sen. Paul Harold told the meeting the published report "created an administrative credibility question and has to be defused."

Sen. William Golden of Weymouth said "the decision should be the board's and not the governor's."

Other Quincy area officials attending the State House meeting were Rep. Michael Morrissey and Rep. Thomas Brownell, both of Quincy, Rep. Mary Janet Murray of Cohasset, Thomas Nutly, President of the Atlantic Civic Association, Arthur Chandler of the Quincy Citizens Association, Leo Kelly, former Ward One Councillor, and a member of the advisory board of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, DPW Commr. Paul Anderson, and aides to Governor Dukakis.

Prior to the Tuesday meeting Mayor McCauley promised Quincy is ready to lead an out-and-out fight to keep the plant off Long Island.

"We're just as concerned about the preservation of Long Island as we have been in preventing the expansion of Nut Island," McCauley said.

The mayor said he has heard Winthrop citizens are pressuring the Dukakis administration to reject Deer Island in that community as a site for the plant. "We want the governor to know that we're every bit as concerned," he said.

The mayor said the future strategy of a stay-off-Long-Island campaign will depend on the outcome of the Tuesday meeting with Hoyte.

Environmental groups will be invited to join Quincy officials at city hall within 10 days to present grassroots opposition to the selection of Long Island.

Court Upholds Decision On Junior High Principals

A 1982 decision by the Quincy School Committee to demote four junior high school principals due to the closing of five junior high schools has been upheld by an appeals court.

The lawsuit was filed by former principals Paul A. Breslin, Arnold A. Rubin, Charles V. Hickey and John Scanlan who claimed they were demoted and their pay cut without hearings.

Justice Rudolph Kass stated in a written decision that the committee acted in accordance with law, and the salaries were lawfully reduced.

Breslin was demoted to assistant principal and Rubin, Hickey and Scanlan to the rank of teachers.

June 21 Last Day Of School

The Quincy School Committee has approved Friday, June 21, as the final day of school for 1984-85.

The school year will officially total 181 days, therefore, the hourly requirements of the State Board of Education will have been met.

Wollaston Site For New Chinese Restaurant Questioned

By LINDA WILKINS

Wollaston could have another Chinese restaurant, but not before the Quincy License Board and Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath have reviewed parking, neighbor's concerns, and saturation of restaurants in the area.

The request for a common victualer license for Benjamin Restaurant, 688 Hancock St., formerly the Dinner Bell, was continued to June 4.

"This is probably not the most appropriate use of that site. Many people in the immediate area have expressed their concerns and parking is not adequate here," said Councillor McGrath.

McGrath said residents of the area are not only concerned with the parking situation, but also with the fact that there is another Chinese restaurant close by.

Mascot Chef, a take out Chinese food restaurant, is also located in Wollaston Square at 666 Hancock St.

In response to a favorable petition brought to the meeting by Peter Benjamin Rae, a partner in Benjamin Restaurant, and signed by people living in the general area, McGrath said:

"I can't say if these people are abutters of the property. I have a lot of concerns and would have a problem with a favorable recommendation today, not having been able to speak to the abutting neighbors.

"The saturation point may have been reached in that particular area," he said.

Conditions At Auto Sales Firm Before License Board

The License Board will again take up the issue of conditions at Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St., Quincy Point, June 4.

The board voted Tuesday to continue the hearing for two weeks to allow time for resolution of the licensed location and address of Piccarini's.

"The point here is that we licensed a building and lot of land which was fenced in. The size of the land was not described in the license. Then, it was extended to twice the size (of fenced in land)," said Police Chief Francis Finn, a member of the License Board.

The land originally licensed by the board for the towing and storage of motor vehicles, was about 10,000 square feet. A second lot, of about the same size, was fenced off by the owner of the land, Paul Marini.

"They (Piccarini) pushed a bulldozer outside of the licensed area and into a marsh area. They went beyond their license and right near the Town Brook," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

"Through a process of osmosis, cars were abandoned on the second lot. Mr. Marini doubled the size of the area with a fence and gate and Piccarini's used the extended area," Finn said.

MacDonald said Piccarini left cars "dripping grease and oil which will get into the brook" in the second lot.

According to Mrs. June Piccarini, owner of Piccarini Auto Sales, and her attorney, Paul P. Hayes Jr., the company recently cleaned the area.

"There are no motor vehicles there now," said Hayes.

Photographs of the area were submitted by MacDonald and Hayes as evidence. Hayes' photographs, which were taken by Mrs. Piccarini the day before the meeting, showed that the automobiles had been removed.

"Even if they did pull them out, they violated the terms of the license," said MacDonald.

Although the board acknowledged that a license cannot be arbitrarily extended by an individual, it is according to Finn, in "muddy waters" because the license did not describe in detail the extent of land to be used by Piccarini's.

"The license says 24 Raymond St.," said MacDonald, adding that a portion of the Piccarini building is on Atlas St.

Paul Barbadoro, assistant city solicitor, said the fact that the size of the land was not described on the license "makes expansion a weak violation" but he said, the board does have the right to ask that Piccarini remove abandoned cars from the area.

Barbadoro will act as an agent for the board and work with Hayes in resolving the location and address of Piccarini's.

Task Force To Study Shipyard Options

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A Blue Ribbon Task Force is planned to investigate options for use of the General Dynamics shipyard.

The task force, suggested by Councillor Patricia Toland, will be a joint effort of the City Council and Mayor Francis McAuley.

Mrs. Toland told her fellow councillors: "For the past several weeks, the residents of the City of Quincy have been disturbed over the announcement by General Dynamics concerning the impending layoffs of workers at the Quincy Shipyard.

"Although it is proper and essential that everything possible be done to encourage new contracts for the shipyard, there are strong indications that the future of this important facility is in serious question.

"... I firmly believe that now is the time for the City of Quincy to begin to look at possible options for the shipyard, one of the most important properties in our city.

"More than anything else, we need to be prepared should the time come that the shipyard does close its gates."

Mrs. Toland suggested that the task force include the Ward 2 City Councillor, the shipworkers' union, the state representatives and state senator, Planning Department, Community Action Program, South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and business and civic leaders.

She also included the office of the governor, state office of economic affairs and office of Cong. Brian Donnelly in the task force which she recommended should meet by June 10.

Councillor Michael Cheney commended Mrs. Toland's resolve but added, "General Dynamics is a shipbuilding industry which never showed any indication it wanted to do anything else."

Cheney said he suggested that General Dynamics compete for a $750,000 MBTA contract for 50 service rail cars, but the Quincy shipyard rejected the idea.

"Someone has to hit General Dynamics over the head to let them know they're in trouble," said Cheney.

Councillor Joanne Condon said, "efforts should be made to keep General Dynamics open as a shipyard for the next 10 years so that we can receive back in taxes some of the $2.8 million we're paying them, (in tax overassessments)."

Council president James Sheets said a meeting is in the works between Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth to evaluate the potential for future contracts going to the shipyard.

Mayor Francis McAuley also spoke in favor of the task force.

"Anything we can do to call attention to the situation will help," McAuley said.

Power Failure Hits 1050 Adam Shore Customers

Some 1050 Mass. Electric customers in the Adams Shore section of Quincy suffered a loss of power for a brief period Tuesday morning.

Aldo Barresi, spokesman for the electric company, said the failure came while a contractor was doing some work on a pole at Sea St.

Power went out at 10:25 and was restored at 10:50 a.m.

Police reported they were flooded with telephone calls from residents.

A traffic light at Sea and Palmer Sts., was affected.

Both police and Mass. Electric said no injuries were reported during the power failure.

Council Opposes Treatment Plant On Long Island

The City Council accepted a resolve Monday introduced by Councillor Joanne Condon that the council go on record as strongly opposed to Long Island as a site for the proposed sewerage treatment facility.

Mrs. Condon also called for a public hearing on the matter so that residents of the city will have an opportunity to voice their views on the matter.

"Long Island is a magnificent, beautiful harbor island," said Mrs. Condon, "it's not an appropriate sewerage treatment facility site.

"The impact on Boston would be minimal, but the impact on Quincy substantial."

The council also accepted a related resolve submitted by Councillor Michael Cheney.

The resolve stated that the council support the Environmental Impact Statement and Environmental Impact Report process until its completion and the final decision has been made relative to the citing of the wastewater treatment facility in Boston Harbor.

Meat Thefts At Stop & Shop

Police are investigating three incidents in which different individuals reportedly stopped and stole meat at the Stop & Shop, Newport Ave.

A white male, middle aged, reportedly stole $50 worth of meat Sunday afternoon and fled in a vehicle down Hobart St.

About an hour later, three males in a pickup truck ran out of the store with more than $100 of meat and also fled up Hobart St.

The truck had a for sale sign in the rear window, according to store security officers.

A similar incident

Charles Hedges Memorial To Be Dedicated June 1

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that dedication of the memorial in memory of the late Charles W. Hedges will take place Saturday, June 1, at 10 a.m.

The stone and bronze memorial is located on an Elm Ave. traffic island in Wollaston and is a tribute to Charles W. Hedges for over 40 years of public service.

Hedges started his career in 1929 as a city councillor and served as a state representative for 10 years.

He spent four years in the Army Air Corps in the South Pacific on the staff of General Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Hedges was Sheriff of Norfolk County for 14 years. He died in 1978 at the age of 77.

Dr. Ella Goodale Hedges, Hedges' widow, a practicing physician in Wollaston for many years, is returning from retirement in Florida to be present at the dedication.

An Honor Guard composed of members of Norfolk County Deputy Sheriff Clifford Marshall's staff will be in attendance.

Site beautification and grounds-keeping of the memorial is being coordinated by Brian Hayduk as an Eagle Scout project. Hayduk is a student at the North Quincy High School.

As part of the tribute, the Quincy Historical Society will also have a public display of Hedges' artifacts and mementoes that were donated by Mrs. Hedges after his death.

The dedication ceremony is open to the public.

Members of the dedication committee include: James Eddy, Willis Smith, Joyce Baker, City Councilor Stephen McGrath, Peter Kenney and Barry Welch.

Dukakis' Hot Potato

Gov. Michael Dukakis appears to be juggling a political hot potato over whether to put the new sewage treatment plant on Long Island or Deer Island.

If you believe a story in The Boston Globe last week, the Dukakis administration was dangling a money carrot under Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn's nose to woo his support for Long Island as the location.

Under the reported proposal described as tentative, not final—the state would take over Boston's cost of operating the Deer Island House of Correction and the Long Island Hospital.

And, for that financial helping hand, it would be expected that Boston's appointees on the Water Resources Authority would vote for the Long Island site over Deer Island.

Mayor Francis McCauley quickly called the idea "repugnant".

Others weren't as polite. Stinks, they said, was a better word.

Maureen Mazzimas, president of Save Our Shores called it a victory for "politics over reason."

But wait a minute.

A couple of days later after the egg started to hit the fan, Dukakis said he really hasn't decided whether he prefers Long Island or Deer Island as the site for the sewage plant nobody wants in his or her own backyard.

Commenting at the Democratic Issues Convention in safe Springfield, Dukakis was quoted as saying there is "no direct link" between where the treatment plant is built and the proposed money package for Boston.

The Globe's first story indicated Dukakis favored Long Island as the site.

If the account was accurate, the Governor is doing some fancy back peddling now.

His office, however, claims the story was inaccurate... a misunderstanding... a misquote... take your pick.

But regardless, if there's smoke there is usually fire and Quincy officials and residents should keep their guard up.

Long Island, of course, is part of Boston and not Quincy.

But the only access to it is through residential streets in Squantum.

Mazzimas predicts demonstrations by angry residents if the state goes ahead and plunks the treatment plant on Long Island.

Fortunately, so far at least, Boston Mayor Flynn hasn't jumped at the alleged carrot.

Flynn has said that Deer Island off Winthrop and not Long Island off Squantum is the best site for the new plant. And, hopefully, he will stand by that opinion.

Long Island has been proposed as a so-called "centerpiece" for a new Boston Harbor park program.

Putting the treatment plant there would, instead, make it the toilet seat.

DUKAKIS

McCAULEY

FR. JOSEPH BYRNE, associate pastor at St. John's Church the past 10 years and Quincy Police Department chaplain, is being reassigned.

As of this writing he had not yet received his new assignment but knows he will be leaving June 9.

A farewell reception is being planned for him that day at St. John's.

CONNOLLY

SPEAKING of St. John's, Fr. Joseph Connolly, former associate pastor, has been named pastor of St. Mary of the Annunciation parish in Cambridge.

He left St. John's five years ago to go to St. Mary's parish in Melrose. Congratulations, chief.

BYRNE

A FUNDRAISER for Ward 5 Councilor Stephen McGrath is set for tonight (Thursday), 7 to 9 p.m. in the Adams Room at the Hollow Restaurant. Tickets are $35 each and may be obtained by calling Anna Prall (472-2974). They're also available at the door.

McGRATH

OH, WELL: Mayor McCauley, speaking at the Quincy Tourism Council reception the other day mentioned the historic closeness between Quincy and Boston and cited, for example, "the midnight ride of John Paul Jones."

No one picked him up on it. And, he didn't realize he had said it until sometime later.

"I guess that should have been Paul Revere," he noted.

Oh well, Frank, things could be worse. You could be the mayor of Philadelphia.

$2,134,000 CDBG Budget

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A $2,134,000 Community Block Grant Budget was passed by the City Council Monday night, but not before councilors expressed concern for the future of social services.

The councilors were concerned because of announced federal cuts in Community Development Block Grants, which would consequently reduce the maximum of 15% of that amount allowed for social services.

Increasing costs in other areas of the budget might also affect social services.

Principal Planner Richard K. Dumas told the council that the largest amount in the Public Works Improvements budget, $428,200, would be targeted for downtown Quincy.

Councillor Michael Cheney said he thought that money would be 100% reimbursable by the state, and suggested that that money go into the neighborhoods.

Cheney expressed concern about alternative sources of revenue at the neighborhood centers.

Dumas said that he has suggested that the centers gear up their fundraising organizations because "the future doesn't look rosy" as far as funding.

When Dumas said that a summer intern will seek funding for such groups, Cheney suggested that a full time employee be hired for such a position.

Councillor Joanne Condon said that Community Development may be cut back in the future, and a contingency plan should be made in the public service area.

Councillor Patricia Toland said she would like to see more beautification of the downtown area and entrances to the city.

"The council is concerned about the increasing pressure on the Community Development Block Grant budget," said council president James Sheets.

"There is a question philosophically of where we are going with belt tightening on the local level."

"When CDBG first came down, there was a firm commitment to the community."

"Next year, instead of a battle of the budget, there may be a battle of the Community Development Block Grant budget."

Breakdown of the Community Development Block Grant Budget:

Housing, Commercial Rehab Program, $250,000.
Home Maintenance Weatherization Program, $190,700.

Public Works Improvements, $633,200.

Parks, Playgrounds & Public Spaces, $100,000.
Professional & Business Groups, $14,500.

Elderly Outreach/Elderly Van Program, $165,700.
Community Centers, $154,400.

Planning & Administration, $426,800.
Contingency, $138,700.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Woodward May Be Opened To All Girls

Trustees of the Woodward School for Girls met to discuss the possibility of admitting girls who were not born in Quincy in order to increase the student body.

Rev. Charles A. Wing, minister of the First Parish Church and chairman of the board, said that no definite action was taken at the meeting.

Attorneys told the board that court action would have to be taken to secure a change in entrance requirements and such action would be contested by Dartmouth College.

Under the terms of the will of Dr. Ebenezer Woodward, who founded the school, the property would be turned over to Dartmouth if the trust were dissolved.

PR VOTE COUNT SLOW GOING

The results of the Student Council elections at North Quincy High School indicated that it would take 11 days to count the votes in Quincy's first proportional representation Plan E election in the fall.

It took two hours to count 815 ballots cast at North Quincy, leading to the assumption that it would take 11 eight-hour days to count the 36,000 ballots expected to be cast in the fall.

Or, said an optimist, less than four days if the counters worked around the clock.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Over a century has gone by since Memorial Day was first observed with the strewing of flowers and decorating graves of service who died in military service. And ever since then, it has been a day for decoration of graves, a day for taps, prayers and parades to honor those who served their country and now sleep silently in cemeteries throughout our land and overseas. In these honored services, the horrors of war are deplored. Much has been written and spoken about in recent years about 'unpopular' wars. Actually, has there ever been a popular war? Isn't it true that ALL wars are too long, too bloody — and — unpopular? When we fly our flag on Memorial Day and observe the day that honors our heroic dead, should we not also pray for proper guidance to avoid any and all wars hereafter?...

Confirmation Sunday At Bethany Church

The Rite of Confirmation will be administered during the 10 a.m. worship service on Sunday, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The usual 9 a.m. chapel service will not be held.

The following six young people will be confirmed into full membership by the "laying on of hands" and prayers: Michael David Gruner, Tracy Elise Pansuschka, Emily Barbara Ross, Robert Carl Siddners, Daniells Elizabeth Spring, and Dawn Marie Vozella.

All six confirmands will participate in the worship service by leading the call to worship, invocation prayer, reading the scriptures, leading the statement of faith and the closing prayer of thanksgiving.

Each of the confirmands will receive as a gift an Oxford Bible, which contains references and notes designed as an aid to serious Bible study.

Bethany's organist, Peter E. Krasinski, will play an original selection entitled, "Youth" composed for this occasion. The Chancel Choir will sing as the offertory, "The Lord's My Shepherd" by Carl F. Mueller, and as the second anthem, "Brothers" composed by Carl M. Steubing.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc. at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers during the worship service.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor, during which time the newly confirmed young people may be greeted personally.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

The Quincy Chapter of the Vietnam Combat Veterans plan to participate in the May 27 Memorial Day Parade in Quincy, thanks to a generous donation.

The good news came at the organizations May meeting, when president David D. Lawson told the chapter to thank Michael McNally for his gift. The donation will ensure getting the needed equipment for the color guard to participate in the annual Quincy Memorial Day parade.

At an earlier meeting, Dominic Spada, National Service Officer of the Disabled American Veterans addressed several vital issues of concern to the membership. Prior to and after the meeting he assisted members with personal claim problems.

Also at that meeting, was Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces organizer Sam Mullin of Dorchester, who commended the Quincy Chapter for its rapid growth.

Over 300 friends and supporters of Mayoral Candidate Joanne Condon got together Sunday night at the National Fire Protection Association Headquarters, West Quincy.

They danced to 1940s music and joined in celebrating Councillor Condon's birthday.

Asked about the large turnout at her fundraiser

Mrs. Condon said "It is very gratifying to see that so many people are supportive of my candidacy."

Attendees included Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly, fellow city councillors, long-time supporters, and a large number of people who have never been involved in the political process.

League Of Women Voters To Meet May 30

The Quincy League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting Thursday, May 30, at the home of Mrs. Rona Goodman, 40 Crabtree Rd., Squantum.

Hank Pasquerella Candidate For Mayor

Herman (Hank) Pasquerella of 766 Wilard St., West Quincy, has become the fourth candidate for mayor.

The others are incumbent Francis X. McCauley, City Councillor Joanne Condon, and David J. Peterson, a computer analyst.

Pasquerella took out nomination papers Monday the first day papers were available.

He has been a teacher in the Quincy Public Schools since 1962; currently teaching English at Quincy High School.

Two years ago Pasquerella was president of the Quincy Education Association. He said this experience gave him a taste for running for public office.

Pasquerella said of his candidacy:

"Like most citizens I had been content and willing to see others run for elected office. During the last, long, protracted negotiations between the teachers and the school committee, I decided there was a better way of handling the business of the city. I decided to consider myself in the role as a candidate for the office of mayor for the City of Quincy."

"Two years ago the present mayor ran unopposed. This never should have happened and especially in a city the size of Quincy. Obviously, the cost of running for mayor deterred many average citizens from this exercise in democracy. I am going to test the theory that it takes thousands of dollars to run for public office."

The city does not lack for Proposition 2-1/2 is a dead issue and ancient history in almost every community in the Commonwealth save Quincy. This administration refuses to let go of this security blanket.

"I will have a point of view to express on each of the issues as will the other candidates. I hope the issues will be alive and lead to a spirited and exciting campaign."

Quincy Pre-Schoolers Hopping To Aid Easter Seal Program

Quincy pre-schoolers will be hop-hop-hoppin' along Saturday, May 24.

That's the day they'll participate in a program of the Mass. Easter Seal to help children with disabilities.

As part of a state-wide handicap awareness program called "Hop-n-ing", designed for nursery schools and day care centers, each child will hop for three minutes, collecting money based on pledges.

The "Hop-n-ing" program was initiated in this area by the Kids Connection, 468 Hancock St., Quincy.

This year they wanted to help young children learn what it means to be disabled. As a "thank you" for participating, each child will receive an "Everyone is Special" coloring book. Those raising $5 or more receive a special pair of "Hop-n-ing" shoestrings and those raising $15 or more get a book bag.

HLPE Mediator Issues Contract Settlement Recommendations

Mediator Walter Diehl has issued his recommendation for a prompt settlement of contracts between the City of Quincy and Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union (HLPE), according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Diehl was appointed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Conciliation and Arbitration pursuant to a request last November from HLPE Union President John J.

Keefe.

Diehl recommended a three year contract with wage increases as follows: September 1, 1985, 1.5%; May 1, 1985, 1.5%; Sept. 1, 1985, 6.0%; Sept. 1, 1986, 4.0% and Feb. 1, 1987, 2.0%.

Diehl recommended that all other matters be withdrawn except those items which had been expressly agreed to previously.

"I have reviewed Mediator Diehl's recommendation and find that the recommendations are reasonable and consistent with its policy of fairness," stated McCauley. "In an effort to bring the negotiations to a conclusion and in light of this recommendation by the mediator, at the request of the HLPE Union President, I as Mayor, would welcome prompt acceptance and ratification of the exact recommendations of Mediator Diehl."

Board Continues Hearing On Elks Fair Request

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to continue to May 28 a request from Quincy Lodge of Elks for a permit to hold Quincy Elks Community Fair Thursday through Sunday, July 18 to 21, on East Squantum St.

James Conroy, who attended the meeting on behalf of the Elks, said the community fair will be "like a carnival. It's called a fair because other groups will participate," he said.

The Elks plan to conduct the fair on land next to the abandoned Myles Standish School, 440 East Squantum St., where the organization moved from 1220 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Police Chief Francis Finn also suggested the Elks reconsider the dates of the fair, which coincide with the Quincy's Sidewalk Bazaar Days.

Stephen Maloney Technical Sergeant

Stephen E. Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Maloney of 40 Harrison St., Quincy Point, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of technical sergeant.

Maloney is an airframe repair technician at Kelly Air Force Base, Texas, with the 2954th Combat Logistic Support Squadron.

His wife, Theresa, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Carter of Fort Worth, Texas.

Sgt. Maloney is a 1976 graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical High School.

Golf Clubs Stolen

Kevin J. McKinnon of 26, Hawthorne St., Houghs Neck, reported to police that a set of golf clubs valued at $1,200 was stolen from his car.

McKinnon said the missing items included a Wilson golf bag, pitching wedge, sand wedge, putter, golf shoes, cart for the bag, umbrella, a dozen golf balls, and initialed covers for the clubs.

$75 Million Hospital Bond Issue Approved

Cheney also noted that "Faxon House (the detox center) has probably saved as many lives as open house surgery at the building next door (the hospital)."

Councillor John Lydon said that a joint public hearing with the Planning Department will be held as soon as possible regarding Planned Unit Development at the hospital site, giving the council more control.

No amendment to the home rule petition was submitted which would have given the City Council the power to appoint two additional members to the board of managers.

Council president James Sheets said that he was disappointed that problems haven't been worked out between the community and the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering.

"But I'm proud of the city council. We did a good job of negotiating as a third party in the issue of the detox center."

"We've done a good job with the hospital issue as a whole."

Iacobucci 'Disappointed' With Council's Approval Of Hospital Bond Issue

Council-at-large candidate Ron Iacobucci said he is "very disappointed" with the City Council's approval of a $75,000,000 bond issue for Quincy City Hospital as it affects the Quincy Detoxification Center.

"I'm not opposed to a new facility," said Iacobucci, "but the council had the opportunity to negotiate a long-term lease for the facility, and they didn't do it adequately."

Gerald Marquis, chairman of the hospital's board of managers, told the council that a three year lease had been agreed upon, with no option to renew.

However, Marquis said the hospital will express in the lease an obligation to "work with the detox center so they can carry on their mission" at the end of the lease.

"The City Council voted against the detox center because a vote for the hospital at this time, without a long term commitment, for this vital community service must be considered a vote against the detox center," said Iacobucci.

"It is somehow a symbolic action because now Quincy City Hospital is no longer a community hospital. It is simply a money making health care facility."

"I find a three year lease with a very vague promise for the future unacceptable."

Quincy Bombs North Behind Taglieri No-Hitter

By TOM SULLIVAN

When Quincy's baseball team met North Quincy Monday night, Larry Taglieri wanted to prove the Presidents had more than a one-man pitching staff.

Joe Conti had won five of Quincy's six games going into the game but Taglieri, who had a shutout earlier in the season and did an excellent job last week against Suburban League co-leader Brockton until tiring in the final inning, proved his point with a bang as he pitched a no-hitter and Quincy bombed North, 13-0, to improve its record to 7-8-1 and claim the city championship.

The Presidents host league co-leader Waltham today (Thursday) at Adams Field at 3:30, will play at Brookline Tuesday and finish up against Weymouth South next Wednesday at Adams at 3:30.

"Taglieri did a fantastic job," said Quincy coach Bob Sylvia. "He was in command all the way and there were only a few hard hit balls off him. This game should give him and the team a big boost for our final games of the year."

Taglieri, who struck out nine and walked three, received more than enough plate support in the second inning when Quincy exploded for seven runs. It added four in the fourth and two in the sixth.

In the second Mike Draicchio had a two-run double which hit the foul line in left field, sophomore Tommy Logan a two-run triple to deep right-center and Conti a booming ground rule double which hit at the base of the fence at the 406-foot mark and bounced over.

Draicchio also had two singles, Conti had another double and a single, Pat Calabro three singles, Logan his triple and Steve Durante, Jay Lespasio and Rich Pettinelli a single each.

Last Friday Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 7-2, as Conti pitched a six-hitter for his fifth win. He struck out six and walked four.

Durante hit a home run in the third inning and had two RBI, and Conti drove in two more with a single. Logan added a home run and had two RBI.

Earlier in the week Taglieri turned in a fine effort until Brockton, loser only to the Presidents earlier, exploded for five runs in the last inning for a 9-2 victory.

Quincy had its chances but stranded 11 base runners, being held to five hits by Pat Boen. Eight walks kept him in trouble and gave Quincy a lot of chances.

"When you get chances against a team like Brockton (16-1), you have to cash in on them or you're in trouble," said Sylvia.

The Presidents scored a run in the fifth when Logan was hit by a pitch, went to second on a hit by Calabro, who had two, took third on Joe Ciardi's single and scored on a wild pitch.

Quincy scored another run in the last inning on Draicchio's single and three walks.

BOB HASSEN crosses the finish line as he wins the first Detox race last Sunday. The race benefitted the Quincy Faxon House Detoxification Center and proceeds will be used for the patients' clothing fund.

Things Go From Bad To Worse For Raiders

Everything that could possibly happen to a coach has happened this season to North Quincy baseball coach Tom Fitzgerald.

Fitz, who has been plagued by injuries and illnesses, ineligible players and a few players who have just quit the team, has seen things go from bad to worse and Monday night the Raiders were the victims of a no-hitter as they were walloped by Quincy, 13-0, dropping their record to 2-15.

North plays at Brockton today (Thursday) and will wind up the season on Memorial Day at 1 o'clock against Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Adams Field.

"Things have gotten as bad as they can," said Fitzgerald. "I have been able to put my starting team on the field in only two games. I lost a pitcher to ineligibility, another starter was sidelined all season with mononucleosis, we had some key injuries and some of the boys just quit. Against Quincy two of them didn't show up. I've had to bring up several junior varsity players during the season. I'll be glad when this season is over."

Monday night Larry Taglieri handcuffed the Raiders with his no-hitter, striking out nine and walking three. North had only a few hard-hit balls against the right-hander.

Quincy exploded for seven runs in the second, knocking out starter Jack Outerbridge. Sophomore Chris Gray came on and did well and Chris Cody, the pitcher with mononucleosis, came in and pitched fine ball in his first appearance.

Last week Waltham, the Suburban League co-leader, rolled over North, 21-1, as Fitzgerald was forced to use two infielders and an outfielder on the mound.

Rich Brooks started, his first pitching appearance in high school, infielder Dave Zurons relieved him and did fairly well, outfielder Greg McGlance came on in the sixth and Outerbridge, the only experienced pitcher, pitched the last inning.

North's only run came in the sixth when Brooks singled, reached third on Chris Ricciuti's hit and scored on an error.

"I was really embarrassed," said Fitzgerald. "When you have throw in kids who never pitched against a team like Waltham (16-1), you don't have any chance."

Earlier in the week North had lost to Newton North, 10-3, as the Raiders had their usual pitching and manpower problems.

Ann Leonard, Jean Jones Outstanding Women

82-Year Old Top Athlete In Senior Olympics

George Conway, 82, was the men's Outstanding Athlete in the third annual Senior Olympic Games last week, winning eight medals.

Ann Leonard, 71, and Jean Jones, 59, were the women's Outstanding Athletes.

Al Benedetti, 91, of South Quincy, the oldest male competitor, had the honor of lighting the Olympic Flame. Benedetti's best event, horseshoes, was rained out, but he competed in the softball throw, having a throw of 45 feet, five inches.

Katharine Mahoney, also 91, the oldest female entrant, took part in bowling, bowling a 214.

A total of 170 entrants, ranging in age from 50 to 91, took part in the Games, in which a few events were curtailed by Saturday's rain. Forty percent of the entrants were women and the largest age category was 60-75 years of age.

The week's activities included bowling, golf, swimming, basketball free throw and a variety of track and field events.

Curt Woodard of Braintree, competing in the 68-75 group, led the golfers with a 73.

The women's swimming events were dominated by Jean Jones, who took firsts in the 500-yard freestyle, breaststroke and backstroke events. Leonard spread her victories over just about all the track and field events.

The Beechwood Community Life Center sponsored the Games and Don Strong was the director.

Other members of the task force were Brian Buckley, Ann English, Peter Kenney, Tim Lanham, Charles Ross, Betty Southwell, Bill Walker, Barry Welch and Tynne Williams.

The Beechwood Center served a light lunch to the contestants before Saturday's rain.

The Games came to a close Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium where Benedetti lit the flame. This was preceded by a marching of the colors by a color guard from the South Weymouth Naval Air Station to music by the North Quincy High band. The Campfire Girls led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and Sen. Paul Harold brought the greetings of the city.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASON, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Quincy, North Stay In Suburban League

The hopes of most Quincy and North coaches and fans that the schools' teams would leave the strong Suburban League are out the window, at least for three years.

Quincy and North are the smallest schools in the league and, with some exceptions, cannot match the much larger schools in the league.

But acting athletic director Carmen Mariano informed the school committee that no vacancies are expected in the more practical, nearby leagues for at least three years.

He said that the poor records in some sports could be traced to Quincy's decision to drop interscholastic sports at the junior high level, which was done to save money after the passage of Prop. 2 and 1/2.

He also left open the possibility that the two schools might eventually join different leagues where the enrollments would be more even.

The committee tabled further consideration of any league change until it can study Mariano's report.

It has been hoped by many that Quincy and North might move into the Bay State or Old Colony Leagues, where several schools have larger enrollments, but the figures are closer than in the Suburban League.

Weymouth North and Weymouth South High Schools dropped out of the Suburban League and are finding far more success in the Old Colony League, where they find themselves among the smaller schools.

• Junior Baseball Cable, Gear Set Pace

Quincy Cable leads the American League and Boston Gear paces the National League with 5-1 records in the Junior Baseball League.

Gear squeezed by Boston Cable, 2-1, as Baylis went all the way for his third win, striking out six and walking only one.

Gray scored first on a long home run over the center field fence by George Walsh. Cable tied it when Baylis tripled in a run and scored the winning run in the third. Manganaro had the only other Cable hit, a single, as Pat McDonough and Sean Cafferty pitched well for Gear.

Joe Check, Chris Peck, Mike McDonald and Gallagher played well defensively for Cable, while Billy Lydon and Freddie Regan played well for Gear.

The Elks came from behind to top Keohane's, 3-1, in a fine defensive game. Stenmon pitched all the way and struck out six while not walking a batter. Keohane's scored first on hits by Robby Kissel and Chris Dehler, but Mike Murray's home run tied it. Hits by Owens, Stenmon and Rizzitano drove in the winning runs. Sean Murray and Flaherty made game

First Ladies Defeat Raiderettes For City Title

The Quincy girls' softball team defeated North Quincy for the second time Monday, 12-7, to claim the city title and improve its record to 10-5.

Barbara Webster's First Ladies need only one win in their last three games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second year in a row. They played Newton North yesterday (Wednesday), play at Waltham today and finish up Tuesday against Brookline at 3:30 at Faxon Field.

Field.

Quincy had only three hits Monday but took advantage of 13 bases on balls and several errors to score its 12 runs. Beth Veneto stole three bases.

Kathy Thornton went all the way on the mound and, despite some problems, improved her record to 10-4.

Last Friday Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 5-0, scoring all its runs in the first inning.

Thornton pitched a two-hitter and had a no-hitter for five innings. She struck out two and walked one.

In the first inning Mary Ellen Thomas singled, stole second, went to third on Colleen Phillips' single. Thornton walked to fill the bases and Thomas scored on a passed ball.

Another passed ball resulted in the second run, the next two batters walked and two more runs came in on wild pitches. Veneto's sacrifice fly drove in the other run.

Quincy had only four hits and had only two after the opening inning.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Brockton, 4-0, despite a three-hitter by Thornton. The First Ladies had five hits and seven walks but couldn't take advantage of their opportunities.

Quincy threatened in the fourth but left the bases loaded when the second baseman caught a hard line drive headed into right field.

Pitching Plagues Raiderettes

Inconsistent pitching continued to plague the North Quincy girls' softball team as it lost its last three games, dropping its record to 5-10.

The Raiderettes played Brookline yesterday (Wednesday) and host Brockton today at 3:30 at Faxon Field.

The North girls lost to Quincy, 12-7, Monday despite Quincy collecting only three hits. North's pitchers gave up 13 walks and there were several costly errors. Eight of the 13 batters who walked scored. The Raiderettes had 10 hits and three walks off Kathy Thornton.

Quincy took a 3-0 lead in the first but North rallied for five runs in its half of the inning on three hits and two walks. Sandra Proude's three-run triple highlighted the inning.

Four more runs by Quincy and two by North in the second tied the score at 7-7. Ann Anderlionis, who relieved Noreen Connolly in the third, took the loss as she gave up single runs in the fourth and sixth and three in the fifth.

North's middle of the batting order hit well, all coming up with two hits. Anderlionis had two triples, Proude a triple and single and Ann Duggan a double and single.

Before North lost to Newton North and Waltham, it defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 9-5.

Cambridge jumped off to an early 4-0 lead but the Raiderettes came back with two in the third and four in the fourth to take a lead it never relinquished. Three more runs scored in the sixth on long triples by Connolly and Anderlionis.

WEEK OF: MAY 23

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Unusual happenings take place in career environment — a highrump has changed his/her mood for the better. In romance, a shaky relationship is beginning to stabilize.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Eventful week in the community; you may be introduced to a new neighbor who becomes an important friend. Behind-the-scenes, people are planning assignments for you. Show your interest.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
The disagreements can get out of hand unless you take on the role of mediator. Colleague may be too eager to share his/her workload with you. Academic interests expand now.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Thursday-Saturday find you traveling, perhaps to new destinations. New assignment can disrupt plans after the weekend. Communications improve; you get your message through clearly.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Close friends are members of the opposite sex and perhaps of an older generation. Cultural interests are expanded. Relative is influenced by the positive example you set.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Instincts are sharp for the first half of the period. After Sunday, rely more on logic and intellect when making decisions related to romance, finance, or career.

LED — July 23-August 22
Minor delays on weekdays are offset by progress made during the weekend. Discussions with financial advisers are highlighted. Romance and travel blend well this week.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Accent is on travel, perhaps with a much older friend. Bargain hunting proves unusually rewarding. Variety is theme of weekend. Professional responsibilities increase by Tuesday.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Good week for introducing friends — then stepping into the background. Avoid impulsive moves in financial matters; seek out a new viewpoint before making significant personal decisions.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
You tend to be impulsive, which is fine in romantic relationships but can lead to difficulties in financial sphere. Neighbors are more amiable, coworkers more cooperative.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Romantic reconciliations are spotlighted. At the workplace, a low profile helps you avoid some friction. Reviewing travel or vacation arrangements proves worthwhile this week.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Financial favor is returned and personal relationship can be rebuilt during this generally upbeat period. Watch present tendency to over-apologize or make unnecessary excuses.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You adapt easily and are highly regarded for your intellect and skill with words. Your changing moods — and changing opinions — make it difficult for people to really know you. A more realistic approach to business may lead to steady gains over the next months.

BORN THIS WEEK
May 23rd, actress Joan Collins; 24th, singer Bob Dylan; 25th, actress Leslie Uggams; 26th, singer Peggy Lee; 27th, actor Todd Bridges; 28th, singer Gladys Knight; 29th, actor Bob Hope.

Board Continues Hearing On Lodging House License

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue until June 4 a hearing regarding a lodging house which had its license revoked for public safety and health reasons after a fire in March.

The request was continued due to the absence of City Clerk John Gillis and to allow time for the building inspector to check zoning and parking in the area.

"We don't have a full board today and we all have serious reservations about this matter," said Police Chief Francis Finn about the continuance.

The license for the lodging house at 3 McGrath

Highway was revoked March 19 after a fire which caused an estimated $35,000 damage.

At this week's meeting, the board recessed for an executive session which lasted about 10 minutes.

The session was requested by Atty. Louis Cassis, who represented Mrs. Hikmet Abraham, owner of the lodging house, to discuss the insurance settlement.

"Mrs. Abraham has had calls from people who want to buy the lodging house," said Cassis. "If you (the board) won't approve the license, she will change directions. She only has her social security for income and wouldn't undertake repairs unless the board approved the license."

Residents In Electrical Licensing Course

"CRUISING" HAS LIMITS

QUESTION: Why should I househunt with a Realtor when I can "cruise" around neighborhoods in my own car and see what's for sale?

ANSWER: You can get SOME information by "cruising" at random, but there's so much you can't see through a windshield. What are local taxes, public transportation, zoning restrictions? Are there deed restrictions common to the area which might affect how you can use or alter the property? What are the future prospects of the neighborhood? A local Realtor can be a quarry of such information. Also, many homes for sale do not have signs in front of them. Use a Realtor who is sure beats cruising and saves you gas and time.

CRUISING AROUND looking for homes can cost you gas, money and time. There's a better way.

Cheney Criticizes GD For Not Diversifying

By DAN CONNELLY
Councillor Michael Cheney sharply criticized General Dynamics unwillingness to consider diversification of its Quincy Shipyard facility and compete for a $52-million MBTA contract for service rail cars.

Cheney told The Quincy Sun:

"This unwillingness is an indication that the yard is to be closed down and put in mothballs until a new navy contract comes up."

His comments came in the wake of a recent meeting with representatives of General Dynamics. That meeting, in which nothing was resolved, preceded a later suggestion that a Blue Ribbon Task Force be formed by Quincy leaders to investigate options for use of the yard other than shipbuilding.

Cheney, James Lydon of the Quincy Planning Department, Steve Williams representing Kinki Sharyo

Corporation of Brookline, and four spokesmen from the Japanese-based C. Itch and Company, sat down with key General Dynamics people in an effort to have GD participate in the construction of 50 Number 7 service rail cars contracted to a Japanese firm for the MBTA.

Cheney said that Kinki Sharyo Corporation had received the $52,193,805 contract from the "T" for construction of the cars. But, under Urban Mass Public Transport Association rules and regulations, sixty-percent of these new cars must be built in the U.S.

Cheney said: "It would have provided 40 jobs for Quincy residents for the next two years."

"An additional contract that is expected to be awarded this June 12 calls for an additional 50 cars which would mean that we would employ up to 100 workers - if that work was done at the yard.

"I think that it is clear that General Dynamics has no interest in this community."

"Its only interest is a very large profit margin for building ships."

"The agreement with Kinki Sharyo Corporation would have provided a $2.5 million payroll and $750,000 to General Dynamics for leasing a small space that is not being utilized because of lack of shipbuilding work."

Headed: "By diversification the shipyard would have represented a commitment to the community at large."

The task force, suggested by Councillor Patricia Toland, would be a joint effort of the City Council and the Mayor's office.

Councillor Cheney commended Mrs. Toland's resolve but said, "General Dynamics is a shipbuilding industry which never showed any indication it wanted to do anything else."

United Front Against L.I. Sewage Plant

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley will hold a meeting Friday morning at City Hall to gather regional opposition to siting a new sewage treatment plant off Long Island.

"We want to let the Governor's Office know that we are continually opposed to Long Island as a site for the facility," said McCauley.

"Deer Island is the best possible location," he said.

Among those invited to the meeting, which starts at 10 a.m. in the second floor conference room, is Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn.

Also invited are Quincy city councillors, representatives and state representatives from Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and Hingham, South Shore Chamber of Commerce, representatives of the Mass. Water Resources Commission, neighborhood organizations and Save Our Shores.

The public is welcome as well.

The battle over the site erupted following published reports that quoted a Winthrop activist who opposed the selection of Deer Island as a site for the treatment plant.

The activist said that someone is the governor's office told her Governor Dukakis supported Long Island.

At a state house meeting last week, Quincy officials were told by Secretary of Environmental Affairs James Hoyte that no deal has been struck by Governor Michael Dukakis to site a new treatment plant off Long Island.

Hoyte told the Quincy delegation that the choice between Long Island and Deer Island will be made by the board of directors of the newly created Massachusetts Water Resources Authority no later than July 4.

Mayor McCauley said he felt a lot better about the situation after the meeting, but that he planned to redouble efforts to call attention to the issue.

"We definitely do not want to see any sewage treatment plant off Long Island," said the mayor.

CD Director To Study Chlorine Warning System

Mayor Francis McCauley has asked the deputy director of Quincy Civil Defense to look into warning systems in case of an accident involving trucks transporting chlorine in Quincy.

"There hasn't been a major problem in 33 years," said the mayor, "but it's better to be safe than sorry."

Trucks transport chlorine to the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant where it is diluted with water to disinfect the sewage processed at the plant.

Liquid chlorine can cause skin burns, and exposure to the gas that forms from liquid chlorine causes respiratory problems and other effects, according to the Chlorine Institute in New York City.

Chlorine could also be fatal "if an individual is unconscious or trapped in a chlorine contaminated atmosphere over a long period of time," according to the institute.

Right now, there is no way to provide an immediate warning to residents in the event of chlorine emergency, said Anthony Siciliano, Civil Defense Deputy Director.

If an emergency arose, said Siciliano, police and fire vehicles with sirens blaring would have to be dispatched to alert residents.

"We want to be sure that every precaution has been taken," said McCauley, "some good steps have been taken, but we have to keep an eye on the situation."

"We've got things under control. The system has worked for many years."

"I'm very pleased with our record, but we should be prepared for any eventuality."

Dairy Mart Withdraws Sea St. License Request

By LINDA WILKENS
Dairy Mart Convenience Stores, Inc., withdrew without prejudice its request for a common victualers license for 100 Sea St., Quincy, at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Continued until June 4 was the request from Dairy Mart for common victualers licenses for 139 West Elm Ave. and 263 Beale St. both in Wollaston, at the request of Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath and Ward 2 Theodore DeCristofaro.

In a letter to the board, Councillor McGrath asked that any decision on the granting of a common victualer license to the Dairy Mart store on West Elm

Ave. in Wollaston be postponed because "area residents have been monitoring this store and may have some concerns in regard to such a license."

The license request for the Sea St. Dairy Mart store was withdrawn because "it's in the best interests of all concerned," said Atty. Robert Fleming, who represented Dairy Mart.

A Samoset Ave. store, which was a constant source of problems according to Frank Colacino, Vice President of Dairy Mart Convenience Stores, Inc., recently was closed by Dairy Mart. The Sea St. location is where the store plans to move by late summer.

Fleming said that although Dairy Mart withdrew its request for a common victualers license for Sea St., it would continue to build a store at that location.

"We don't control the store right now," said City Clerk John Gillis, "they do not need a license from us unless they have coffee and sandwiches."

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said he had reservations about granting the license for Sea St. because the Samoset Ave. store had not been a good neighbor.

"Until we see a sign of good faith, I don't want to see the common victualers license granted," he said.

Toland Calls For Meeting Between G.D., Task Force

Councillor-at-large Patricia Toland, has released a copy of a recent letter sent to David S. Lewis, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of General Dynamics Corp., St. Lewis, Missouri.

The letter marks a follow-up to the formation of a Blue Ribbon Task Force to investigate the possible uses for the Quincy Shipyard should General Dynamics be forced to abandon its shipbuilding activities.

The Task Force will be composed of a representation of community leaders including business, industry, labor, civic officials, and residents.

The development of the Task Force was proposed by Councillor Toland and unanimously approved by the Quincy City Council at their May 20 meeting.

The letter calls for a meeting between the General Dynamics corporate leadership and the Task Force within 45 days.

According to Toland, "The initiation of a dialogue between the General Dynamics corporate leadership and the Task Force is crucial at this point in time.

By establishing lines of communication we hope to work with the corporate leaders to review developments within their company and to brief them regarding the direction of our thinking."

The proposed meeting between the General Dynamics leadership and the Task Force represents a positive move on the part of both the city and the General Dynamics Corporation in recognizing the rapid decline of the American shipbuilding industry and in planning for the future, said Mrs. Toland.

Ronald Iacobucci Announces For Councillor-At-Large

RONALD P. IACOBUCCI

Vowing to bring to the City Council an independent voice, fresh ideas and a background in government, business and community service, Roland P. Iacobucci of Quincy announced his candidacy for Councillor-At-Large.

Iacobucci, 29, was a candidate for councillor-at-large two years ago and, finished a very close fourth.

"Two years ago, I ran for Councillor-At-Large," said Iacobucci. "My message was a need for new and energetic leadership to resolve issues and problems that face our community."

"I spoke out on the issues and presented alternatives and differences that provided the people of Quincy with a real choice."

Now, two years of negative publicity about our city and concern over decisions made on certain issues has prompted me to announce my candidacy for Councillor-At-Large again."

"I am concerned when the Councillors-At-Large vote in favor of higher taxes for homeowners."

"I am concerned when the Councillors-At-Large reject an opportunity to provide jobs for Quincy residents. Crown Colony Place, the largest development project in Quincy's history, has no commitment of jobs for Quincy residents."

"I am concerned when the Councillors-At-Large have not, since 1965, adopted a master plan for the development of Quincy, development that has a tremendous impact on the quality of life in our city."

"It is the recent surge in development that has directly effected the sewage, traffic and public safety problems we presently have."

"It is time to say no to the special interests on this issue and do what is in the public Iacobucci drafted legislation that allowed students to register to vote in their schools."

"The voter registration law has provided thousands of students over the past 10 years with the opportunity to register and become involved in the government process," said Iacobucci.

While in college, Iacobucci was a summer staff assistant to Cong. James Burke and handled constituent services.

Iacobucci served as Director of Constituent Services for Lt. Governor Thomas O'Neill. He later served as a special assistant to the Mayor of Boston in both the Federal Relations Office and the Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly.

Iacobucci also served as a Little City Hall Manager.

For six years he was president of the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council.

"Community education promotes citizen participation and encourages lifelong learning. The Community School Council worked to protect and strengthen the South-West neighborhood," said Iacobucci.

Iacobucci served as chairman of a special City Council Committee that was successful in preserving open space on Quarry St.

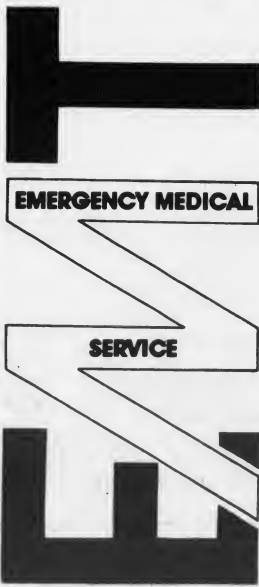

In addition, Iacobucci has worked actively in many community organizations including the Quincy Citizens Association, the Ward Two Civic Association and the Ward Five Democratic City Committee.

He is also a member of the Monclair Men's Club, the Son's of Italy, Elks, Quincy Historical Society, North Quincy Knights of Columbus and the Italian Sports Club.

Iacobucci is also a division one coach in the Quincy Youth Soccer League.

Self-employed in a Quincy based management consulting firm, he resides in Wollaston at 59 Andrews Road.

Hospital, Police Station, Harbor McCauley Priorities

The reconstruction of Quincy City Hospital, a new or expanded police station and a start to the cleanup of Boston Harbor are among Mayor Francis McCauley's priorities if he is elected to a third term.

McCauley made the disclosure during his announcement at the Quincy Neighborhood Club that he would seek reelection.

He will be unable to complete these projects in the six months left in his current term, McCauley said.

McCauley told a crowd of about 300 people that his candidacy for reelection was "probably the worst kept secret in the city of Quincy."

Living within the limits of Proposition 2½, improving city's credit rating and collecting about $5 million in back taxes, were included among what McCauley said were the major achievements of his three and a half years in office.

McCauley also said he has rezoned 257 acres to open space to preserve "the quality of life" for future generations.

"We welcome economic development, but we've got to recognize we can't build on every single foot of space," he said.

He said his administration has a "strong commitment to public safety," and has spent $1.6 million for equipment for the police and fire departments.

McCauley was introduced by state Sen. Paul Harold, D-Quincy, who said McCauley stood out for his "unquestioned integrity, financial wizardry, genuine compassion and unique vision. He is a man of uncommon moral courage."

McCauley becomes the fourth announced mayoral candidate, joining Ward 6 City Councilor Joanne Condon, David Peterson and Hank Pasquerella.

The McCauley campaign headquarters will open July 19 on Hancock St., in downtown Quincy Square.

Before McCauley spoke, a commercial telegram service delivered a tongue-in-cheek greeting to him from a messenger with a gorilla mask who brought the mayor a bunch of balloons.

$75,000,000 Hospital Bond Issue Signed

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
A $75,000,000 bond issue for replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital was signed by Mayor Francis McCauley Tuesday.

Approvals are now needed by the state legislature and governor, said the Mayor.

"It's a good piece of legislation," said McCauley, "I'm sure it will be approved. I don't expect any problems."

McCauley said he felt a "good faith effort" had been made to address the concerns of some members of the community with the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. Hospital director Mark Jundy estimated that construction which will take 24 months, could begin by late fall. However, if the process bogs down, it could be Spring before work is underway, he said.

Munday said that estimated cost of the project is $60.5 million, with $42.43 million earmarked for the actual construction.

The rest is for financing and other fees, Munday said.

McCauley explained that the $75 million figure sets an outer limit to cover contingencies.

"This is a tremendous shot in the arm for the hospital," said Munday, "we must replace some of the facility."

"We're proud of our staff and fine record. We've spent $6-7 million for equipment in the last four years."

"We have added new programs, such as sports medicine."

"We think that has made us more attractive in the community."

McCauley praised the hospital's board of managers, some of the members of which attended the signing, the City Council which approved the home rule petition last week, and City Solicitor Dean Nicastro.

Permits Granted For Sea St. Island

Ward One City Councilor Michael T. Cheney announced that Quincy has received the necessary permits from the State Department of Public Works to begin construction on a temporary island at the intersection of Sea St., Samoset Ave., and Narragansett Rd.

Cheney made the request in the interest of public safety for residents in the Merrymount area.

Cheney said, "It is my belief that upon completion of this temporary island, the traffic problems on Samoset Avenue should be alleviated."

Cheney noted that cars traveling up Sea St. use Samoset Ave. as a shortcut to avoid the lights at the intersection of Sea St. and Quincy Shore Drive.

Both Cheney and the Quincy Traffic Commission will watch the impact of this temporary island.

If the island proves to be a solution to this problem, Cheney will return to the Traffic Commission and request that the island be made permanent.

Cheney also noted that the permit has been approved "just in the nick of time."

Dairy Mart is expected to begin construction early next week at its new location at the intersection of Sea St. and Samoset Ave. Cheney explained.

"With the Dairy Mart's rehabilitation of the building location at the intersection of Samoset Ave. and Sea St., and the erection of this island area, area residents should notice a significant improvement in the next few weeks in the appearance of this corner," Cheney said.

Altruus Club For Aid

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
DOVE wishes to publicly thank the Altruus Club of Quincy for holding a Trivia Pursuit Tournament for DOVE.

Since our inception in 1978, the Altruus Club has been a staunch supporter of DOVE and its services. This particular fundraiser, which was utilized towards our Capital Fund Drive, which is currently in Phase II of its goal of $80,000. Once this goal is reached DOVE will own its shelter and will no longer have to worry about mortgage expenses. For us, as a small, non-profit agency this is one of our major operating expenses. To be able to reach that goal, is a dream that the Altruus Club shares with DOVE.

Our daily capacity is 18 and last year we sheltered 480 women and children, who were able to find respite in their chaotic lives for a short time. In addition to the shelter DOVE offers a 24 hour, 7 day week crisis line (471-1234), support groups for residents and for those who are community members, court, housing and welfare advocacy and the children's program. DOVE's goal is to be able to provide these and additional services and our shelter is an integral part of our existence and ability to provide.

The Altruus Club has not only helped us monetarily but also with in-kind donations and services and volunteers. We are constantly in need of these supports. DOVE's volunteers are special people that help us with maintenance, transportation, children and fundraising as well as hot line coverage.

Through the Altruus Club's assistance they have become part of the affirmative response to ending domestic violence. Thank you, Altruus Club, for your time, consideration, assistance and more important for caring.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Mgr.

IMPORTANCE OF LOCATION

QUESTION: How important is location to the value of real estate?

ANSWER: The three most important factors affecting the value of real estate are: "Location, Location and Location." Unfortunately, most home buyers ignore this important advice.

Location is especially vital when buying a house for maximum resale value (and who doesn't want that?). Therefore, take a long, hard look — not only at the present — but the future prospects of the community and immediate neighborhood. Select a location where home values have an increasing trend. Remember, you can replace or remodel a house — but you can never change a location.

LOCATION, LOCATION AND LOCATION are the three most important factors affecting home value.

Was That... You Know Who?

Well, was that really Ronald Reagan with Joanne Condon?

Sure looked like him. That grin.

And the two of them holding hands like long lost friends.

He couldn't be endorsing her. No, he's a Republican and she's a Democrat. Frank McCauley's a Republican so it couldn't be an endorsement.

But, boy, they really look like close friends and political allies in the photo taken of them together.

And that was somewhat unusual because Condon was in Washington, D.C. with six City council colleagues — Ted DeCristofaro, Joseph LaRaia, John Lydon, Stephen McGrath, James Sheets and Patricia Toland — to lobby against President Reagan's budget cuts in domestic spending.

While they were there for the Congressional Cities Conference of the National League of Cities, Condon went off a few minutes on her own wandering down the corridor of the building.

And there, right in front of her suddenly was Ronald Reagan.

Well, it was Ronald Reagan but not really Ronald Reagan. It was a real-looking life-size photo cut-out of the President.

It was one of those tourist gimmicks where you can have your picture taken with the cut-out.

Condon thought she would have some fun. She had her picture taken with the cut-out and brought it back to her colleagues.

"You should have been with me," she told them. "Guess who I bumped into?"

She showed them the photo and they couldn't believe it.

Until they studied the photo a little and realized what it was.

CHENEY

At the present time there doesn't seem to be a challenger lurking off stage but you never know.

A FUNDRAISER for Thomas Koch, candidate for the open Ward 6 City Council seat, will be held Friday, June 7, 8 p.m. to midnight at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. Tickets are $10 per person and may be obtained from Paul Hines (329-9113) or Mary Halloran (479-1552). They'll also be available at the door.

It still looks like a four-horse race for the Ward 6 seat between: Koch, Richard Sheridan, John Walsh and Thomas Nutley.

Koch and Sheridan have officially announced. Walsh hasn't but says he is a candidate. Nutley will make his official announcement Friday.

FONTAINE

WDJA's Herb Fontaine will do a guest spot on the WGBH-TV Auction Saturday night at 9:30 p.m. It'll be his seventh annual appearance to help raise funds for Ch. 2.

Incidentally, Fontaine who is news editor-director at WDJA will be starting his 30th year there Aug. 29. That's quite a milestone — 30 years! And he's done a good job.

But Herb, old pal, I thought you said you were only 39 years old. You mean you started at WDJA when you were nine?

Free Skin Cancer Screening At Hospital June 8

Quincy City Hospital will offer free skin cancer screening June 6 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the hospital's ambulatory care unit. Pre-registration is required.

The screening will be performed by hospital staff dermatologists, George Blumental, Philip McCarthy, Kenneth Head, and Ronald Finn and is designed for local residents concerned about changes in the size, shape or color of a mole, or have noticed other skin changes.

In recent weeks, the American Cancer Society launched a publicity campaign to alert people about the need to check their skin for early signs of cancer. The incidence of malignant melanoma, a potentially fatal skin cancer, has more than doubled in the past 10 years. If a tumor is detected early and surgically removed, however, the cure rate is nearly 100 percent.

That is why a screening program, like the one being offered for the first time by Quincy City Hospital, are so important, hospital officials told the Quincy Sun.

Information will be provided on self-examination techniques, a film and a slide presentation on skin cancer and its prevention, along with samples of sunscreen.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will be the main speaker at the tribute to Mr. Hedges whose public service spanned four decades. Mrs. Ella Goodale Hedges will return from retirement in Florida to unveil a stone monument at the dedication.

The public is invited to the ceremony. A collation will be held at Tobin Towers, Clay St., immediately following the dedication.

In the event of rain, a brief unveiling will be held at the site and the program will be moved to the function room at Tobin Towers.

Farmers' Market To Open June 7

The fourth annual Quincy Farmers' Market will open June 7, at 11:30 a.m., one week earlier than last summer, and with one half hour extended lunch-hour shopping opportunity.

The location remains the same, John Hancock parking lot, opposite Quincy District Court.

June is the native Massachusetts strawberry month, and several farmers are bringing their home-grown strawberries to Quincy Farmers' Market that day and as long as they last. In addition to strawberries, there will be lettuce, radishes, spinach, parsley, rhubarb, plants, herbs and honey.

Oscar Night At Pops: QSO Comes Up Winner

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN

It was Oscar Night at the Quincy Symphony Orchestra's Pops Concert, and everyone came out a winner as the QSO concluded its 31st season.

The orchestra exchanged the dark-paneled elegance of the Quincy Neighborhood Club, its usual Pops location, for the brighter, larger Lantana in Randolph, and over 700 people enjoyed an evening of Oscar winning music.

The audience ranged from sports-jacketed little boys to white haired ladies who sipped beverages and nibbled on snacks as they listened to the orchestra conducted by Robert E. Brown.

A medley of numbers from "My Fair Lady" was a crowd-pleaser among concert-goers such as Sheryl Greenberg of Sharon who was attending her first Quincy Symphony Orchestra event.

"This is lovely," said Mrs. Greenberg.

The audience became hushed and all eyes were on soloist Lewann Semchenko as she sang "Over the Rainbow," the song Judy Garland made famous in "The Wizard of Oz."

Numbers from "West Side Story" were also a favorite with Clara Yeomans of Quincy, former member of the Quincy Conservation Commission.

The final section opened with the theme from "Rocky," best picture of 1976, and the orchestra provided a nice, light touch with the next number, "The Entertainer" from "The Sting," the best picture of 1973.

Miss Semchenko teamed with tenor Robert Howard and baritone Philip R. Brown for songs from "The Sound of Music," including a powerful performance of "Climb Every Mountain."

Members of the audience got into the act for an Irving Berlin sing-a-long with numbers which ranged from "There's No Business Like Show Business" to "White Christmas."

Almost as soon as the first note sounded, concert-goers began clapping along to the traditional finale, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Even the prizes on each table, wood and cardboard replicas of the Oscar statue, kept with the evening's theme.

"I bet you didn't think you were going to win an Oscar tonight, did you?" conductor Brown joked with the audience.

Though the decision is still out on the acoustics, Brown said he was pleased with location of the Pops concert at Lantana.

"We sold more tickets for one night here, than we could have for three nights at the smaller Neighborhood Club," said Brown.

"Though we hate to come out of Quincy, it is easier on the orchestra to give one performance rather than two or three. The members all have jobs to go to during the day," Brown said.

The orchestra presents its other concerts during the season at North Quincy high school.

Brown, who will continue as conductor next year, said he was pleased with the orchestra's 31st season.

"It was one of the best seasons ever," enthused Brown, "musically, some of the pieces were very demanding."

"The group is improving up the ladder considerably. We try to work on our skills and bring music to the public."

Planning has already begun on next season's schedule which will include fall, midwinter, and youth performs concerts as well as the Pops.

Season tickets are available at a reduced rate by writing to Quincy Symphony Orchestra, Season Tickets, P.O. box 2, Wollaston, Ma., 02170.

"Come and hear a good orchestra in your own city," invites Brown.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Through the centuries flowers have spoken the "Language of the heart." Flowers have been important ever since the early days of mankind, because they struck even our primitive ancestors as representing a perfect replica of human life. The life of flowers is fleeting and relate to the transitory life of man. There is deep religious symbolism in the very fact that they do not last forever.

If we want to please someone we love in another city, we send flowers by wire. If we want to express our sympathy when there has been a death, again we send flowers. The heart throbbing impact of flowers gives warmth, comfort and respect. We put flowers on graves to dramatize the fact that life goes on.

Blaise Pascal once wisely wrote: "Flowers are words which even a babe may understand."

Koch Praises Cemetery Department Workers

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments praised Cemetery Department workers for their "outstanding effort" to maintain the city's cemeteries during the month of May.

He noted there was extensive loaming, seeding and grass cutting at the Mt. Wollaston and Pine Hill Cemeteries.

Mt. Wollaston Cemetery with 50 acres and thousands of markers requiring tedious grass cutting and trimming maintenance was extensively serviced during the month of May with Foreman Henry Verlicco and Working Foreman Ralph Brancaccio coordinating the field work required. Foreman Richard McNeice was responsible for directing the maintenance of the Pine Hill and Hall Cemeteries in West Quincy.

Hancock, Snug Harbor and Sailor's Home Historical Cemeteries were also maintained by the Cemetery Department employees.

Despite the fact that three permanent employees were out injured for several months, the remaining work force of 13 continued Spring maintenance.

J. Vincent Smyth, superintendent of the Forestry Section and Mrs. Jeanne Flaherty conduct the daily Administration and Clerical duties required in the Cemetery Department's operation while the designated personnel are responsible for cemetery maintenance and burials.

The cemeteries are under the jurisdiction of the Board of Managers, Public Burial Places with Mrs. Evelyn Lindquist, chairwoman, Richard T. Sweeney, Jr., vice chairman and Mrs. Judith Hamel, secretary.

City Receives $3,000 Grant For Breathalyzer Machines

The city of Quincy has received a 3,000 federal grant to buy the latest model in Breathalyzer machines for the police department, State Senator Paul D. Harld announces.

The city, as well as the towns of Avon and Holbrook, received the grant under the Federal Highway Safety program, which is administered at the state level.

Harold said the money would be used to purchase digital breath testing equipment for use in drunk driving cases.

"The new machines employ the latest technology included higher reliability, digital readout and a printout system that leaves no doubt of the person's state of sobriety, time and date, and other pertinent information that can be vital in court cases," Senator Harold said.

A total of 60 communities across the state received the one-time grants, which are intended to update police breath test equipment to make it less subject to challenge in court.

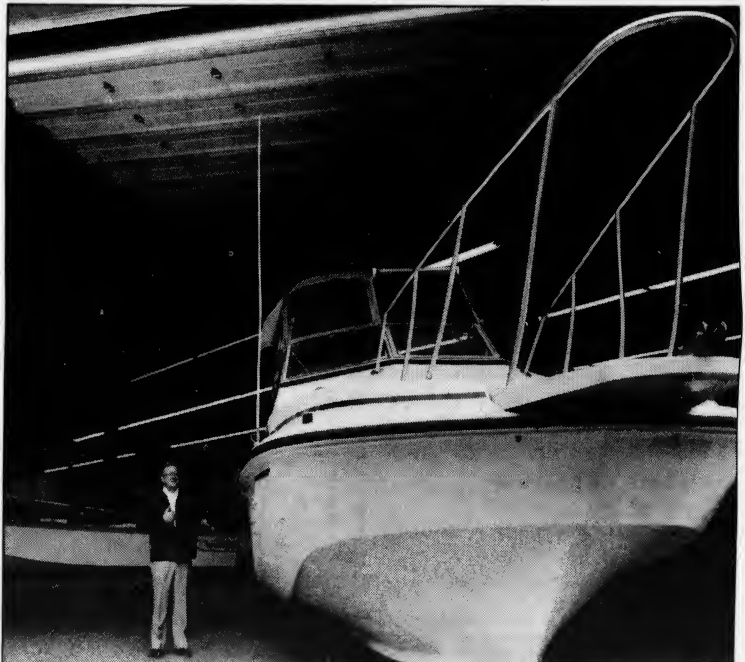

Harold said the new machines require less maintenance and adjustment, aspects which often give rise to challenges by defense attorneys.

"These awards are the kickoff of the summer campaign against drunk driving, which will include increased enforcement efforts across the state," Harold said.

Mayoral candidate Joanne Condon continued her ward by ward, door to door campaigning in Ward 2 this week.

Councillor Condon has now spent six weeks going door to door. She walked one week in each of Quincy's six wards.

"The best way to get to know the voters and the issues that concern them," said Mrs. Condon, "is to continue to get out on the streets, attend the coffee hours, and talk to the people."

She plans to continue her ward by ward campaigning until election time.

"I am going to visit as many streets and neighborhoods in each ward as I can," she said.

Presidents Stage Big Upset

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy baseball team may finish under .500 and the Presidents' last glimmering hope of making the Eastern Mass. Tournament were dashed last week by Newton North, the Coach Bob Sylvia can look back on the season with some satisfaction as his team pulled the two most shocking upsets of the Suburban League season.

After Newton North had topped the Presidents, 9-7, to end their flickering tournament hopes, Quincy, which had handed Brockton its only loss of the year, bounced back the next day and stunned Waltham, which had lost only to Brockton and was tied for the league lead, 5-1.

Quincy (8-9-1) played

Brookline Tuesday and wound up the season yesterday (Wednesday) against Weymouth South.

In last Thursday's game with Waltham, Larry Taglieri, who three nights earlier had pitched a no-hitter against North Quincy, came back to hold Waltham to five hits in pitching his third victory. He struck out four and walked two.

The Presidents put together some clutch pitching and a strong defense in support of Taglieri.

"The kids really came to play," said a happy Sylvia. "They showed a lot of character after losing to Newton and having all hopes of a tournament berth dashed. Larry was really on. He had good rhythm and he has been just tremendous in the last two games. He has pitched well all season and should have had a couple of more wins."

Quincy scored a run in the first when Mike Draicchio was hit by a pitch, stole second and, after a walk to Tom Logan, scored on Joe Ciardi's single to right-center.

In the third Pat Calabro singled, Joe Conti forced him at second, Ciardi walked, Jay Lespasio blooped a single into right, scoring Conti, and the runners advanced on a throwing error.

After an infield pop-up, pitcher Lee Wilcox walked the next two batters, the last one forcing home a run and Draicchio was hit for the second time, making the score 4-0.

In the fifth Quincy drove Wilcox out after he walked leadoff batter Dave Tocchio. A walk to Steve Contas and Logan's double accounted for the final run.

Taglieri was in a bit of trouble in the seventh when Rod O'Byrne tripled and scored on an error, but he pitched out of further trouble.

The previous day against Newton North, Conti pitched well as he allowed eight hits and struck out four, but the Presidents, trailing, 4-1, after an inning, weren't able to put together a sustained threat.

Sophomore Logan, who had a triple, and Calabro drove in runs in the fourth to move Quincy to within one run at the time.

AL DiBELLA, North Quincy all-scholastic, will play on the South team in the seventh annual Shriners High School Football Classic June 22 at 4 p.m. at Boston College's Alumni Stadium. Proceeds will benefit the Shriners Burn Institute in Boston, the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Springfield and 20 other Shriners hospitals nationwide.

Raiders End Frustrating Season With Victory

North Quincy baseball coach Tom Fitzgerald didn't have much to smile about this season, but the Raiders, with several junior varsity players in the lineup, finished up in fine style on the holiday afternoon as it defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 3-1, at Adams Field.

It was North's first win since April 26 as it finished with a 3-17 record. It was the Raiders' only Suburban League victory, the others being over Peabody and Everett of the Greater Boston League.

Jack Outerbridge, North's only experienced pitcher, who had pitched excellent ball in the previous game last Thursday when North came within an out of defeating Brockton's Suburban League champions, who lost only one game this spring to Quincy, scattered eight hits against Cambridge. He struck out only one and walked one as he was given excellent support.

"It is nice to finish up with a win and I'm happy for the kids," said Fitzgerald. "Several varsity players didn't show up and I had to use some jayvees and they performed well. Outerbridge pitched another fine game. He pitched some fine games and deserved to win more."

The Raiders scored all three runs in the first inning on three of their seven hits. Outerbridge hit a long triple to right with one out in the sixth, but North couldn't score an insurance run.

Cambridge scored its lone run in the fifth. In the seventh Outerbridge retired the side in order on two routine ground balls and a fly to center field.

Outerbridge, despite some fine efforts, had only two wins. Sophomore Chris Gray, brought up early from the jayvees, won the other with a good relief job.

Rich Brooks had a double and single, Outerbridge his triple and Neil Hatfield, who was called up from the jayvees to play shortstop, Bill Connolly, Chris Ricciuti and Tom Casey a single each.

North appeared on its way to a stunning win over Brockton as it took a 4-3 lead into the seventh inning. With runners on first and second, and one out, North tried for a double play and seemed to get it, but the umpire called the runner safe at first. Brockton then scored the two winning runs with the help of two throwing errors and won, 5-4.

"Everyone in the park except the umpire thought the runner was out ending the game," said Fitzgerald.

"It was a real tough loss. Outerbridge did another outstanding job and the whole team played inspired ball."

Outerbridge held Brockton to five hits, while the Raiders collected 11. Chris Rossi had three hits and three RBI, included a two-run homer in the sixth that tied the game at 3-3. Casey had two hits.

"It was a frustrating season, that's for sure, but there were a few bright spots," Fitzgerald said. "Our junior varsity players came along fast and helped the varsity. We have some excellent juniors coming back and there should be a good nucleus next season."

Quincy Tennis Girls Finish With Win

The Quincy girls' tennis team blanked Waltham, 5-0, last week to complete its season with an 8-6 overall record (7-5 in the Suburban League).

North's singles players, Maureen Seamans, Joanne Doherty and Kathy Egan completed successful seasons with victories and the doubles teams of Beth Doherty and Wendy Stirling and Karen Zupkofska and Kim Litterio completed the sweep.

The previous day Quincy was shut out by Newton North, undefeated in three seasons, 5-0.

Earlier in the week Shirley Laing's First Ladies defeated North Quincy for the second time, 4-1, to claim the city champion-

Quincy's only loss came in the first singles when Seamans was upset by Nancy Flukes, 6-4, 6-2. Joanne Doherty defeated Sheila Egan, 6-4, 6-4, and Egan defeated Michele Edgar, 6-0, 6-1.

In doubles Beth Doherty and Stirling defeated Maureen Donovan and Michelle Grey, 6-4, 6-1, and Zupkofska and Kim Litterio defeated Jennifer Shore and Alicia Palmer, 6-4, 6-3.

Egan in singles and the doubles team of Beth Doherty and Stirling finished outstanding seasons with 10-3 records, while Joanne Doherty finished at 9-5.

"The girls did a fine job," said Mrs. Laing. "We lost some tough matches and the only team that outclassed us was perennial league champion Newton North, which not only finished undefeated again but won almost every match by a shutout. They have a tremendous youth program and junior high program in Newton and they are superior to the other league teams.

"We lose six seniors by graduation, including our top three singles players, Maureen Seamans, Joanne Doherty and Kathy Egan, but we will have all our doubles players returning." Beth Doherty will be playing for the fourth year.

Raiderettes Fourth In E. Mass. Meet

The North Quincy girls' track team made a fine showing in Class B of the Eastern Mass. championships last Saturday at Reading, finishing fourth with 35 points.

The Raiderettes finished behind Weymouth South, Andover and Randolph.

North had one winner, Georgia Traficante winning the javelin with a toss of 139-3.

Tricia Barrett was second in the two-mile in 11:48.9, Tricia Leary was third in the two-mile in 11:50.9, Maryanne Kelleher third in the mile in 5:17.2, Leanna

Fitzgerald fourth in the 800 in 2:21.6, and Julie Killion sixth in the javelin at 105-6.

Traficante, Barrett, Kelleher and Fitzgerald qualified for the state all-class meet Saturday in Gardner.

Earlier last week the Raiderettes made a good showing in the Suburban League meet with several girls placing.

Leanne Fitzgerald won the 880 in her best time, 2:22.6, while her sister Lisa was second in the 440 with her best time of 60.7.

Teresa Collings placed in two events, taking sixth in the 220 in 27.8 and fifth in the high jump at 4-8. Jennifer Rafferty was sixth in the high jump at 4-6.

Kelleher placed third in the mile in her best time, 5:12; Siskwood was second in the shot put at 28-11, and Killion was second in the javelin at 116-8.

The Raiderettes placed five on the league all-star team, Traficante in the javelin, Lisa Fitzgerald in the 440, Leanne Fitzgerald in the 880, Kelleher in the mile and Barrett in the two-mile.

Raiderettes Top Brookline, 8-4

The North Quincy girls' softball team lost two out of three games last week and finished the season with a 6-12 record.

Mary Pratt's Raiderettes defeated Brookline, 8-4, but lost to Weymouth

South, 10-0, and to Brockton, 8-0.

In the Brookline game Noreen Connolly pitched all the way, pitching a seven-hitter and striking out four.

Ann Anderlioni, who drove in two runs on a first-inning single, and Ann Duggan each had two hits for North Quincy.

The Raiderettes were plagued by inconsistent pitching throughout the season and they lost leads in several games.

Funds Being Raised For Soccer Trio

Funds are still being raised to help Keith Burke, Michael Cocce and Eric Roukey travel to Europe this summer to play for the American Soccer Ambassadors in England, Belgium, West Germany and Holland.

The trio played on the North Quincy varsity soccer team and were chosen because of their selection to the Suburban League all-star team. They will join other outstanding soccer all-stars from across the nation in this highly selective program which trains at a national center in England before playing a series of matches against outstanding youth teams in each country.

Several fund-raising activities have been held and a fund has been set up at the Quincy Savings Bank, 1200

Hancock Street, under the American Soccer Ambassadors of Quincy.

It is hoped that an excess of money will be raised so that the account can be left open for future Ambassadors.

Amorosino To Assist Former H.S. Rival At B.U.

Former Quincy High basketball coach Joe Amorosino, whose teams had some hectic games with Cambridge Rindge and Latin, coached by Mike Jarvis, will find himself one of Jarvis' assistant coaches starting next season.

Jarvis, who built Cambridge into one of the top high school programs in the nation over a seven-year reign, last week was named the new head coach at Boston University.

Jarvis came into the public eye when he coached Patrick Ewing at Cambridge then guided Ewing, the first choice in this year's NBA draft, through a maze of scholarship offers to the "right" program at Georgetown University. He had a 143-21 record at Cambridge with three state titles.

"Mike's record speaks for itself," said Amorosino, who joined the BU staff two years ago. "I think it is an excellent move. This is the type of team Mike will like to coach. The great thing about him is that he's very dedicated in all respects. He spends a lot of time on all of his players from the top guy right down to the 15th man on the team. He's very strong in his development of players. That doesn't mean just Pat Ewing, he turned a lot of other kids into players with a great amount of impact."

Thomas Nutley To Announce Ward 6 Candidacy

Thomas J. Nutley, president of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, (ANA) announced his candidacy Friday for the Ward 6 city council seat to be vacated by Joanne Condon.

Nutley will announce and host his first fundraising party Friday evening, May 31, at the Elks Hall, 440 E. Squantum St.

Tickets may be purchased at $10 each at the door or by calling 328-6220.

Nutley, his wife Rita, and their three children Lisa, Tommy and Jennifer, ages 14, 10 and 9, live at 235 Billings St.

Educated in the Boston schools, he was graduated from the University of Massachusetts and received a B.A. degree in community planning.

He has also taken many job-related courses including technical courses in fuel supply technology.

Nutley has been employed by Boston Gas for 27 years and has served as a marketing analyst and presently as director of community affairs.

Nutley's volunteer activities include membership on the Governor's Commission to Employ the Handicapped; member and past-president of the Quincy Community Action Organization which provides services to elderly and low-income residents of Quincy and the South Shore; Mayor's appointment to the Quincy Cable TV Advisory Board; past president of Rotary Club and past grand knight of the Knights of Columbus and chairman of the latter two community services programs; and, chairman of the armed services YMCA board of directors; and, from 1979 to the present, president of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association.

In the latter, Nutley has worked actively for eight years with the ward councillor and the city administration to bring federal funds into Atlantic to fund the Community Center, and provide free house painting, low interest housing rehabilitation loans and free installation of smoke detectors to the elderly and low-income residents.

"I'm proud of my eight years of hard work - nights and weekends - in this endeavor," said Nutley, "because the programs have done much not only to aid the needy, but to maintain property values in the community much to everybody's benefit."

As ANA president, Nutley has also conducted the monthly meetings of the association, served as moderator of the association's candidate's nights, and helped run the many community events, including the annual July 4 party for Atlantic youngsters at Welcome Young Playground.

He participated in many community issues including the ANA's participation in the drive to rescind the 2 a.m. closing time of 15 of Quincy's 60 liquor establishments.

"Time, and statistics on reduced vandalism and violence in the a.m. hours have proved us right on that issue", said Nutley.

The issues that Nutley will discuss at his May 31 party, and that he sees as most important to Atlantic and Squantum residents, are:

The possibility of a new sewer treatment facility being built on Long Island. "Nine years of disruptive construction traffic in the narrow streets of Squantum, Atlantic, Montclair and East Milton is simply unacceptable," said Nutley. "In addition, we would be forever saddled with the burden of continual and oppressive traffic carrying sludge and chemicals through our streets as well as a plant that would negatively impact forever on Quincy Bay, and on the quality of our lives and our children's lives. The state must try satellite treatment plants at some of the source-towns, or locate the new expansion at Deer Island. Every Quincy resident must join this battle or we will pay a terrible price," said Nutley.

Development: "Master plans presented to the communities well in advance of all construction must be a requisite of all future development," he said. "The city has developed too rapidly and we have to sit back and look at the soon to be completed traffic study and see just where we stand. As it is, most of us have trouble now just getting out of our driveways, much less crossing the city," said Nutley.

N.Q. Lodging House License Granted

A request from Donald McNally of 35 Dorchester St., Squantum, to erect a lodging house at 20 Holmes St., North Quincy, was granted by the License Board after a short continuance and comments by assistant City Solicitor Paul Barbadoro.

Barbadoro's opinion was requested by Fire Chief Edward Barry because the board was concerned about zoning laws and dimension requirements.

Atty. Vincent A. Harrington, who represented McNally, said McNally plans to build a 17 unit lodging house in the plot at 20 Holmes St., "in the form of a motel."

"The question before the board is, can this be licensed as a lodging house or as a motel," said City Clerk John Gillis.

Zoning laws do not require approval by the license board for a motel, said Barbadoro, adding, "it's not a dwelling per se because it's not a separate independent living unit. I feel it falls into the category of a lodging house."

The license was granted with the stipulation that sprinkler and fire detection systems be installed and the building meet the requirements of the building inspector.

Milton Woman Wins Festival Theme Contest

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee recently sponsored a contest to select the theme for this year's annual parade.

There were 115 entries including some from as far away as Cape Cod.

Winner was Mrs. Marie A. Luck of Milton, a mother of three, with her entry of "Visions of Christmas."

She submitted several entries and told committee chairman George White she was "thrilled and excited" and is looking forward to viewing the parade.

Mrs. Luck is the daughter of baker Ernest Montilio of Quincy. Her husband, Gary, is a chemical engineer.

In connection with the winning theme, the organization with the best float is awarded $1000, second place $500, third and fourth $200. Floats are judged on how creatively they meet the criteria of the theme.

"With the very successful parade last year, drawing an estimated 300,000 spectators, we anticipate as many if not more spectators this year," said White.

Mrs. Frances Flynn, coordinator of the theme contest, said she was "thrilled with the response and the number of entries from the South Shore and Cape Cod."

WEEK OF: MAY 30.

- AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
This is a good week for helping someone regain confidence, for managing an election, for accomplishing some late spring cleaning. Paying attention to current events leads to personal rewards.
- PISCES — February 20-March 20
You tend to procrastinate, but try not to delay discussions on family situations. Soak up ideas wherever you go; you can learn much by staying in the company of bright people.
- ARIES — March 21-April 20
Reversing your approach can bring positive results; experimentation is keyword this week. Love is loveliest through the weekend as your partner decides to pamper you.
- TAURUS — April 21-May 22
It pays to have good connections; don't be shy about using your contacts. The written word is accented; you get results by writing letters to people in high places.
- GEMINI — May 23-June 21
A new spring hairstyle or a reworked wardrobe can make you feel like a million dollars. On the subject of dollars, however, avoid extravagance through the weekend.
- CANCER — June 22-July 22
Travel proves profitable this week, especially after the weekend. Safety should be stressed over economy. Old, established methods bring brighter results than new-fangled ideas.
- LEO — July 23-August 22
Friendship circle may expand and relationships with family members improve dramatically. Bargaining position improves too, but don't ask for too much too soon.
- VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Your mind is unusually logical and you can solve some mysteries in the community. Reconciliations are favored, perhaps with a Taurus friend. Consistency is important at work.
- LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Good week to campaign for ideas or for a candidate. Loved one is preoccupied; keep a reasonably low profile. Professional misunderstandings are cleared by Tuesday-Wednesday.
- SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Mood is upbeat and can be expressed through bold touches in wardrobe. Dusting off some old ideas can prove surprisingly rewarding. Avoid tackling heavy-duty household jobs.
- SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Advice is offered wherever you turn; avoid being overly influenced. Moderation is keyword both in romantic and financial realms. Supervisor becomes less secretive, more accessible.
- CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Travel may undergo some late charges and communications difficulties may be expected after the weekend. Week is favorable for improving home surroundings and healing a wounded relationship.
- BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're identified by a youthful appearance and a youthful approach, and you're well-known for changing your styles and changing your mind. Your bright ideas and offbeat opinions — combined with an overall more traditional approach — can lead to increased status.
- BORN THIS WEEK
May 30th, director Mel Brooks; 31st, actor Clint Eastwood; June 1st, actor Cleavon Little; 2nd, actress Sally Kellerman; 3rd, actor Tony Curtis; 4th, actor Gene Barry; 5th, director Tony Richardson.

Transfer Of Dacey Squantum License Approved

The License Board voted Tuesday to grant the request from Dairy Mart Convenience Stores, Inc., 542 East

Squantum St., for the transfer of a retail wine and malt license from Dacey Bros. Dairy, Inc. and for a common victualers license.

Dairy Mart, which bought the East Squantum St. store from Dacey Bros. plans to have the same hours Dacey Bros. had, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

"The operation will remain the same, but I will be gearing the store to the Marina. I plan to cater to the people at the Marina. I will carry everything they want," said Silvia Barger, manager.

Shipyard Meeting Held

License Granted For Supreme Restaurant With Stipulations

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to grant a request from Supreme, 271 Quincy Ave., for a common victualer license with the stipulation that signs and the location and screening of a dumpster be approved by the building inspector.

The board also noted that Supreme will have to return before the board if planning to install fryolaters.

Hours of the restaurant, which will serve such items as syrian pockets and hamburgers, will be 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

According to Atty. Patricia Hunt, who represented Yiannis Davos, owner of Supreme, 16 parking spaces are needed for customers in the area and 22 are available.

"The busiest time for the Supreme donut shop adjacent to Supreme) is 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. After that, business is off and so parking wouldn't be too bad," Davos said.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said that since Quincy Ave. is currently being cleaned up, it would benefit from a business such as Davos.

"He has a good reputation," DeCristofaro said.

The board, concerned about the location of the dumpster, stipulated in their decision to grant the request that the dumpster be subject to approval by the building inspector.

"We want the people protected up there," Fire Chief Edward Barry said.

Special Permit For $15 Million Building

Construction is expected to begin soon on the $15 million National Fire Protection Association/Claremont Building in West Quincy.

The City Council voted 8 to 1 Monday night to grant a special permit for the Planned Unit Development of the land off Willard St.

Voting against the permit was Councillor Richard Koch who said he was concerned about long term building on the property.

The permit for the five-story, 210,000 square feet office building, expected to take 12 to 18 months to be constructed, was granted with a number of stipulations.

Among the stipulations was provision for a 15 acre buffer zone around the entire site.

Other stipulations regard installation of a dry hydrant suction connection in the pond behind the existing NFPA building in Battery-march Park, an engineering study to determine the feasibility of providing a looped water main supply, and compliance with two-for-one sewerage removal.

Also, submission of a landscape plan, alleviation of a water ponding problem, improvement of the Pine Hill elevated service, and alleviation of the water problem experienced by several residential homes on Willard St.

Council president James Sheets said that the NFPA has done an "outstanding job" and established a local relationship with the city.

"They've gone a country mile with the special (buffer zone) strip," said Councillor-at-Large Patricia Toland.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said the city is fortunate to have the NFPA.

"The NFPA has done all the steps necessary to work with the community," said Councillor Joanne Condon.

After the permit was granted, Robert Grant, NFPA president, commented that the association would continue "to be a good neighbor, both with its immediate neighbors and city as a whole."

2 Fire Lts., 3 Police Sgts. To Be Sworn In

The two new lieutenants, who will be sworn in at 9:30 a.m. in the mayor's office, are Robert J. Kay of 15 Independent St., Plymouth, and Thomas M. Connors, 7 Carpenter Lane, Marshfield.

They will report for duty June 8, and will fill vacancies.

The police sergeants, to be sworn in at 10:30 a.m. in the mayor's office, are Angus A. McEachern, 8 Haley Ave., Braintree; Thomas F.

Casey, 49 Country Rd., Hanover; and Terence P. Kelly, 61 Rinaldo Rd., North Weymouth.

McEachern and Casey will start work June 13.

Kelly will report for duty July 1, and will replace Adam Zanolli who is retiring June 30.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is urging Quincy taxpayers to pay all outstanding real estate and personal property taxes as soon as possible.

The mayor also requested payment of all due water bills and excise taxes.

McCauley noted that fiscal year 1985 concludes June 30. All payments received by Friday, June 28, are credited to fiscal 1985.

The cooperation of Quincy taxpayers in paying all due bills by the end of June is requested so that the city can finish 1985 in good financial condition, said McCauley.

At City Hall

LaRaia Seeks McIntyre Memorial

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A City Hall memorial to late Mayor-Senator James R. McIntyre has been proposed by City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia, a long-time political foe.

LaRaia introduced a resolve at Monday's City Council meeting calling for "an appropriate memorial on City Hall."

The resolve took many observers by surprise because of the political differences between LaRaia and McIntyre over a long period of time.

But, The Quincy Sun learned, that LaRaia and Quincy's other three living former mayors were planning together to seek a suitable memorial for the late mayor.

The other mayors are Thomas S. Burgin, Walter J. Hannon and Arthur H. Tobin.

City Council President James Sheets called LaRaia's action "magnanimous."

The resolve stated that McIntyre "distinguished himself in his capacity as senator, representative, mayor and city councillor, representing the City of Quincy over the last two decades."

"...his inspiring presence in state and city government has greatly effected the lives of many people and his active leadership has changed the physical character of our city."

The resolve proposed that

LaRaia's Resolve

(Following is Councillor Joseph LaRaia's resolve for a memorial to former Mayor-Senator Joseph LaRaia.)

WHEREAS the late James R. McIntyre distinguished himself in his capacity as senator, representative, mayor and city councillor, representing the City of Quincy over the last two decades, and

WHEREAS, his inspiring presence in state and city government has greatly affected the lives of many people and his active leadership has changed the physical character of our city,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that an appropriate memorial be designated on the old City Hall honoring his public service to the City of Quincy, and a memorial be designated on the old City Hall honoring Mr. McIntyre's public service to the city, and that a memorial observance be held in September.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a September memorial observance be part of the arrangements for this memorial.

LaRaia termed McIntyre a "man of tremendous knowledge about city government."

"He was very affable and did not dwell on seriousness too long," said LaRaia.

"I can't think of anyone more deserving (of a memorial) for service to the city."

The resolve was forwarded to the council's Beautification Committee, by City Council President James Sheet. He said for this occasion, all members of the council will serve on the Committee.

In 1965, McIntyre defeated LaRaia for mayor, 22,034 to 7,713.

He gave up the mayor's job to become counsel to the Massachusetts Senate — a post he held at the time of his death at age 53 on March 7, 1984.

McIntyre was succeeded as Mayor by Walter Hannon, a political ally and friend.

LaRaia defeated Hannon for that office in 1975 in a bitter contest which was decided by 483 votes in a recount.

McCauley Signs GD Tax Petitions

Mayor Francis McCauley has signed two home rule petitions regarding $2,436,727 in taxes which General Dynamics legally withheld from the city.

The courts ruled that General Dynamics did not have to pay the taxes, and in fact, had been overpaying taxes for a number of years, according to the mayor's office.

However, the money was figured into the city's budget and now must be written off.

The first petition, introduced by the mayor, would give the city permission to write off the amount over 10 years, as opposed to one year.

The second petition, introduced by Councillor Joanne Condon, would have the state treasurer pay the amount to Quincy.

The home rule petitions have been sent to Sen. Paul Harold to be moved through the legislature.

Condon, Kavanagh Take Out Mayoral Papers

Mayoral candidates Joanne Condon and Sabina Kavanagh have taken out nomination papers, bringing to five the number of contenders for that office. Others who have taken out nomination papers for the office of mayor are Francis McCauley, 210 Manet Ave., (incumbent); Herman J. Pasquerella, 766 Willard St.; and David Peterson, 559 Willard St.

Nomination papers were also taken out last week by Patricia Toland, 82 Cedar St., councillor at large, (incumbent); and Stephen McGrath 36 Bass St., Ward 5 councillor (incumbent).

With Judge Kramer is Dr. Harry Shulman, Executive Director of the South Shore Mental Health Center. Judge Kramer also spoke at the staff meeting about alcohol addiction and the courts.

Farmer's Market To Open Season Friday

Home-grown strawberries and salad greens will be among the items available Friday, June 7, as the Farmer's Market opens its season at 11:30 a.m. at the Hancock Parking Lot, Quincy Center.

Validated parking will be offered to those purchasing items from the farmers.

The market will close at 5 p.m.

It will continue Fridays through October.

The market is held by the City of Quincy, Planning Department, Norfolk County Extension Service and nutrition program assistant Anneli Johnson.

Mayor Invites Governor To Tour Long Island

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley is inviting Gov. Michael Dukakis to tour within the next week or two Long Island which Quincy and other South Shore communities hope will be ruled out as a site for a sewerage treatment plant.

"I believe that it is imperative that you see for yourself why the placing of a sewerage treatment plant on Long Island would cause a thing of beauty to be destroyed," stated McCauley in the letter.

The suggestion of a tour came from Councillor Michael Cheney during a City Hall meeting called by the mayor to gather regional opposition to Long Island, as well as Nut Island, as the site for the plant.

Deer Island is the other major alternative.

The meeting, which lasted almost two hours, was attended by nearly 50 people including representatives of Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn, Weymouth and Hull Selectmen, as well as Quincy City Councillors, representatives from Quincy, and members of local associations.

McCauley urged those opposed to the Long Island site to "continue to send a strong message to the Dukakis administration" before a decision is made as early as mid June.

He also suggested that letters be sent to the governor and others involved in the decision making process by citizens, neighborhood associations and yachting groups.

Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson urged support of the Environmental Impact Statement which denotes Deer Island as the most cost effective, economically sound choice.

Anderson is also a member of the board of directors of the Mass Water Resources Authority which will make the siting decision.

Former City Councillor Leo Kelly, "nd a member of the MWRA Advisory board, said that it would cost $300 million more to site the plant on Long Island rather than on Deer Island.

"What do we do with the sludge produced by the secondary sewerage treatment plant?" asked Sen. William Golden, who added that the entire island would be involved if Long Island was selected.

Sen. Paul Harold said that possible tampering of the decision making process did take place.

Councillor Joanne Condon said she did not see any effort by Boston representatives to keep the plant off the island which is owned by that city.

Robert Ciolek, Boston's director of administrative services, said that Mayor Raymond Flynn has made it very clear that Long Island is an inappropriate site.

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, said that politics will be involved in the decision to some degree and "we have to play the numbers game to show a unified effort."

Squantum Community Association president Rona Goodman said that Boston should suppress rumors that the only reason it is against the sewerage treatment plant is so it can put condominiums on the island.

Lorraine Downey, director of Boston's environmental department, said that Mayor Flynn is committed to saving Long Island as a park.

Both Miss Downey and Ciolek were asked by Flynn to attend the meeting, and are members of the MWRA board.

Save Our Shores president Maureen Mazzrimas asked if the communities of Quincy and Winthrop, near Deer Island, might meet and discuss any mutuality of interest.

Loren Strout, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, said that if the harbor is further polluted by sewage, it could effect flounder fishing which represents 50% of Quincy's tourism, or $4 million a year.

"We have to keep telling people that they can make a difference," said Councillor Patricia Toland.

Other speakers were Mary Donnelly, Squantum Community Center; Hull Selectman Grace Coleman; Weymouth Selectman Brian McDonald; Arthur Chandler, Quincy Citizens Association president; Jay MacRitchie, chairman of the city's water pollution task force; Rep. Michael Morrissey, Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, and Councillor Joseph LaRaia.

the board, they extended the fence into areas never before the board and started to dump cars down there," he said.

According to Atty. Paul P. Hayes, Jr., who represented Mrs. Piccarini, his client did not extend the fence. "The landlord did in defense of people dumping things in there," he said.

Paul Marini, owner of the land, acknowledged that he put a second fence up to protect his property.

"People were coming in and you have no idea what they were dumping," he said. "So I spent $1,500 of my money to protect my property. It was done for self preservation. I put that fence up at no one's request."

Marini said Piccarini's used the land outside of their licensed, fenced-in land before and after he added another fence.

"But that fence was not for their benefit, it was for mine," he said.

City Clerk John Gillis said it was understood when the license was granted that Piccarini's would only use the first fenced-in area.

"They better get this straight or we could revoke this license. We're not out here to hurt Mrs. Piccarini, but she's got to abide by what we licensed," he said.

Wollaston Restaurant Request Withdrawn

By LINDA WILKINS

The License Board agreed Tuesday to withdraw without prejudice a request from Benjamin Restaurant, 688 Hancock St., Wollaston, for a common victualer license.

The request to withdraw was made for Peter Benjamin Jac, a partner in Benjamin Restaurant, by Atty. Michael Long due to the board's negative feelings toward granting a license.

"The purpose of this board is to see if this is in the best interests of the people. I feel it's not," said Fire Chief Edward Barry.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath brought an unfavorable petition to the meeting which was signed by neighbors and business establishments in the area.

"Basically, what it boils down to is that the neighbors are opposed to it," he said.

McGrath met Monday night with Jac, Atty. Long, and area residents, some of whom attended the License Board meeting.

According to McGrath, the number of restaurants already located in Wollaston and lack of parking in the area are the main reasons for neighbor's concerns.

"We do not object to a Chinese restaurant, we object to a restaurant of any type there. It's a jungle on Bass St. As soon as a resident leaves to go the store, a non-resident scoops up the space," said Paul O'Shea, who lives on Bass St.

Atty. Long said that although parking is limited in Wollaston, much of Benjamin Restaurant's business would generate from employees and residents of the area and students from Eastern Nazarene College, most of whom could walk to the restaurant.

"If the people want to go to a restaurant, they can go to the MBTA or Heartland to park. If they don't want to come, they don't have to," said Jac. "As a resident of Wollaston, I only want to offer my services to the neighbors."

"The problem is that Wollaston center is a commercial area. Any business that goes in there is going to bring transient parking," Long said.

But City Clerk John Gillis added that the License Board has control over common victualer licenses. "We have a right to protect the neighbors through that," he said.

TWO 1500 gallon per minute fire pummers at a cost of $159,995 each were recently delivered to the Quincy Fire Department for the Squantum and Houghs Neck stations. ## Condon Concerned About Harold Endorsing McCauley Mayoral candidate Joanne Condon said she is concerned about fellow Democrat Paul Harold endorsing Republican Mayor Francis McCauley.

"Mr. Harold's opinions have little effect upon my candidacy but, I am concerned that someone who runs as a Democrat and is elected by Democrats can suddenly change directions so drastically."

"The differences between myself and Mr. McCauley are clear as are the differences between the Democratic and Republican Parties.

"The Democratic Party has always made people its top priority as have I. We have all seen where Republican priorities are placed."

"My main concern on this matter is how this will affect Mr. Harold's efforts on getting House Bill 2176 passed.

"Quincy taxpayers can save $1 million a year for the next ten years if this bill can be pushed through."

"Quincy deserves all of Mr. Harold's efforts in this regard and I hope he can put his politicking aside."

Girls Accosted

A 12-year-old girl reported to police that while she and a friend were walking down South St. a man pulled up in a car beside them and asked them if they wanted to get "high."

The girls refused and the man drove away, only to return and ask again.

The man, who operated a brown car, was described as white, with balding blond hair, a chubby build and blue eyes.

North Quincy Seniors Contribute To African Relief

Many of the 385 graduating seniors at North Quincy High School showed they'd like to do their share as they donated nearly $800 for starving Ethiopians after receiving their diplomas at commencement exercises in War Memorial Stadium, June 3.

Class advisor Angela Solomonte said the unusual and generous offering, purely voluntary, was North's way of making their personal contribution to a most worthy cause "and it sure says a lot for the students."

Solomonte said the decision to donate anonymously to the African fund happened when the class decided they wanted to make a statement at their graduation. They had so much; why not help others less fortunate. Envelopes were then handed out as the class received their cap and gown.

"We were flabbergasted and shocked," she said, "when we opened the envelopes. Some contained $10 and $20 bills.

The contributions will go to the USA for Africa fund. During the graduating ceremonies the high school choir sang the popular "We are the World, We are the Children." That song was written by pop music stars Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie. A record and video of the song made by American pop music performers has raised millions of dollars for African relief.

Flowers Planted At John Adams Statue

Flowers were planted recently at the John Adams statue in Freedom Park near the corner of Dimmock St. and Burgin Parkway, Quincy Center, in an ongoing effort to beautify selected areas around the city.

The flowers were planted by City Councillor Patricia M. Toland, chairman of the City Council's Beautification Committee, and members of the Wollaston Garden Club.

"The Wollaston Garden Club donated the flowers which will bloom all summer long," said Councillor Toland, "as well as two azalea bushes which are perennials and will be in bloom every spring."

"Efforts such as these are so appreciated," Mrs. Toland said, "because the city does not have the man or woman power for projects like this."

The club also planted flowers at a triangle at the intersection of Piermont St. and Elmwood Ave., Wollaston.

Members of the Wollaston Garden Club who participated in the planting were Florence Clifford, president; Gertrude Roy, Barbara Egan, Marge Perry, Eleanor Tupper and Marion Berger.

State To Honor McIntyre

The General Laws of Massachusetts will be rededicated June 11 in memory of the late mayor of Quincy, and state senator, James McIntyre.

This is the first time since 1930 that the state's general laws have been recodified and their volumes rededicated to someone other than a jurist.

The special state house ceremony will take place at noon in Doris Hall. The governor, members of both branches of government, members of the Mass. Bar Association, and representatives of the publishing company, are expected to attend the ceremony.

At the time of his death McIntyre was counsel to the state senate.

McINTYRE

IT SEEMS TO BE raining mayoral candidates for this year's city election after the drought of 1983.

Five are running, and, don't look now, but there may be a sixth.

Incumbent Francis McCauley who two years ago ran unopposed now has four challengers:

Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon, Herman (Hank) Pasquerella, Quincy High School teacher; David Peterson, computer analyst and Sabina Kavanagh, businesswoman.

And, possibly one more: Michael Jovanovic, professor.

"I'm thinking about it," he says. "It sounds interesting. How many are there in there now?"

Jovanovic ran unsuccessfully in 1979 as did Abe Itkin. Both ran in the preliminary election against incumbent Arthur Tobin.

Tobin and Itkin were nominated and Tobin went on to an easy final election victory.

Itkin. Hmmm. You don't think ... ?

JOANNE CONDON, of course, is considered Mayor McCauley's main challenger.

But the entry of the others forces a preliminary election, and, certainly provides a few choices for the voter.

If McCauley and Condon turn out to be the two nominees, the preliminary election will have served as a sort of barometer for them for the final election.

It will register their strengths and weaknesses and give them the opportunity to zig or zag a new course for the final showdown.

14 To Be Honored For Work With Handicapped

Fourteen of the area's leading advocates for the handicapped will be honored for their personal contributions June 18 at the John F. Kennedy Library, Dorchester.

Sponsored by the South Shore Mental Health Center's Step 1 early intervention and Day Habilitation programs which serve infants and young adults, the event will raise funds for necessary renovations to the Hilda Mahoney Learning Center in Squantum.

Mrs. Mollie Hirschberg, co-chairman of the "Our Kids Give Thanks" awards night, said over 300 persons are expected to attend.

Chosen for recognition are Dental Associates of Quincy, assistant director of the Step 1 program Phyllis Fazio, Day Habilitation program staff member Beth Felipe, Jamie Fiske's father Charles Fisk, Patriot Ledger community editor William Flynn, Boy Scout leaders John and Buell Fuller of Quincy, state secretary of human services Philip Johnston, Bank of New England-Hancock president William E. Kelley, and Quincy Savings Bank chairman of the board, Charles A. Pearce.

David Zieper Receives Human Relations Award

David T. Zieper of Quincy has been named recipient of the Sherman H. Starr Human Relations Youth Award established by the American Jewish Committee, Greater Boston Chapter.

Zieper was selected from among fellow students at Thayer Academy for having demonstrated outstanding involvement and leadership in community and human relations activities. David is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Irving Zieper. The school representative in the project was Lillian H. Wentworth. David was one of 45 students from area public, private and parochial schools to be honored.

Also receiving awards will be Edward Kennedy, Jr., Quincy district Court Judge, Albert Kramer, Dr. Eli H. Newberger of Children's Hospital, handicapped advocate Irene Van Rompay, and Jack Williams of WBZ-TV Eyewitness News.

"When it comes to people who have been of service to those in need and particularly the handicapped, this is undoubtedly the most impressive group ever assembled," said Mrs. Hirschberg, who also serves as a director of South Shore Mental Health Center.

The award was established by the Greater Boston American Jewish Committee in order to recognize young adult's work with others and to encourage similar activity by teenagers. Naomi J. Banks serves as Chairman of the Greater Boston Chapter. Akiba Hermann chaired the Individual awards will be presented which have been especially created for the occasion by Sima, the well-known Hingham sculptress.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. with a reception. The awards ceremony starts at 7:30 p.m. with Quincy atty. Peter Eleay serving as master of ceremonies. Eleay is president of the board of directors of South Shore Mental Health Center.

Awards Committee. The profiles of the nominees for this award were received by a panel of judges including Lucile P. Hicks, state rep.; Mel Miller, editor, Bay State Banner; and George Rupp, dean, Harvard Divinity School.

IACOBUCCI

RON IACOBUCCI is still quite pleased at the turnout for his City Council at-large announcement party at the Quincy Sons of Italy — despite the competition.

Iacobucci happened to pick the same night that Mayor Francis McCauley did for his third-term announcement reception. And, the same night the Boston Celtics were on TV.

Iacobucci, thinks some of who went to both, may have outdrawn McCauley.

If he did, it had nothing to do with the fact that Bobby Orr and Tony Demarco were at the Iacobucci function. There was no advance publicity on them going to attend.

Orr usually steers clear of political functions. But he has become close friends with Iacobucci and made an exception. Orr stayed for an hour and put a few plugs in for Iacobucci.

SHEETS

CITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT James Sheets got to have his cake and eat it, too, at Monday night's Council meeting. Sheets, who was celebrating his 50th birthday, was honored by his fellow councillors who broke with tradition, recessed the meeting, and surprised him with a cake complete with candles.

The Quincy High School Choral Group sang two choruses of "Happy Birthday" and City Council members rose and gave Sheets a standing ovation. The celebration, staged by Councillor John Lydon, followed the North Quincy High School graduation at which Sheets presented a high school diploma to his son, James Sheets, Jr.

FOR PARISHIONERS OF St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, the telecast of Bernard Cardinal Law's elevation, had something extra special.

Deacon Robert Read who served as deacon to Pope John Paul during the Mass and was beside him a good part of the time, has St. Joseph's ties.

A Swampscott boy, he served as deacon at St. Joseph's last summer. He will be ordained to the priesthood this month and will say one of his first Masses at St. Joseph's Sunday, July 14 at 10:30 a.m.

Unions Battle At Shipyard

Philip Van Gelder, organizer for the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipyard Workers, charged that three members of his committee had been laid off at the Fore River Shipyard in retaliation for their organizing efforts.

One shipyard worker told an IUMSW meeting at Bradford Hall that the Fore River management was trying to get the names of the ring leaders in the organizing movement so that they could be fired.

Meanwhile, the rival Employees Representative Association charged that a recent organizational meeting of the IUMSW, which claimed an attendance of some 200 shipyard workers, was really made up of 85 per cent granite cutters.

A third union, the Metal Trades Department of the Federation of Labor was also trying to get a foothold in the Fore River Shipyard, where the top pay was reported to be 85 cents an hour.

BLAMES ENVIRONMENT

Joseph J. O'Brien, chief probation officer at the Quincy District Court, told the Quincy Child Guidance Clinic that heredity plays little if any role in the making of a juvenile delinquent.

L.I. 'Illogical' For Sewage Plant Says Sheridan

Richard T. Sheridan, Jr. of 7 Deerfield St., North Quincy, a candidate for the Ward 6 city council post, called Long Island the most illogical site for a new $750-million sewage treatment plant.

Sheridan's remarks were added to the already growing number of comments from area legislators that Deer Island off Winthrop, not Long Island off Quincy, is the best site for the new facility.

"While we recognize the arguments from Winthrop residents are legitimate ones," he said, "we must also bear in mind that Deer Island was already the site of a treatment plant and county jail; and its nearness to Logan airport has existed for many years.

"Homes were purchased and occupied by those who knowingly accepted to live in a neighborhood under these existing conditions.

"We in Quincy on the other hand were here first as were the chronically ill and homeless who occupy Long Island Hospital.

Sheridan urged area residents to show city, state and federal officials that Long Island has a constituency which is strong and effective. "A constituency who may not live on Long Island, but who will speak for the unfortunate ones who are unable to voice their opinion because of poor health; a constituency who cares about the historical value and beauty of our harbor islands."

Theodore DeCristofaro To Seek Reelection In Ward 2

Ward Two Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro announces he will seek a third term on the Quincy City Council.

In announcing his candidacy, DeCristofaro points out that a ward councillor is the closest link that residents have to City Hall—and how important it is to be responsive to the concerns of the constituents.

DeCristofaro says that some of his accomplishments as Ward Two Councillor include legislation which increased fines for littering and for parking in handicapped spaces.

He was also involved in bringing about the recent passage of the Fire Alarm Maintenance ordinance.

Utilizing Community Development Block Grant Funds, he has had several streets repaved, renovations made at the playing fields at

TED DeCRISTOFARO

Fore River and Pond St.—basketball and tennis courts completely refurbished.

DeCristofaro was able to bring about completion of work at the intersection of Water St. and Quincy Ave.

He is also responsible for improvement of the sidewalks along lower Washington St.

DeCristofaro says that he intends to continue to attend the weekly License Board hearings at City Hall. He also said he intends to work for more curb cuts for the handicapped and more parking spaces.

DeCristofaro says he is proud to have cooperated with the administration in bringing Bradlees to Quincy, rejuvenating President's Plaza and assisting to broaden the tax base of the community.

DeCristofaro adds that he is eager to hear from the people of Ward Two.

He says he is very proud of his record over the past four years and is looking forward to continuing to serve his neighborhood and the City of Quincy as a Ward Councillor.

His priorities will continue to be public safety and a better quality of life for the residents of this fine city, he says.

Over 200 At Nutley Fundraiser

Thomas J. Nutley, candidate for the ward 6 city council seat, hosted a "Friendship Party" for over 200 supporters at the Quincy Elks Hall.

In a statement of the issues that most seriously threaten the Atlantic and Squantum areas, Nutley reiterated his campaign theme of "It's a serious election." He restated his strong opposition to the construction of a sewer treatment facility at Long Island and his concern about the path that the proposed Greenbush Railroad Line would take through North Quincy. He also said development should take place in the city only after a master plan of any proposed construction is presented to the effected community for the residents' perusal well in advance of construction.

Nutley introduced guests Mayor and Mrs. Francis X. McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, Michael Morrissey, and Councillor-At-Large candidates Patricia Toland, Joseph LaRaia, and Ronald Iacobucci.

Also introduced to the overflow crowd were ward 5 Councillor Steven McGrath, ward 2 Councillor Mr. and Mrs. Ted DeCristofaro, School Committeeman Nicholas Verenis and ward 6 City Councillor and Mayoral Candidate Joanne Condon.

Following the introduction of his wife, Rita, and children, Lisa, Tommy and Jennifer, Nutley and his wife cut the first piece of a cake decorated with the inscription "Good Luck-Tom."

"I don't need 'Luck' so much as I need to convince the people of Atlantic and Squantum that the issues that threaten the quality of our life here in North Quincy are very 'serious issues' indeed. We need a very strong, experienced and dedicated leader representing us in the City Council for the next two years. I hope that the voters observe the candidates and study those issues very closely and decide that I am that person," said Nutley.

"They also lend to unfair charges that Quincy people are bigots," Peterson claimed.

Peterson also said he will hold Quincy Cable systems to its promise to videotape his appearance on "Newsmakers."

26 Adams Street, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169
Telephone (617) 472-5888

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director. . . cemetery or cremation charge. . . monuments or markers . . . newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Call the pre-need specialists of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Over 900 South Quincy Vets Names Sought For Memorial

The names of over 900 South Quincy men and women who served in the armed forces during that war are being sought for inclusion on a granite memorial, planned for dedication sometime in June at Liberty Park (Liberty and Trafford Sts.)

The names originally appeared on a wooden memorial plaque that was set up at the site in 1945 but disappeared when the memorial deteriorated in the early 1960s.

"We're trying to track this list down but I can't seem to find it," said Gino Sacchetti of Braintree, an ex-Seabee, formerly of South Quincy.

Sacchetti and his group issued an appeal to anyone who might have a list of the names that appeared on the old memorial to send the information to him at 4

Edwards Rd., Braintree 02184.

"If we can't find the list or any information on it then we will have the families contact us and try to make up a new list of our own," said Sacchetti.

Sons Of Italy Donate Hall For Cheese, Butter Distribution

The Quincy Sons of Italy is donating the use of its hall free of charge to the South West Community Center emergency food program three days each month for the distribution of cheese and butter.

Mary Brelsford, director of programs for Quincy Community Action, Inc., said 1,800 families rely on the Sons of Italy to pick up cheese and butter as well as flour, rice, honey and sometimes bread.

Availability of the Sons of Italy hall has increased the number of families which can be served. The old distribution center at the South West Community branch office was cramped and has limited parking.

Dan Lauretto, a volunteer food distributor for the Sons said an average of four tons of cheese and one 1-1/2 tons of butter are picked up by 650 families on each of the three days.

"The Quincy Sons of Italy Board of Trust voted unanimously to donate their lodge to the Quincy Community Action Program for as long as they need it," said Mimmo Darcangelo, co-chairman of the board.

"We are a charitable organization. We want to help everybody."

Why pre-planning your funeral is one of the kindest things you can do for your family.

The most inevitable fact of life is that it will end one day. The kindest thing you can do for your family's peace of mind is to make sure that arrangements and financing are made well in advance of that day.

Pre-planning spares your family any additional concern and anxiety when the inevitable actually happens. It gives positive assurance that the arrangements will represent your personal wishes. It also relieves those you love of any financial stress, assuring them that funds will be available when needed to offset or completely cover funeral expenses.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-financing, write for our free booklet, "No Greater Kindness for Those You Love." If you have any questions, give us a call or stop in.

St. Joseph's School Addition

St. Joseph's Launches $650,000 Building Fund Drive For Parish Hall

An ambitious fund-drive to raise $650,000 necessary to build a multi-purpose parish hall at St. Joseph's, 556 Washington St., Quincy Point, will start Sunday Rev. Joseph J. Downey, pastor announces.

It will be the first building drive at the church in 60 years.

Father Downey said: "When I first came to St. Joseph's 15 years ago I dreamed that someday, God willing, I would see a parish hall built adjacent to the school."

"After consulting with the contractor and architect, we were advised that the hall could be considered an addition to the school and it could be built between the school and the convent.

"The new addition would be about the width and length of our school."

"The first floor of the hall will have a stage on one end and two small rooms at the other end. The second floor will have two classrooms."

"The gym hall itself will be 100 feet by 54 feet. It will be the same size as our church in width and length starting from the altar rail to the front door. Also, with the Pollard School closed, our new gym will be the only one in Quincy Point."

"It would be a multi-purpose hall; for gym, bingo, shows, school assemblies and church socials."

The new hall is expected to have a seating capacity for 800 and accommodate about 400 persons sitting down for a banquet.

St. Joseph's was established in 1917. The church opened a year later and the school was completed in 1927.

Members of St. Joseph's parish serving on the building fund drive with Fr. Downey are Rev. Joseph Racke, Normand Girard, President; Theodore Harrington, Secretary; and John Carney, Treasurer.

O'Connell Brothers, Flatley To Develop $120 Million Springfield Complex

The O'Connell Management Company, 1 Heritage Drive, North Quincy, and The Flatley Company of Braintree, plan to develop the largest real estate project in Springfield's history - the $120-million Monarch Place, a multi-use office, hotel, convention center, and retail complex.

Cong. Edward Boland said a $10-million Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG), from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, was awarded to Springfield and earmarked for the Monarch Place project.

Chamber To Receive President's Citation Award

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce was selected by the White House as a recipient of the President's Citation Program for Private Sector Initiatives Award.

The award honors the Chamber for its active participation in the Earn-It program.

Earn-It, sponsored by Quincy District Court, is the largest adult and juvenile victim restitution program in the nation. Defendants participate in the program by earning wages in private jobs. The money is returned to victims at no expense to the taxpayer, to reimburse them for injuries and property loss. The South Shore Chamber promotes Earn-It to its membership and refers members, who are in need of additional workers, to the program.

Chamber President Peter F. O'Connell said:

"We salute Judge Albert Kramer, who developed Earn-It after being frustrated over the traditional sentencing options that fail most offenders, their victims and an increasingly angry community demanding more effective action against crime. This award is a fitting tribute to a Program now celebrating its tenth anniversary."

Over 900 Chambers of Commerce and business associations nationwide that sponsored community assistance projects were considered by the President's Citation Program. The South Shore Chamber is one of 30 to be selected.

Earn-It was also featured on CBS' Sixty Minutes and Channel 4's Evening Magazine.

Three months ago, the South Shore Chamber received a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice to train other Chambers and judicial personnel throughout the country.

Richard Pierce, General Affairs Manager of the Chamber, and grant administrator said: "We intend to create a public-private sector partnership to recruit jobs for offenders. We encourage other Chambers to sponsor similar programs. Our training sessions will teach them how to do so."

O'Connell will receive the award presented by President Reagan at a White House ceremony June 14.

Advisory Group Named For Detox Center

Quincy's alcohol rehabilitation program has appointed an advisory group to assist with program development and facilities expansion.

The Quincy Detoxification Center, known as Faxon House, 114 Whitwell St., serves over 2,000 persons each year in its alcoholic rehabilitation program. Supported primarily by state funds, the program has a need to expand its operations. According to director George Donahue, about 30 persons are turned away daily because of a lack of space.

As the only program of its type between the Neponset River and the Cape, Faxon House serves a large adult population.

In an effort to expand its program services, Donahue announces the appointment of an advisory board.

The chairman of the nine-member group is special assistant to Congressman Brian Donnelly, Marty Hardigan of Dorchester.

Other members are Rev. William McCarthy, pastor,

St. John's Church, Quincy; Atty. Paul Barbadoro, who represents Mayor Francis McCauley, William Spinks, executive director of the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, John Mahoney, alcohol and drug coordinator for the Quincy Public Schools, Paul McDiet of the Governor's Committee on the Homeless, Boston Housing Authority E.A.P. coordinator Frank Sullivan, William Osteguy, E.A.P. coordinator of the Boston Fire Stress program and City Councilor Joanne Condon.

The group will meet regularly to advise Donahue and his staff on the operation of Faxon House.

DAMAGE VS IMPROVEMENT

QUESTION: How do damages or improvements to my property affect my tax status?

ANSWER: Expenses from damages to your home can be deducted from your tax in the year they occur. Damage from, say, a fire or windstorm may be partially deductible as a casualty loss. After subtracting insurance compensation and an additional $100, any remaining cost over that can be claimed as a deduction. Improvements, such as an added porch, finished basement, etc., cannot be deducted. However, they can be added to the cost basis of the house when figuring the taxable profit from the sale, thus reducing it. Try to preserve cancelled checks and receipts bills.

Vietnam Veterans May Get Meeting Place For $1 A Year

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The newly organized Quincy Chapter of the Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces may soon be able to lease a meeting place from the city for $1 a year.

A roadway leading into Pageant Field may also be named Vietnam Veterans Drive in memory of the Vietnam Veterans.

Both resolves were introduced by Ward Six Councilor Joanne Condon at Monday night's City Council meeting and were referred to the veteran's services committee.

Mrs. Condon suggested that the city study the feasibility of leasing the unoccupied buildings located in close proximity to the Quincy Park Department at the former Nike Site.

David Lawson, Quincy Chapter president, stated in a letter to Mrs. Condon, "In four short months, with limited visibility, we have increased our membership 100 percent each of these months.

"If we had our own quarters, we could grow into the finest service organization in the history of the City of Quincy."

Councillor Michael Cheney also asked that Quincy fly the POW-MIA flag on Veteran's Day.

Board To Reconsider Elk's Carnival Permit

The Quincy Lodge of Elks will have to reappear before the License Board Tuesday, June 11, so the board can reconsider last week's granting of their request for a carnival.

"It appears the issuing of this license violated the terms of their variance and there is also a question of zoning," said Building Inspector Allan MacDon-

Nicastro, City Solicitor, Atty. Douglas A. Randall of 1372 Hancock St., Quincy, said he would be "totally aghast" at the prospect of a carnival behind the Elks home at 440 East Squantum St., formerly the Myles Standish School.

"With all due respect to the Building Inspector, carnivals are not permitted use in a residential area irrespective of the beneficiaries of a portion of the proceeds generated," the letter stated.

The carnival is scheduled to be held July 18 to July 21. Proceeds from the carnival will be used to support various youth activities.

At last week's meeting, MacDonald said the carnival could be held at the home, which is in a residential area, because it is a charity benefit.

Forget 'Cinderella Myth' Toland Tells Woodward Grads

City Councilor Patricia Toland urged the graduating seniors at The Woodward School, Quincy Center to forget about the "Cinderella Myth" and determine their own destinies.

Speaking to the 13 seniors at the school's graduation ceremonies Sunday, Mrs. Toland indicated that the Cinderella fantasy still has a hold on young women "despite the fact that many of their own mothers work outside the home and support families."

"These young women cling to the notion that they need not prepare for a career because they feel they will be provided for royally", she said.

"I do not need to tell you that this is today's fairy tale. Plain and simple is the fact that young women today need to prepare for lives vastly different from the story of Cinderella."

Mrs. Toland emphasized her point by indicating that nine out of 10 women will work sometime during their lives.

"Even if she marries, a woman can expect to work 25 years," she said.

She pointed out that 60 percent of all women workers are alone or have husbands earning less than $7,000 a year.

She stressed the need for proper education and training.

"In 1974, women workers earned 57 cents for every dollar a man earned. Today, that figure is only up to about 65 cents."

Relating the time of her high school graduation in 1949, Mrs. Toland commented, "My classmates shared career ambitions in a total of only 5 or 6 fields. You can be anything you want if you have the will and determination."

"To be independent and self-assured, you must prepare yourselves to be self-supporting for the major of your adult lives. Alas, Cinderella's glass slipper is broken for all time."

Presiding at the ceremonies was Headmaster Robert L. Johnston who presented diplomas with Rev. Keith Munson, minister of Quincy's United First Parish Church and chairman of the school's board of supervisors.

Diane Luby of the board of trustees and Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley of the board of managers brought greetings from those two groups.

The class valedictorian was Colleen Williams and the salutatorian was Kristine Olson. Alumnae Association scholarships were awarded to Stephanie Segadelli and Colleen Williams, and the Bausch and Lomb Science Award went to Kristine Olson.

All 13 graduates have been accepted into area colleges and universities, according to Headmaster Johnston.

The graduates are: Shannon Kelley, Monica L. Kirschner, Lori A. Sarruda, and Stephanie A. Segadelli all of Quincy; Diane Marie Foster and Kendra Mahoney, both of Weymouth; Lorilee Bartlett of Randolph; Beth R. Hodgkins, Scituate; Charlotte L. Nichols, Pembroke; Kristine M. Olson, Holbrook; Deanna E. Seymourian, Milton; and Lorien E. Walsh, Orange.

QJC Graduates 326 At Commencement

Quincy Junior College graduated 326 seniors during commencement exercises held Sunday.

The commencement speaker Dr. Edward M. Elmendorf, United States Secretary for Postsecondary Education, told the graduates there are three kinds of people: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those who don't know what's happening.

Elmendorf urged the graduates to become involved in city and local politics because, he said, that is where change is made.

On behalf of the class of 1985, Student Government President Vicki Price presented a $2,500 check to the college for the establishment of a student lounge improvement fund.

Edward W. DelPrete of the DelManor Nursing Home in Rockland gave the Quincy Junior College Foundation a gift of $5,000.

The school presented its first Adult Learner Award to Beverly Cefail of Quincy who received an Associate in Science degree in the medical secretary program. This award is presented to a student over 30 who reaches their educational goals while balancing the responsibilities of family and full-time work.

Mrs. Cefail returned to school when she realized she needed to upgrade her skills to enter the job market.

After a visit to the Women's Center she decided to start the first semester with two courses. The A's she received encouraged her to try three in the second semester.

The following September she enrolled as a full-time student and her final grade showed her to be an honor graduate.

Her four children approved of their mother's return to school and when she received the award they were all there cheering.

This week she begins work at Massachusetts General Hospital as a medical secretary in the research department. The MGH internship in which she participated in as part of her college program enabled her to apply and get a job there.

Mrs. Cefail said: "I loved going to school. Every day was a challenge to me. The faculty in the Office Education division were so helpful especially when I became discouraged or anxious."

"I'm always encouraging people to try school. If you don't take the risk, you'll never know what you can accomplish. It opened a new world for me."

"And I like the idea of being able to support myself and my family in an interesting, well-paid career."

According to the Department of Planning and Community Development, the pre-application was one of 70 that were submitted state-wide. Forty-one were invited by M.H.C. to submit a full application.

Of the 41 applications, approximately half of the projects will be funded up to $60,000. The city should be notified as to funding by mid July.

The grant, known as the Massachusetts Preservation Projects Fund, provides up to 50% of the project cost not exceeding $60,000.

The Department of Planning and Community Development has set aside $69,000 in Federal Jobs Bill money for improvements which could potentially lead to a total project budget of $129,000.

The Department of Planning and Community Development has contracted with the design firm of Design and Conservation as a result of a competitive proposal process.

The firm was chosen for its specialization in historic preservation and other projects of a similar nature, and has been studying the library building since early March.

It has been stated in the pre-application to M.H.C. that the library rehabilitation is a project of roofing and flashing repairs including installation of new gutters and cleaning of the built-in cast iron down leaders.

The Thomas Crane Public Library, listed on the National Register of Historic Places and a candidate for landmark status was designed by noted architect Henry Hobson Richardson, (1838-1886) in the Romanesque style and is generally regarded as the masterpiece of Richardson's libraries.

Ground was broken for the project in September, 1880, completed in 1882 and dedicated in memory of Thomas Crane, (1803-1875), a long time Quincy resident who prospered by dealing in Quincy granite.

In 1908, an addition was made to the rear by architect William M. Aiken, who had worked in Richardson's office. This wing matches Richardson's design in scale, materials, and detailing.

In 1939, the Albert Crane Memorial Wing (son of Thomas Crane) was built to the southwest with funds provided in the estate of Albert Crane and augmented by the Federal Works Projects Administration grant.

This wing nearly doubled the size of the library. In design, it copies the original building although modifications were required to permit improved lighting.

Other works by Richardson include Trinity Church, Boston; the Brattle Square Church, Boston; New York State Capital, Albany; Albany City Hall; the Alexander Dallas Bache monument, Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D.C.; and the Marshall Field Wholesale Store, Chicago, Illinois.

First Ladies Advance In Division I Tourney

Quincy High School girls softball team sparked by the aggressive base running of Beth Veneto, edged Weymouth South 3-2 Tuesday in the second round of the Eastern Mass Div. I South softball tournament.

With the game scoreless in the third inning, Veneto walked and advanced to second. She then went on to score the game's first run after a hard grounder miscue at shortstop.

The First Ladies added

two more runs in the fourth inning. Veneto singled in Debbie Harron who had walked, and Kathy Thornton was knocked in by a Mary Ellen Thomas infield hit.

Thomas also was a key defensively as she robbed Weymouth South's Ann Meany of an extra base hit with an outstanding catch with two runners aboard.

Weymouth South did manage to score two runs in the sixth inning but Quincy was able to hang on for the win.

The victory was extra sweet for Quincy as Weymouth South shut out the First Ladies 4-0 on a one-hitter earlier this year.

Behind senior Kathy Thornton's strong one-hitter, Quincy defeated preliminary opponent Silver Lake 3-0 to advance to the first round of the tournament.

The First Ladies got all the offense they needed from Chris Cucinattia, who had 2 for 4 and drove in Beth Venito for the winning run. Again in the third inning Cucinattia singled, scoring Veneto again, who had stolen second and third.

Quincy's lead was increased to 3-0 in the sixth inning when Colleen Phillips swatted a two-out single with the bases full, scoring Terry Duggan.

Thornton faced 21 batters and induced a double-play situation with the lone hit she surrendered.

JOHN JACKSON of Quincy, a 1976 graduate of Bentley College, was one of six former athletes recently inducted into the college's Athletic Hall of Fame. Jackson played on Bentley's first four varsity soccer teams. Still the college's all-time leading scorer (41 goals, 22 assists, 104 points), he also holds the school records for points in a season, 34; goals in a career, goals in a season, 15; assists in a career, and assists in a game, three.

Babe Ruth Baseball

Houghs Neck Wins Five

Houghs Neck went undefeated in Babe Ruth baseball action last week by winning five straight games.

Jay Lespasio fired a four-hitter while walking one and striking out four as Houghs Neck downed the Elks 8-3. Craig Wright pitched one inning in relief and fanned out the three batters he faced.

Matt Furtado and Lespasio had three hits apiece, with Furtado getting four RBI's and Lespasio three. Eric Abboud had one hit and Scott Crowley had a hit and an RBI.

Larry Beguire hurled a two-hitter as Houghs Neck defeated Golden Print 8-2. He walked three and fanned seven as he notched his first victory of the season.

Craig Wright made an outstanding play in the first inning by throwing out a baserunner at third base from rightfield to kill a rally.

Scott Rowley pitched two shutout innings for Houghs Neck, striking out five of six batters.

Offense was supplied by Crowley and Beguire with two hits each, while Abboud, Furtado, Wright and Dan Steele had one each. Steele also had two RBI's.

Houghs Neck continued its winning streak as it bombed Granite City 15-3. Lespasio and Furtado combined for a two-hitter and compiled 11 strikeouts.

Furtado also made an outstanding catch in centerfield. Steele had three hits including a homerun and three RBI's. Crowley and Beguire had two hits each, and Mike Connor.

Bob Austin and Lespasio one each.

Houghs Neck continued to roll as it blanked Hancock Bank 10-0 led by the no-hit pitching performance of Scott Crowley.

In his first pitching start, he faced the 21 minimum amount of batters in seven innings and walked nobody and allowed only one baserunner, a batter hit by a pitch who was then retired on a game ending double play.

He had 11 strikeouts and struck out the side twice.

Mike Abboud, Furtado, and Lespasio had two hits each, with Lespasio knocking in three runs. Crowley, Beguire, Steele, Jim Gordon and Bobby Austin had one hit apiece.

A sad note to the game was 13 year old Bobby Austin who broke his ankle sliding into second base and will be out four to six weeks.

Houghs Neck finished off its perfect week with a shutout win over Barry's Deli.

Larry Beguire was the game winner as he gave up only four hits and fanned eight batters while Houghs Neck extended its string of shutout innings to 18.

Eric Abboud had two hits and two RBI's, Matt Furtado had a hit, an RBI and two stolen bases and Scott Crowley and Jim Gordon had one hit each.

Gordon also made a brilliant catch in leftfield with the bases to kill a Barry's rally.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

Robert Langlois Heads Norfolk County Bar Assn.

Quincy attorney Robert W. Langlois, 39, was elected president of the Norfolk County Bar Association at its recent annual meeting, the youngest ever to hold that post.

A Milton resident, he has been practicing law for 13 years with the firm of Fleming and Langlois (Professional Corporation) 85 Clay St. Wollaston. He specializes in litigation cases.

Following his election, Langlois pledged to work diligently with the Mass. Bar Association and the American Bar Assn to fight legislative and regulatory attempts to erode and limit the rights of injured persons through modifications to existing workmen's compensation, medical malpractice, product liability and automotive insurance laws.

Langlois said that, although changes are needed in these areas, such changes should not focus on limiting the rights of claimants, but should instead be attempting to streamline and simplify the current procedures by which claims are made in order to achieve fair and expeditious results.

In addition to his service with the bar association, Langlois has for many years been a member of the Board of Trustees of the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton, a facility that serves the medical and educational needs of handicapped children. For the past six years he has served as the chairman of that board.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1968, Langlois received his law degree from the Boston University School of Law in 1972.

Board Continues Hearing On Lodging House License

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue until June 18 a hearing regarding the lodging house at 3 McGrath Highway.

The license for the lodging house was revoked for public safety and public health reasons after a fire in March.

The request was continued to enable the board to review the architect's plan.

"I'll go so far as to say that whatever the board requests, we'll do," said Atty. Louis Cassis, who represented Mrs. Hikmet Abraham, owner of the lodging house.

"These things you offer are very good, but the problem with Mrs. Abraham is managerial. Her track record is not very good," said Fire Chief Edward Barry. "Our concern is her operation of the lodging house."

Cassis said that if necessary, Mrs. Abraham would hire a manager for the lodging house.

QCH dermatologists: Drs. George Blumental, Philip McCarthy, Kenneth Reed and Ronald Finn will be available for screening examination.

There will also be a film and a slide presentation on skin cancer and its prevention, along with samples of sun-screen.

According to the latest statistics of the National Cancer Institute, skin cancer now affects between 400,000 and 500,000 people annually. Prolonged over-exposure to sunlight is the primary cause of most skin cancers, the institute states.

Pre-registration is required.

For an appointment, call the hospital's Community Relations Office, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at 773-6100, Ext. 218.

Panel Meets Thursday

GD Options To Be Aired By Task Force

Options for use of the Quincy shipyard, should General Dynamics at some point be forced to abandon its shipbuilding there, will be aired by a blue ribbon task force (Thursday) at 2:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of new Quincy City Hall.

Forming of the special panel was suggested by Councillor Patricia Toland who believes that a discussion with General Dynamics corporate leadership is crucial to the future of the Quincy shipyard.

Her recommendations for the task force came last month when GD learned that it lost its bid for a $222.5 million Navy contract. Prior to that, the company had already announced its intentions to lay off 3000 employees, half the yard's work force.

Invitations to join the panel were sent out to Ward 2 City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, officials of the shipworkers' union, State Reps. Thomas F. Brownell, Robert A. Cerasoli and Michael W. Morrissey, State Sen. Paul Harold, members of Quincy City Planning Department, members of the Community Action Program, South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and business and civic leaders.

Toland also sent invitations to Governor Michael Dukakis, Secretary of Economic Affairs Evelyn Murphy and U.S. Cong. Brian Donnelly.

Committee Supports Vietnam Veterans Site

Members of the Veterans Services Committee of the City Council have promised to do what they can to find a meeting place for the Vietnam Veterans of Quincy.

"If obstacles for the Nike Site are not surmountable," said committee chairman Stephen McGrath Monday night, "we will do all that we can to find some kind of appropriate site."

Councillor Michael Cheney suggested that David D. Lawson, president of the Quincy Chapter, Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces, list the specific needs of his group and forward them to the council.

The matter was left in committee for future discussion, at the suggestion of Councillor Richard Koch, Jr.

Before the committee was a resolve submitted last week by Councillor Joanne Condon that the city study the feasibility of leasing an unoccupied building at the former Nike Site to the group.

In a letter to the committee submitted after a story in The Patriot Ledger erroneously stated that the site had already been leased to the group, Park, Forestry and Cemetery executive director Richard Koch said there are restrictions in the deed of the property.

"The deed restricts the sale or lease of the property in question except to another governmental agency for the continued use for public park and recreational purposes with the approval of the Department of the Interior," stated Koch.

"A number of agencies, both public and private, had inquired previously concerning possible use of space and rooms at the Park and Recreation Complex since 1979 and had to be refused because of the

McCauley Balks At Council Input On Health Board

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

City Councillor Joanne Condon suggests that a home rule petition establishing a board of health be amended to include input from the City Council.

She made the suggestions at Monday's Ordinance Committee meeting.

But Mayor Francis McCauley, who introduced the home rule petition, said the city operates under a Plan A charter which allows the mayor to make appointments without council approval.

"And I think it should stay that way," said McCauley.

McCauley's petition calls for establishment of a five-member board of health, with one of the members a medical doctor, to serve for a term of five years and to be appointed by the mayor.

The day to day administration of the board would be carried out by a Commissioner of Health who would be appointed by the mayor for a three year term.

The position of health commissioner has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January.

Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie said the mayor decided to draft the home rule petition after the city was unsuccessful in finding a new health commissioner.

Mrs. Condon, a candidate for mayor, said that while she supported a board of health, the appointing procedure didn't seem to have much check and balance.

She suggested that appointments to the board of health made by the mayor be approved by the City Council, and the health commissioner be appointed by that board.

"This would give everybody more input in something which is brand new to the city," said Mrs. Condon.

Councillor Patricia Toland, ordinance committee chairman, said she would like to have the matter decided by the end of the fiscal year (June 30).

She suggested that councillors submit any amendments by Monday night's regular City Council meeting when she will reconvene the meeting about 7:15 p.m.

Elks Get Go-Ahead For Squantum Carnival

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy Lodge of Elks has been given a green light to hold its carnival.

The Quincy License Board ruled Tuesday that, despite a question concerning zoning and alleged violation of the variance, the Elks lodge should be allowed to hold the event.

The lodge was granted a license to hold the carnival July 18 to 21, at a License Board meeting May 28. But, even then, board members questioned whether or not the carnival could be held in a residential area.

"I don't think running a carnival is a violation. If it were a permanent setup, that would be different," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

City Clerk John Gillis

said the reason for the hearing was that Atty. Douglas Randall wrote a letter to City Solicitor Dean Nicastro, who in turn wrote a letter to the Board of License Commissioners.

Randall said in the letter to Nicastro, "I am certain that I am only one of many Squantum residents who would be totally aghast at the prospect of a carnival at this site."

The carnival is scheduled to be held behind the Elks Home at 440 East Squantum St., formerly the Myles Standish School. Proceeds from the carnival will be used to support various youth activities.

"My opinion states what I had in mind. It's my feeling it would violate the zoning ordinance," said Nicastro.

Nicastro's opinion, stated in his letter to the License Board was, "that the conduct of a carnival at the subject premises is not permitted by zoning. I also note, for your information, my opinion that a carnival use is not permitted by the lease."

But it was the view of the Board that although there was a question concerning zoning, the Elks' should be allowed to hold the carnival.

"We've seen all sorts of people run fairs in residential areas. The carnival has the entire backing of the neighborhood it abuts. I don't think any law is meant to be so inflexible as to be detrimental to a charity affair," said Finn.

"Zoning is a rule for the city. All rules are flexible.

Police Searching For Man In W. Quincy Shooting

Police are searching Cape Cod for a 26-year-old Plymouth man in connection with a reported shooting incident over the weekend and a recent house break on Cape Cod in which four rifles were stolen.

A warrant was taken out Monday morning for the arrest of Joseph Myatt. He is being charged with attempted murder, illegal discharge of a firearm within 500 feet of a dwelling, receiving stolen property (two M-16 rifles), said Police Capt. David Rowell.

Myatt may be carrying a Russian AK-47 submachine gun and a 9 mm Uzi semi-automatic and is considered "very dangerous," said Rowell.

According to police, the shooting incident took place Saturday night on Arthur St., West Quincy, after Myatt allegedly had been following in his truck a roommate, John P. Bowen, 25.

The two men allegedly argued over Myatt's two-timing of a girlfriend. Myatt got out of the car and pulled a rifle which fired when the strap got caught on the truck and discharged into the ground, police said. He also fired several other shots, they said, and the roommate fled.

Myatt also fled. Police searched the area and found the two rifles in a dumpster. They were traced to the Cape Cod break.

Blood Pressure

Clinic June 18

The Medi Mart Drug Store, 225 Quincy Ave., Presidents Plaza, Quincy, will hold a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, June 18 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The screening will be conducted by a nurse. Anyone with an elevated reading will be advised to see a physician.

To help customers keep track of their blood pressure, Medi Mart has developed a new wallet size record card. The card explains blood pressure and the ranges for normal, border line and high blood pressure. The blood pressure wallet card is being distributed to customers at all Medi Mart pharmacies.

The clinic is one of a series of health screenings held regularly by the Medi Mart Drug Stores.

LaRaia Seeks Funds For CD Truck, Refuse Containers

City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia has written to Mayor Francis McCauley seeking appropriations for the Civil Defense Generator Truck and new refuse containers for downtown Quincy.

LaRaia said the truck is in need of repair and will not be providing any service in the near future.

He recommended the appropriation so that the truck could be restored to serviceable condition so that it can be utilized for city services.

Among the services the truck supplies is lighting for the summer concert series, said LaRaia.

Replacement of refuse containers for the downtown area would help keep litter problems to a minimum and enhance the business area, according to LaRaia, who is chairman of the Downtown and Economic Development Committee of the City Council.

LaRaia said he met recently with Steve Gillig and Ken Fallon of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and David Colton of the Public Works Department to discuss the matter.

Thomas Koch Says City Needs to Prioritize

Thoms P. Koch, candidate for Ward 6 City Councillor, spoke on the issues facing North Quincy at a fundraiser held recently at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

Koch emphasized the need for prioritizing what he said Quincy has always been known for its clean safe neighborhoods.

"Although development is important and it expands the tax base, the city must provide services to new developments," said Koch.

"We must not sacrifice the quality of life to our neighborhoods in order to bring in a new development."

Koch also reiterated his opposition to the proposed Long Island Treatment Plant. He noted that he has served on the mayor's water pollution task force, attended monthly meetings and registered his opposition at the recent public hearings held by the E.P.A., not only the Quincy hearing but a hearing held in Cambridge.

Koch also noted his role as a member of the Environmental Control Commission in Quincy. For the past three years, he has regularly attended City Council meetings, understands the budget function and the city's Plan A government process.

Koch resides at 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, and was the first candidate to obtain nomination papers in Quincy for the 1985 primary election.

He is father of seven children and grandfather of one.

Cahill, a former marine, has been with the Garden Grove Fire Department since April 1981, when he was appointed administrative division chief and fire marshal.

Before that, he served 15 years with the Orange, Calif., Fire Department and two years as fire marshal for Tustin.

In 1966, Cahill received the Orange Fire Department's first Award of Merit for saving a life in an apartment fire.

In 1978, the state of California fire marshal appointed him to an eight-member committee to develop fire-prevention curricula.

Cheney Urges Authority To Choose Deer Island For Sewage Plant

City Councillor Michael T. Cheney has written to each member of the newly created Water Resources Authority urging them to vote against Nut Island and Long Island as options for a new sewerage treatment facility.

The vote is expected to take place in early July. This will be the final input prior to the joint decision of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Cheney noted that Nut Island is the only option that would take 10 or more private homes to create a buffer zone. A sewerage treatment facility at Nut Island would also require substantial amount of filling of the bay, he said.

Cheney also pointed out that future use of Long Island as a park should be a priority over a sewerage treatment facility.

As to the issue of fairness, Cheney said, "it would be unfair for any community to receive this new sewerage treatment facility. However, after the decision is made, we should deal with the fairness issue through strong mitigating measures."

Cheney noted that Deer Island is outlined as the feasible option in the Supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Report on Siting of Wastewater Treatment Facilities for Boston Harbor.

Mass. General Laws Rededicated In McIntyre's Memory

The first new official edition of the General Laws of Massachusetts were unveiled June 11 at a State House ceremony, rededicated in memory of the late mayor of Quincy and state Senator James McIntyre.

A special presentation was made in Doric Hall by Senator William M. Bulger who told Mrs. Sheila McIntyre, her late husband's significant contributions as Senate Counsel and constitutional scholar are commemorated by the publication of the new edition.

Other participants in the program were Governor Michael Dukakis, House Speaker George Keverian, Chief Justice Edward F. Hennessey, Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti, Massachusetts Bar Association President Richard G. Hoffman and Eugene D. LeFevre, Vice President of Marketing, Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Company.

Pasquerella Criticizes Condon On Mayoral 'Party Politics'

Mayoral candidate Herman ("Hank") Pasquerella recently spoke out against what he felt was fellow candidate Joanne Condon's introduction of party politics into the race.

He said in a statement: "Recently, Joanne Condon has taken issue with Democrats who associate with Republicans.

"Her issue, unfortunately, has introduced party politics into the mayoral race in Quincy.

"If this new twist into local politics was the design of Joanne's new consultant, then she may have opened a Pandora's box that might prove as difficult as the first box.

"The issues of this mayoral race are Quincy issues: sewerage plants, bombs running through the city, chlorine tanks, chlorine trucks, the school system, debris in the streets, Quincy Bay, Wollaston Beach, uncontrolled development.

"These issues are trouble enough without introducing national issues through party politics.

"Introducing party politics has introduced party issues. Joanne must now take stands on national issues that might hurt her campaign.

"Is Joanne prepared to join Senator John Kerry in cutting military spending? What will that cutting do to the (ship) yard?

"Is Joanne prepared to support Representative Edward Markey in a nuclear freeze? What will that do to high tech on Route 128?

"Is Joanne ready to stand with Senator Edward Kennedy on a pro-abortion posture? What will that do to her standing in the churches?

"Does Joanne really want to get bogged down in the school prayer issue?

"I don't have a high priced consultant, but I am going to stick with Quincy issues.

"Joanne would best do the same lest she lose this campaign outside the gates of the city."

Daniel Shea Park Dedicated In West Quincy

MDC Commr. William J. Geary recently dedicated a park in memory of Daniel M. Shea whom he called a "truly good neighbor whose life was distinguished by unselfish service to his country, community, friends and family."

Rep. Michael Morrissey joined Geary, members of the Shea family and scores of Quincy residents at a ceremony dedicating the Daniel M. Shea Memorial Park on Bunker Hill Lane. A stone bearing Mr. Shea's name was unveiled at the newly landscaped park and play area.

Mr. Shea died last October after he was struck by a car while walking near his home. He had been active in the American Legion, Toastmasters International and St. Mary's Parish.

"We're here to celebrate Daniel Shea's life, not to dwell on his tragic death," Geary said. He told the gathering that Mr. Shea was fond of the outdoors and during his retirement had devoted many hours to his hobby of gardening and to the enjoyment of leisure time with his three grandchildren.

"What better memorial could there be to this good man than a lovely park where senior citizens can gather and children can come with their parents to play in a safe and beautiful setting," he asked. He described the site as an integral part of the effort undertaken last year by the Metropolitan District Commission to return the parks to the people.

A Very Special Nurse

Ms. Doris Sinkevich
Director of Nurses
Quincy City Hospital
114 Whitwell Street
Quincy, MA 02169

Dear Ms. Sinkevich:

We'd like to tell you about a nurse on your staff who was very special to us at a time when our father lay in the hospital dying of cancer. No one could comfort us with the words we wanted to hear - that he would be well again and would be coming home soon. But there she was sharing our sorrow and making it more bearable for us all. Her name is Carol Harding.

We first met Carol when she came into our father's room and told us how all she had heard was what a nice man he was from the other nurses on the floor. She later told us that she went home that night and told her mother what a devoted family we were. At the same time, we told people we knew of the wonderful nurse our Dad had.

On the day of the night our father died, he was moved to a private room and kept heavily sedated. We were with him all day; and, at one point, Carol came into the room carrying her seven month old son. She said, "I thought you could use this." Later that night, our father passed away; but as he was dying, Carol talked to him and told him everything was okay, rubbing his chest. When we had all thought he had breathed his last, he took one last breath; but Carol told us, "No, he is gone; but he can still hear you." So she kept talking to him in the most comforting way. Then she started to cry, just as we all did; and she came over to each one of us and put her arms around us and told us how sorry she was. She then walked with us to the elevator and hugged us again before we got on.

The irony of all this is that, at our Dad's wake, a man came in and introduced himself to our mother. He was to be the minister who could conduct the service for our father at our church, on loan from another church in the area. His name was William Harding - Carol's husband!

We are telling you all this because Carol thought nothing of what she did for us and our Dad. As she put it, "I'm only doing my job." But we all know differently and agree that, as we said to Carol, "Not all nurses are made like you."

SMOKE ALARMS

QUESTION: How important do you consider smoke alarms in a home?

ANSWER: If you don't already have them, I would recommend that your first priority be the installation of smoke detectors in your home. They offer a measure of protection out of all proportion to their low cost, efficiency, and ease of installation. They are the best form of fire warning for a family, because they "discover" fire in its early stage. Smoke will be evident from a fire much sooner than heat which will trigger the alarm and awake sleeping occupants.

Their cost is nominal compared to the magnitude of tragedy they can prevent.

Crossing Party Lines

Councillor Joanne Condon isn't too happy over Senator Paul Harold endorsing Mayor Francis McCauley for a third term.

But Harold doesn't see why there should be any fuss over it.

Condon says she is concerned "that someone who runs as a Democrat and is elected by Democrats can suddenly change directions so drastically.

CONDON

HAROLD

Harold says he hasn't changed any direction. "I endorsed Frank McCauley four years ago," he notes. "The differences between myself and Mr. McCauley are the differences between the Democratic and Republican Parties," says Condon.

But, replies Harold, "This is a non-partisan election. There is no R's or D's after the candidates' names."

Every city in the states now has non-partisan elections, he notes. Brockton and Northampton were the last two to change their city charters to do away with partisan municipal elections.

Republican and Democratic philosophies are not issues in a municipal election as they are at the national and state level, he says.

"There is no Democratic or Republican way to plow a street or lay a sewer line."

With Democrats far outnumbering both Republicans and Independents, Condon no doubt would like to remind voters who the Democrat is and who the Republican is.

Last official head count showed 31,893 Democrats, 6,703 Republicans and 11,139 Independents. Running as a Democrat would help a Democrat candidate challenging a Republican incumbent.

Another plus for Condon is another figure: female voters in Quincy out number male voters 28,312 to 21,423.

There are a lot of women who would like to see Quincy with a Her Honor.

But Condon in the preliminary election at least, will have to share some of those women voters with Sabina Kavanagh.

This will be the first Quincy election in which there are two female mayoral candidates.

Regardless of how you feel about crossing party lines in a municipal election, you'll have to agree that this is already a more interesting election year than ho-hum 1983 when there was no mayoral preliminary election.

KAVANAGH

FORMER Mayor Thomas Burgin "strongly favors" a proposed memorial to late Mayor James McIntyre at old City Hall.

Although former Mayor Joseph LaRaia introduced the resolve last week, a planned memorial to McIntyre has long been in the works.

Former Mayors Arthur Tobin and Walter Hannon and Burgin have also been working toward this goal, along with long-time McIntyre friends and other colleagues.

It is one of the few times that Tobin and Hannon have seen eye-to-eye with LaRaia on anything.

"I'm strongly in favor of a memorial," says Burgin. "All the former mayors are. We have been working together on it."

Burgin was a close friend of McIntyre as were Tobin and Hannon.

BURGIN

INCIDENTALLY, Burgin is marking a golden anniversary this week: the 50th anniversary of being elected tax mayor in a special election June 11, 1935. He was 33 at the time.

"He was an excellent mayor," says Burgin. "I respected him very much. He was a sort of political son of mine. I knew him when he was only 10 years old."

AND INCIDENTALLY, Burgin has moved off President's Hill where he had been a fixture for 83 years with the exception of a three-year period when he lived in Wollaston.

He was born in a house on what was Goffe St. in April, 1902. It is now President's Lane.

He lived on Dixwell Ave., a house he built in 1952 until a few days ago when he moved to Tony Losordo's new apartment building at 290 Quarry St.

"It has an awe inspiring view of the Boston skyline and the Quincy waterfront," he says.

Dave Leitch, co-owner of the Burgin Plater Insurance Agency once owned by the former mayor, has purchased Burgin's Dixwell Ave. home.

STEVE LISS, former Quincy Sun photographer, is doing well for himself these days.

After leaving the Sun several years ago, he hooked on as a stringer with United Press International and is now working exclusively for Time Magazine.

A "Campaign Kick-Off Dance" for Ward 6 City Council candidate Richard Sheridan will be held Friday, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Squantum Yacht Club, Quincy Shore Drive.

Tickets are $10 per person and may be purchased at the door or by contacting Kathy Sheridan 328-1613 or Alicia Gardner 328-9382.

New Abigail Adams Stamp At Quincy Post Office Friday

The Quincy Post Office will be the only post office in the nation authorized to sell a 22-cent Abigail Adams commemorative stamp Friday, June 14.

The sale will follow an 11 a.m. ceremony at historic First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy, at which U.S. Postmaster General Paul N. Carlin will be principal speaker.

The First Parish Church is where Abigail Adams; her husband, John Adams; her son, John Quincy Adams, and his wife, Louisa Adams are entombed.

A special station will be set up in the post office to do "first day" cancellations of the multi-colored stamp issued to honor Abigail, who was the wife of John Adams, the second president of the United States, and mother of John Quincy

ABIGAIL ADAMS

Adams, the sixth president.

The stamp will not go on sale in the rest of the country until the following day. About 100 million of the stamps will be issued, according to Joseph Brockett of the U.S. Postal Service stamp division in Washington, D.C.

Abigail's husband and son were commemorated with stamps in 1938, when a 2-cent John Adams stamp and a 6-cent John Quincy Adams stamp were issued in Washington.

The Abigail Adams stamp is the first to be issued in Quincy, although a John Hancock postal card was issued from the city in 1978, Brockett said.

Abigail, the daughter of a Weymouth minister, and John, a Braintree lawyer, were married on Oct. 25, 1746. Four generations of the Adams family, beginning with Abigail and John, lived in the Adams Mansion in Quincy. Abigail Adams wrote volumes of letters to her husband, who was frequently away from their Quincy farm on matters of state.

Her letters reveal her to be "one of the outstanding women in American history," according to historian Paul Robert Lyons. She was a vigorous advocate of women's rights in an era when such a stand was not a popular one.

Brockett said he does not know where the idea for an Abigail Adams stamp came from. However, it was selected several years ago. The postal service deferred printing the stamp until this year.

Montclair Men's Club Opposes Sewage Plant On Long Island

The 170-Member Montclair Men's Club, has gone on record as opposed to siting a new sewage treatment plant on Long Island or Nut Island.

The group voted unanimously to oppose the siting after a letter from Mayor Francis McCauley urging local officials and organizations to voice their opinion.

Joseph Gildea, chairman of the club's Civic Committee, said siting the plant on Long Island would be "a big mistake not only because of the environmental impact on the community, but also because of the loss of a tremendous natural resource and open space area."

Letters stating the club's stand will be sent to Gov. Michael Dukakis, James S. Hoyte, chairman of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, and Boston Mayor Raymond L. Flynn.

Conservation Hearings

7:40 p.m., John McCourt Co., off Ricciuti Drive, drain and backfill existing Granite Rail Quarry.

7:50 p.m., Boston Harbor Marine Co., 542 E. Squantum St., construct relocated roadway with underground utilities and drainage.

IF IT COSTS YOU $24 A YEAR FOR A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX, WHAT WILL IT COST YOU FOR NO SAFE DEPOSIT BOX?

Sadly, it could be much, much more.

Because even with insurance, the permanent loss of an heirloom or a personal treasure can be greater than the cost of a dozen safe deposit boxes.

Right now, there are plenty of secure, convenient and very affordable safe deposit boxes available at South Shore Bank. Depending upon availability, you can choose from thirteen different sizes.

The small yearly fee for renting one is well worth the peace of mind it brings. And even the biggest, most expensive box is a bargain when it saves your possessions from fire or theft.

Access to your valuables is uncomplicated and unlimited during banking hours too. Just ask any South Shore Bank officer to show you the vault area.

You'll see immediately why anything worth safekeeping is worth keeping in our safe.

Safe deposit boxes are available at our branches in Quincy (Main Office), North Quincy, Wollaston, Weymouth Landing, South Weymouth, East Weymouth and Cohasset.

Special Events Mark Covenant Congregational 100th Anniversary

The continuing centennial celebration of Covenant Congregational Church, 315 Whitwell St., Quincy, offers a variety of planned events.

June 14 at 7:30 p.m. the church will host a musical concert and will feature William MacPherson, organist at the North Attleboro Covenant Church; Anders Wihk, jazz pianist; Luisa Dano, soprano; Lori Westhrin, alto; and Richard Reynolds, accompanist.

The concert will be in two parts: sacred music in the sanctuary and a pop-style program downstairs in Person Hall.

This musical event leads off a weekend of activities that include Marian Johnson, missionary to Zaire, and a daughter of the church, as guest speaker at the 10 a.m. Sunday, June 16 service; followed by an all church picnic in the grove and a tree planting ceremony.

Upcoming Fall events: a banquet at Anthony's Pier 4, and a special service with the president of the denomination, William B. Engbreton, and conference superintendent Rev. Robert Erickson, as guest speakers.

The Covenant Congregational Church was organized June 14, 1885, by twenty-two charter members and was originally referred to as the first Swedish Congregational Church, in Quincy, and sited on Quarry St., near Hitchcock quarry.

In 1890 a new church was built on Garfield St.

Sixty-seven years later the present structure was erected at Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Since 1945 the church has been affiliated with the Evangelical Covenant Church of America, whose denominational headquarters are in Chicago, Ill. That denomination also is marking their 100th anniversary this year.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Many prominent men through the years have been chosen "Father Of The Year."

Our selection this year, end every year, is and has been plural. These fathers are seen everywhere...are known everywhere in every community. These fathers are making their presence known from diaper time to diploma time...in their circle of family and friends these typical fathers deserve the distinction of being father of the year just as much as the nationally publicized men. These fathers have devoted a lifetime to the needs of their families. They are loyal employees. They are considerate and thoughtful employers. They have shown, by example, how to face realities; how to be loving and tender; how to have humble trust in God.

To all Fathers Of The Year...everywhere...we hope it is a day of love and understanding. We salute every one of you...HAPPY FATHER'S DAY...

Bob Pitts had three hits and scored three runs, Steve Higgins two hits and three runs scored, Greg McGlame two hits and two runs scored and Ken Runge two hits, including a towering triple.

Morrisette has a veteran lineup ready to go with 11 players returning.

It was Steen's first game since becoming eligible following the high school season. Local 1139 had knocked the Police out of the playoffs last season.

Police jumped out to an early lead with two runs in the opening inning. Rick Ames struck out but raced to first base when the catcher couldn't handle Mark DeMatteo's fast ball. Ames stole second and scored the only run Police needed on Steen's single. Steen stole second and third and scored on a passed ball.

Police scored four runs in the third on singles by Dan Overby, Mike Ainsley and Joe Mulvey. Wayne Chambers doubled home two runs. Police added three in the fifth on a double by Jeff Calvert and singles by Steen, Ainsley and Mulvey.

The final run came in the last inning on a single by Steen and an RBI double by Ainsley.

Jim Ward, Mike Cronin, Tommy Roberts and Billy Bellow aided the offense.

DeMatteo struck out nine for Local, which was hampered by the loss of Mike Kiley, who was ill, and Robbie McDonald, who was selected for the Morrisette Legion team. DeMatteo had three singles and Bryan and Mike Dolan one each. Joe Manning and Satch Sanda played well for Local.

The Police led Hancock Bank, 10-1, when rain halted the game in the fourth inning. Overby was pitching outstanding ball for Police. Hancock catcher Richie Connolly was knocked out and rushed to Quincy City Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Police pulled out a win over Bryan Post VFW in the bottom of the last inning in a high-intensity game.

The score was tied when Overby, who also had a single, hit a towering triple. Steen and Ainsley were intentionally walked to load the bases. Mulvey forced Overby at the plate. With two outs, Wayne Chambers walked to force in the winning run.

Tom Roberts, Mike Jacobacci, Brian Kelley and Bellow played well for Police. Jim Ward ran the bases well and Cronin and Calvert played well around second base. For VFW Jay Rodriguez, Ron Fletcher, Mark Dwyer and Sean Mulhern played fine games.

VFW, Cable, HN Division Leaders

The VFW and Quincy Cable are tied for the American League lead with 9-3 records and Houghs Neck paces the National League with the same record in the Quincy Junior Baseball League.

Quincy Cable won two games last week to stay tied with the VFW.

Cable outslugged Keohane's, 17-13, with a 17-hit attack, led by Mike Baylis, who went 4-for-4, hitting for the cycle, scoring four runs and driving in six, and Pat Gallagher, also 4-for-4 with three singles and a home run, scoring four runs and driving in five.

Sal Manganaro had two doubles and walked twice, Tony Stafford had a double and single and made another outstanding catch in left field, Gary Rawdon and Mike McDonald had singles and McDonald made a fine play at second to stop a Keohane's rally in the final inning. Rawdon was the winning pitcher.

Aiden O'Donoghue, Mike Wood, Chris Murray, Mike Kavanaugh, Jason April, Chris Peck and Joe Check also played well.

For Keohane's, Tom Ridge had a home run and a single.

Cable also topped Colonial Federal, 7-5, with 10-year-old Aiden O'Donoghue driving in the tying and winning runs with a two-out triple. Baylis improved his record to 5-1 and struck out 11, giving him 59 strikeouts, while walking only 11.

Colonial led, 5-3, going into the fifth when Rawdon, Baylis and Manganaro all reached to lead the bases, setting the stage for young O'Donoghue's winning triple.

Manganaro had three doubles. Rawdon three singles, Baylis a single and two walks, Gallagher a single and O'Donoghue his game-winning triple.

Peter Ryan pitched well for Colonial, striking out 13. Ryan, Chad McMahon and Derek Adams had three hits apiece for the losers.

VFW edged Kiwanis, 5-4, with winning pitcher Richie MacDonald striking out 16 of 18 batters.

Kiwanis went ahead in the top of the sixth on Tommy Norton's single, but VFW came back with a walk to Sean Donovan, a fine sacrifice bunt by Christine Barrett, a walk to Scott Dunn, a single by MacDonald to tie the game and a single by Brian Zimmerman to win it.

MacDonald and Zimmerman had two hits each and Dunn, Ed Costello, Donovan and Barrett one apiece. For Kiwanis Ben Smith had four hits, John Fahey three and Mark Karlson, Norton, Chris Olsen and Mike Manus one each.

VFW rolled over Boston Gear, 9-2, with MacDonald again the winning pitcher, allowing only three hits and striking out eight.

MacDonald had a long homer as did Fred Regan for Gear. MacDonald had his homer, a double and a single, and Dunn, Steve Carroll and Donovan one hit each. Regan had all three Gear hits, his homer and two doubles.

Robbie O'Connor and Mark Walsh played well around second base for VFW and Mark Cahill, Dave Bogan, Mike Geddes, Donnie Anderson, Kevin Mulloy all played well.

Rotary, after a slow start, won its last three games, including an 11-0 rompover Keohane's, behind Dana Gurwitch, who struck out nine and walked only two.

Vin Anderlionis, Tim Collins, Gurwitch, John Kelly, Mike Rudinski and Dan Morrell all hit well for Rotary, while Dan Sullivan, Marc Swirbalus, Mike McDougall and Sean Connelly played strong defense.

Rotary topped the Elks, 12-10, again hitting well and getting strong pitching from Tom Johnson, winning pitcher Anderlionis and Kelly.

Rotary also defeated the VFW, 13-9, with Kelly the winning pitcher. Anderlionis pitched well in relief. Kelly paced a 10-hit attack.

In the three victories Kelly led all hitters with seven hits, followed by Gurwitch, Rudinski, Anderlionis and Collins with five each. Also collecting key hits were Keith Douglas, Connelly, Garrett Buthus and Johnson. Sullivan, Buthus, MacDougall and Swirbalus sparked the defense.

The standings: American League - VFW, 9-3; Cable, 9-3; State Street, 7-4; Foley, 6-6; Burgin Platner, 5-6; Kiwanis, 5-7; National - Houghs Neck, 9-3; Boston Gear, 7-4; Elks, 4-7; Rotary, 3-8; Colonial Federal, 3-9; Keohane's, 2-9.

Quincy Girls Edged By Dedham In E Mass. Softball Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy girls' softball team's Cinderella season came to a disappointing end last Friday when it dropped a 2-1 squeaker to Dedham in the Div. 1 South semifinals of the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

The First Ladies came within one pitch of moving into the division championship game. Dedham's Katie Conway hit a two-run homer with two outs in the sixth inning to spoil another outstanding pitching performance by Quincy's Kathy Thornton.

The game matched two of the last tournament qualifiers. Quincy had to wait until the next-to-last game to make the post-season event for the second year in a row. Dedham was the last team to qualify and was seeded 19th.

"It was nice to see two teams that weren't supposed to be here (in the semifinals)," said Quincy coach Barbara Webster.

The First Ladies had finished 12-6 in the Suburban League and finished with an overall 15-7 record after defeating Silver Lake, Weymouth South and Brockton in the tournament.

Thornton, who pitched every victory for Quincy, had blanked Silver Lake, 3-0, and defeated Weymouth South and Brockton by 3-2 scores to make the semifinals. The win over Brockton was especially satisfying, as the Lady Boxers had twice topped the First Ladies during the league season. Weymouth had also defeated Quincy, 4-0, during the regular season.

"We had a great season," said Miss Webster. "The highlight had to be beating Brockton in the quarterfinals. The difference today was pitching. Dedham's pitcher (Laura Power) was a little faster. We had no big hits. We got people on base but left them there."

Quincy broke a scoreless tie with its run in the fifth inning. Thornton bunted and reached when Power's throw was low. Sophomore Terry Duggan bluffed a bunt and lined a single to left. Dedham catcher Heather Tiernan tried to pick Thornton off second but threw into center field, putting runners on second and third. Thornton scored on Cindy Callahan's ground out.

Thornton pitched seven-hit ball and gave up two hits in an inning only once, in the fatal sixth when Nowal Al-Najar singled and Conway blasted her game-winning home run.

The First Ladies threatened in the bottom of the seventh when Thornton walked and Duggan bunted her to second. With two outs Beth Veneto walked but Power struck out Mary Ellen Thomas to end the game.

Brockton took a quick 1-0 lead over Quincy in the previous game, but the First Ladies came back to tie it in the third and take a 3-1 lead in the fifth.

"I was a little concerned when they took that early lead," Webster said. "They had run and bunted on us pretty well in the two regular season games. They try to rattle the infield, but we didn't rattle today. Kathy (Thornton) takes everything in stride. She knows we might make a few mistakes behind her, but she keeps plugging."

In the third inning Veneto walked and stole second and Colleen Phillips singled up the middle to score Veneto and tie the score at 1-1.

In the fifth Callahan walked, Veneto was safe on an error, Thomas bunted them along and Phillips singled to drive in both runs.

In the bottom of the fifth Brockton had two runners in scoring position and second baseman Phillips had to leave the game after being hit on the wrist. She was replaced by inexperienced Chris Curtin, who caught a fly to end the threat.

The Lady Boxers scored a run in the sixth but got no more from a bases-loaded situation with no outs. A sacrifice fly by Lynne Yennish drove in the run but fine fielding by left fielder Debbie Herron got Quincy out of the inning.

In the last inning Brockton had two runners on with one out. A foul ball call was argued too strenuously by Maria Rello, was ejected and replaced by pinch hitter Michelle Bernard, who walked to load the bases. Curtin caught a line drive to end the game and give the First Ladies their biggest win of the season.

The final standings: East J.B. Heating, 7-2; Wholey Club, 7-2; Jaehnig, 5-4; Hawks, 3-6; MX Peacekeepers, 1-8. West - Quincy Nets, 7-2; D.C. Club, 7-2; Quality, 4-5; Austin Club, 3-6; Balls, 1-8.

Braves Roll, Win Four In A Row

Paul Tagney hit a two-run homer in the last inning to give the Braves a 7-6 win over the Cubs Monday night in the Junior Farm Baseball League. It was the Braves' fourth straight win.

Nick Campbell came in to pitch in the opening inning when the Cubs scored four runs and pitched one-hit ball, while striking out 12, the rest of the way. Brendon Gibbons had a two-run triple, Clint Fullerton a triple, Jason Sullivan, Tim Byrne and Chris Sullivan two hits each and Brad Douglas and Dan Farrell one apiece.

For the Cubs Pat Connolly and Brendon Ridge provided the offense and Jamie Shatzl pitched well, played good defense and had one of his team's three hits.

The Braves outlasted the Pirates, 17-13, with Byrne the winning pitcher. He had a big day at the plate, driving in six runs with a three-run homer and a single. Jason Sullivan had two hits and drove in the winning run, Campbell and Scott Joyce two hits each, Douglas a two-run triple, Tagney a two-run double and Barry Canavan and Chris Sullivan a hit each. Clint Fullerton played strong defense.

For the Pirates Chris

Geary had two doubles, Steven Manning hit well, Dave Rowell played excellent defense and Dan Burke pitched well in relief.

The Braves edged the Tigers, 12-11, in a game featuring excellent defensive plays. Fullerton made three outstanding plays, Tagney cut down a runner at second base and Gibbons caught a strong game.

The Braves collected 21 hits including two triples and a single by Gibbons, home runs by Kevin Coleman and Campbell, three hits by Jason Sullivan, two each by Farrell and Steve McDougall and key hits by Todd Sullivan and Steve Tagney.

The Tigers had just one hit but took advantage of walks and errors to stay in the game. Scott Dunn played well and Sean White robbed Fullerton of an extra base hit with an outstanding catch.

The Braves also edged the Angels, 7-6, with Farrell the winning pitcher. Fullerton had two big hits and two RBI, and Nick Campbell, Byrne, Joyce and Canavan drove in runs. Chris Sullivan and Coleman sparked defensively.

For the Angels Mike DesRoches pitched well and had a double and a single and Tom Malvesti and Dan Beaton played fine defense.

Patriots Win East Coast Volleyball Championship

The Mass. Patriots Elite volleyball team, featuring several Quincy players, won the East Coast championship at the University of Delaware and six from Quincy will be among those playing for the National Junior Olympics in Missouri and Illinois.

"We are looking to fare pretty well," said Chris Prendiville, coach of the 13-year team and assistant Quincy High coach. "If our teams get into the top 20, I'll be satisfied. To win the East Coast is one thing, but teams from Chicago and California are always very tough."

Last year the Mass.

Patriots 13-under team placed fourth in the nationals, the best performance ever by a New England entry.

Erin Murray, Deirdre Murphy and Debbie Panaro, all from Quincy, start for this year's all-stars.

Murray's serving and setting and outstanding defensive plays by Panaro helped the Patriots defeat Pepsico, N.Y., for the East Coast title, turning the decisive third set in favor of Mass., which won the third set, 15-8, for the crown. The Patriots had defeated teams from Delaware and New Jersey on the way to the title.

"They showed a lot of guts under pressure in the deciding third game against Pepsico," Prendiville said. "They hadn't really been tested like that before. Our defense was very strong. They know the ball just shouldn't hit the floor and they play that way."

Quincy's Lauren Standing helped the 15-under team, coached by Richard Barton of Stoneham, take first place. The Patriots defeated Capital of Washington, D.C., 16-14, in the decisive game after defeating Bergen, N.J., and Pepsico 9.

The junior squad, which placed third in the East Coast championships, has Quincy's Marlo LeVangie.

The Patriots are raising funds to help them go to the nationals. The cost is expected to run $900 per player.

They are accepting contributions from business sponsors and those interested can send checks to New England Juniors, P. O. Box 93, Wakefield, R.I. 02880.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

Beth Felipe of Quincy, a staffer in Day Habilitation whose work for the past 10 years has been with young adults.

Boy Scout leaders John and Buell Fuller of Quincy, 77-year-old twins, who have been involved in directing scouting activities for handicapped youngsters for years.

Bank of New England-Hancock President William Flynn.

deed stipulations. The groups disappointed included municipal, youth, veteran, senior citizen and fraternal organizations.

"Certainly, alternate sites for a meeting location for the organization could be made available. Two veterans posts now utilize Fore River Clubhouse for their home and meeting locations while Nickerson Post is located at Squaw Rock, all within the jurisdiction of the Park and Recreation Board."

Lawson said that what his group is looking for "is a place to call home."

After being questioned by Councillor Koch, Lawson said the chapter has about 50 members, mostly from Quincy, and would like a command post roughly the size of the City Council Chamber.

Councillor Patricia Toland suggested that the matter be discussed by the Quincy Veterans Council and noted that other American Legion posts can offer space for the chapter's programs until it finds a home.

City Solicitor Dean Nicastro said he had not had adequate time to form a formal opinion on the chapter locating space at the Nike Site.

But Nicastro did say that several issues would have to be dealt with such as provisions of the deed, the Massachusetts Constitution guaranteeing protection of parkland, and the authority of the Park and Recreation Board.

Mayor Francis McCauley commented after the meeting that "if the city can help out, it will."

However, McCauley added that the city does not have a lot of buildings available, and that the Caddy Detachment of the Marine Corps League has been looking for a site for the last few years without much success.

Children's Day Events At First Church Of Squantum

Sunday was "Children's Day" at First Church of Squantum, and the children assisted by some of the teenagers, led the morning service for the whole congregation.

Marci Hurd played Beethoven's "Ode to Joy" on the piano before the service as the prelude. Kristen Reister gave the call to worship, Ruth Adams led the opening prayer and Lori Ogilvie offered the prayer of dedication.

The pastoral prayer was led jointly by Kim Olson, Melissa Stamos and Marci Hurd.

Michael Stamos read the scripture for the morning which was the 23rd Psalm. Mindi Hurd gave the greeting and read the announcements.

The Cherub Choir, led by Mindi Hurd and Susan Scott, sang "Jesus Loves Us Big and Small."

Mary Ruth Scott, director of the Junior Choir, presented each member of that choir with a choir pin for this year. Their offertory anthem was "We are the World" by Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie. They also sang the benediction, "Go Now in Peace" by Natalie Sleeth.

The sermon was a dramatization of the calling of Samuel, the Old Testament prophet. The play was in three acts with Jason Deary playing the part of Samuel, Steve Williams, Elkanah, Susan Scott, Peninah, Lori Ogilvie and Kim Olson, Peninah's children, Bonnie Adams, Hannah, David Williams, Eli and Chris Dixey, the voice of God.

During the service, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin recognized members of church youth programs who had graduated from high school this past week. They included Dianne Ahearn, Bonnie Adams and Susan Mil-dram.

Greeters for the service were Recilla Stamos and her two children, Michael and Melissa.

Ushers were Brian Franklin, Jason Deary, Michael Stamos and Albert Franklin.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Doris Sinker and Hazel Mayne.

The annual church Flea Market will be held Saturday, June 15, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the church grounds. Last minute table reservations can still be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-436.

City At Work On Energy Financing Projects

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that Quincy is among 10 communities at work on innovative energy financing projects for public facilities which include schools, fire stations and town halls.

Quincy is one of the communities selected by the Massachusetts Executive Office of Energy Resources (EOER) to receive state funding for technical assistance from MMA and from Lane and Edson, a noted national law firm with a specialty in energy financing, said McCauley.

With this help, Quincy will contract for the installation of energy conservation equipment and for services, according to McCauley. Each project is to be funded with little or no up-front capital cost to Quincy.

Financing options include agreements to share savings between vendor and municipality, guaranteed leases, and lease-purchase agreements, he said.

The mayor said that Quincy is gathering information on the energy consumption characteristics of buildings to be included in these projects.

This data will then be used by Lane and Edson to develop a request for a proposal for Quincy to respond to energy problems without straining its budget.

The naming of the roadway was submitted in a resolve by Councillor Joanne Condon; the flying of the POW-MIA flag in a resolve by Councillor Michael Cheney, with input from John Comer, past state American Legion commander.

Downtown Businessmen Told: Quincy's Economic Climate Is Good

By DAN CONNELLY

Low interest rates, less dependency on General Dynamics shipyard, new building, low unemployment, and a growing economy have created a good economic climate in Quincy today, and for the future.

That is the opinion voiced by three Quincy bankers who addressed a general membership meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, Tuesday, at South Shore Bank.

William B. Austin, Jr., President of South Shore Bank, told the well-attended business meeting that: "Quincy and the South Shore have a very bright future. We are fortunate. Some say General Dynamics is the end of Quincy. But we are less dependent on GD. Yes, it will be a problem should GD abandon its shipbuilding but not a catastrophe."

Austin said it is a blessing the South Shore is not dependent upon hi-tech as a major industry. He was commenting on the series of employment layoffs because of a drop in business in that industry.

Charles A. Pearce, Chairman of the Board of Quincy Savings Bank told the group: "when bank deposits are average, it means people are not saving but spending; which is good news to you business people."

"I agree with Bill Austin. Yes, it is a blessing we do not have a lot of hi-tech industry to depend upon in our area."

"We are going to see interest rates drop by the end of the year - but not to a single digit. Those days are gone forever."

"We at Quincy Savings are high on the business prospects for the South Shore. In Quincy Square alone there is a lot of building and renovations going on: The Sears Building and old Quincy Lodge of Elks site."

William E. Kelley, President, Bank of New England-Hancock, sees low mortgage rates for the future but agrees with his fellow bankers they will not drop to a single digit figure.

He disagrees with Austin and Pearce regarding hi-tech and its current survival problems.

"We will feel the pinch here. Lots of small companies in the South Shore were providing services to these troubled companies. There will be a ripple effect to a noticeable degree -- but not major."

"I feel the same way as my fellow bankers regarding the future of General Dynamics. If GD is forced to abandon its shipbuilding there, it will have an effect on Quincy, but no way like one should this same situation have arisen in the '50s and '60s when the city was economically dependent on the shipyard."

All agreed that if interest rates dipped too low, banks could not operate financially soundly.

The new tax reform program drew a comment from Kelley:

"When it is finally ready, it will have changed so much you would not recognize it from the one originally proposed by the president."

One business person asked, "should we start thinking about the future relative to turning the shipyard into an industrial park - utilizing those valuable acres of real estate?"

Pearce and Kelley responded that they had attended a meeting June 13, in the Conference Room of new City Hall in which future options of GD were to be aired before a group of civic leaders.

They said the union was well represented at the meeting and the union could see no meaningful purpose in discussing alternative uses for the shipyard because of impending contract negotiations with the yard's work force. The bankers agree it is to Quincy's advantage to keep General Dynamics operating its shipyard - it helps the city's economy.

Along with the reconstruction of Water St., the traffic signals at the intersection of Water St. and Quincy Ave., and at the intersection of Water St. and Franklin St. will be upgraded.

Barry Will Retire Aug. 2 As Fire Chief

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Fire Chief Edward Barry has notified Mayor Francis McCauley he will retire Aug. 2, after 35 years of service to the department.

Barry, who will be 65 Sept. 22, had earlier indicated he would retire on that date. He said he decided to retire earlier for personal reasons.

"It is time for me to change the course of my life and head in another direction," said Barry, who joined the Fire Department in 1942 as a temporary firefighter.

"I really enjoyed it," said Barry, whose father was a Quincy fire captain who served with the department 39 years, and whose brother, Russell, a Quincy Deputy Chief, served nearly 20 years.

Barry enlisted in the Navy in 1942 and served until Aug. 1, 1947. He was stationed aboard the U.S.S. Sangamon, took part in the North African invasion and served on a submarine chaser in the Caribbean.

On March 25, 1950, he became a permanent firefighter in the Quincy Fire Department. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1955, captain in 1958, deputy chief in 1964. In

EDWARD BARRY

November, 1967, he was appointed chief by Mayor James McIntyre.

He was only the third fire chief in 55 years. The other two were William L. Sands and Thomas F. Gorman.

Among the fires that are vivid in his memory are a four-alarm blaze at the Bryan Chemical Factory in North Quincy, the first after he was appointed chief, and the four-alarm Wollaston Foundry fire in the early 1970s.

"Everywhere you looked there was fire for a while block," said Barry.

"I've enjoyed my career in many ways," said the chief. "I've enjoyed raising the level of operation of the department on a tactical level."

"Most of my goals have been obtained. A small amount have not, but that's true of any profession."

Among the achievements of which he is most proud are higher standards for firefighters and more modern apparatus.

Barry cited higher standards for probationary firefighters and constant training programs for other firefighters.

He also said that every piece of fire department equipment has been replaced since he has been chief except for one - the Germantown station pump.

Barry also noted the installation of computers and cable TV which connects all of the fire stations.

In the future, he would like to see more use of computers, the introduction

City Hall To Be McIntyre Center

The City Council has unanimously adopted a resolve that the original Quincy City Hall be designated as the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

The new designation voted Monday night is to be located on the front of the building. A dedication service is expected to take place in September.

The resolve was introduced by the members of the City Council.

An earlier resolve introduced by Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia was placed on file.

LaRaia explained to the council's Beautification Committee that the resolve was redrafted to include input from the City Council and others.

The new resolve states

that the late Mayor-Senator McIntyre's life "personifies the highest commitment to the ideals and attributes of government and public service. James R. McIntyre effectively improved and indelibly enriched the course and integrity of his city, the commonwealth and his country...and the city of Quincy's motto: 'It Remains' denotes permanence, embodies James R. McIntyre's spirit, commitment and contributions to government."

City Council president James Sheets expressed his appreciation to LaRaia for both resolves.

Sheets also said of Mr. McIntyre, "in life, it is fitting and proper to take time and extend recognition to those men and women who have extraordinarily distinguished themselves in their chosen profession, whether the profession be medicine, literature or public service."

"Jim McIntyre was one of the extraordinary men who

Condon Sees Development West Quincy Issue

Mayoral candidate Joanne Condon continued her ward-by-ward, door-to-door campaigning in Ward 4 this past week.

She also attended a coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bertrand of 81 Rogers St. She met with a number of area residents and discussed at length city wide concerns.

Councillor Condon said she sees development as the biggest issue facing the residents in Ward 4.

"The proper development of Crown Colony Place must be a major priority of the next mayor," said Condon. "In my own Ward 6, I have always made sure that the local residents had input on any new development. As mayor I would continue this effort," she added.

Condon will be walking in Ward 1 this week.

Liquor Stolen

Robert Dennison of Granite St., Quincy Center, reported to police that three half gallons of liquor as well as other items were stolen from his apartment.

John Walsh Candidate For Ward 6 City Council Seat

John J. Walsh, 33, of North Quincy, announces his candidacy for the Ward 6 City Council seat saying the future of Ward 6 "was being held hostage to indifference and inaction."

He told a group of supporters who gathered at East Squantum St., and Quincy Shore Drive, Wollaston Beach, that when he joins the council "my top priority will be to listen to my fellow citizens' concerns and then act."

Walsh addressed six major areas of concern that he says are drastically impacting upon Ward 6 potential and day-to-day living conditions:

Quincy Harbor bay pollution; public safety and automobile traffic concerns; recreational facilities and programs for youth; uncontrolled and undirected real estate development; isolation among senior citizens; and the preservation of the North Quincy shopping and business area.

Walsh, a Vietnam-era disabled veteran, is married to the former Susan Lydon. They have one son. She is expecting another child.

He is a partner in Commonwealth Resource Group of Quincy, and is presently studying for a law degree at New England School of Law.

Walsh has worked in the state election and state veterans service offices. He is a licensed social worker and justice of the peace.

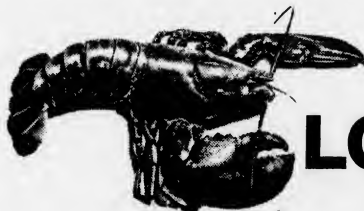

He is active in the American Legion, and is also a member of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, the Squantum Community Association, Save Our Shores, and the Montclair Men's Club.

Walsh holds a Master of Public Administration degree from Suffolk University and Bachelor of Science degree in Management from the University of Massachusetts.

Council Approves Health Board Amendments

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The ordinance committee of the Quincy City Council voted Monday night to adopt three amendments to the mayor's home rule petition to establish a board of health in Quincy.

But it will be at least next week before the council takes a vote on the matter at a special meeting Wednesday, June 26.

Monday night's meeting was the last regularly scheduled for the fiscal year.

The council voted to refer the home rule petition to the city solicitor's office for clarification and proper drafting.

Two of the amendments, which were introduced by Councillor Joanne Condon, specify that members of the board of health and the health commissioner be appointed by the mayor subject to confirmation by the City Council.

The third amendment deletes the specification of members of the board of health as special municipal employees.

Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie explained that special municipal employees are exempt from a state statute which specifies that employees have no more than one contract with the city.

If board members were special municipal employees, said MacRitchie, that would allow the doctor on the board to be affiliated with Quincy City Hospital as well as the city without a conflict of interest.

With that designation deleted from the home rule petition, MacRitchie said, any doctor on the staff of Quincy City Hospital would be ineligible to serve on the board of health.

The mayor proposed an ordinance six months ago that would designate all unpaid members of boards as special municipal employees, but the council voted against it, said MacRitchie.

Councillors Patricia Toland, Michael Cheney, Stephen McGrath and

Joseph LaRaia voted against deleting the designation.

Voting in favor were Condon, Theodore DeCristofaro, Richard Koch, Jr., John J. Lydon, Jr., and council president James Sheets.

If the City Council approves the home rule petition, it must be signed by the mayor before it goes to the legislature.

However, last week Mayor Francis McCauley indicated he did not favor council input on appointments to health commissioner or the board of health.

McCauley pointed out that the city operates on a Plan A charter which allows the mayor to make appointments without council approval.

"And I think it should stay that way," said the mayor.

Crane To Auction Unclaimed Property

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane announces that Unclaimed Property with an appraised worth of $9,000 will be auctioned June 25 by the Treasury in compliance with Massachusetts Unclaimed Property Law.

The auction, which is open to the public, will begin at 10 a.m. in Gardner Auditorium, State House, Boston.

Crane said the items to be auctioned come primarily from safe deposit boxes which have been abandoned by their owners and turned over to the state. Included are gold, silver, watches, jewelry, diamonds, antiques, rare coins, and other collectibles.

Some of the more interesting memorabilia this year are two letters signed by Civil War General W.T. Sherman, an autographed first stanza of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" by author T.F. Smith, two autographs of silent movie actress Lillian Gish, and an 1866 U.S. Senate reporter's pass.

Also up for bid are a lady's gold solitaire diamond ring, a man's gold pocket watch, a gold stick pin with diamonds, an 1878 U.S. silver dollar and a 1906 U.S. $5 gold coin.

Individuals may inspect the merchandise, June 24 at Gardner Auditorium, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Massachusetts Abandoned Property Law requires that the contents of safe deposit boxes which have been inactive for eight years be turned over to the Treasury. If the rightful owners are not located, the contents are auctioned.

Crane said last year's auction netted the state more than $33,000. Proceeds from the auction are invested in the State's General Fund where they earn interest and benefit all residents and taxpayers of Massachusetts.

Reagan's Local 'Ties'

Well, you might say that President Reagan really has good Quincy-South Shore ties.

South Shore Chamber neckties, anyway.

The President honored the Chamber for its work in the "Earn It" program at Quincy District Court last week.

Reagan presented a crystal pyramid-shaped award to Chamber President Peter F. O'Connell during a ceremony in the White House Rose Garden Friday.

O'Connell, a Quincy resident and co-owner of the O'Connell Brothers development and construction company, received the award for the Chamber for its outstanding community service.

Under the "Earn It" program started by Judge Albert Kramer at Quincy District Court about 10 years ago, offenders make restitution to victims in certain cases.

Reagan noted that the Chamber last year provided jobs for over 1,000 youthful offenders who earned nearly $350,000 that was paid back to their victims.

There were 30 recipients from throughout the country, but only O'Connell had a surprise for the President.

After receiving his award, O'Connell turned around and presented Reagan with the newly designed Chamber of Commerce red-striped tie with a seagull insignia.

Reagan smiled and thanked O'Connell.

REAGAN

O'CONNELL

It was Reagan's second Chamber tie.

Six years ago — almost to the very day — Reagan was presented a tie June 13, 1979 at a Chamber breakfast at the Lantana, in Randolph.

Reagan was campaigning for a first term. He and other Presidential candidates that year were guests of the Chamber at a series of breakfasts.

It was at one of those breakfasts that Reagan had a solution for Braintree Five Corners, also known as Nightmare Alley.

Bring all five lanes of traffic together and pave over them, he suggested.

George Bush who was running against Reagan for the Republican Presidential nomination that year, also received a Chamber tie at one of the breakfasts.

Bush really became fond of the tie. Chamber officials and members kept tabs on him wearing the tie in photos of him on campaign stops in various parts of the country.

Bush appeared briefly at another ceremony in the Rose Garden Friday but not long enough for O'Connell to dig out another tie if he had an extra one with him.

Making the trip to Washington with O'Connell in the O'Connell company private jet were Ron Zooleck, Chamber executive vice-president; Tom O'Connell, Peter's brother and pilot; John Noonan and Bob Gohl of Quincy Sun. Ch. 8 and Jerry McCullough, photo editor of the Patriot Ledger.

Former State Rep. Andy Card of Holbrook, now a Presidential coordinator at the White House, was on hand to greet the Chamber group.

1938, and Bridgewater State College in 1942 with a B.S. degree.

It was while a sophomore in college that he met his wife, Rita. The couple have been married for 41 years and have six children, Barbara, 40, Frances, 37, Mary, 33, Rita, 31, Eddie, 30, and Patrick, 28.

None of the children has followed in Barry's footsteps.

"My father joined the fire department in 1913 and the end of the line will be reached Aug. 2," said Barry.

Barry says he intends to remain in Quincy, do some travelling, take in some cultural programs and get in some fishing with his son and grandson.

"I'm looking forward to it," says Barry. "Everything comes to an end. It's time for the direction of my life to change a bit."

In his letter to the mayor, Barry thanked McCauley for "your interest in purchasing the much needed apparatus and other equipment for the Fire Department.

"My appreciation is given to all the elected officials, both present ones and by-gone days; to my fellow employees of other city departments; to the businessmen and the residents of city; to many various organizations; to the members of the news media; to the members of the Fire Department and Fire Alarm Division; to the civilian employees of the Fire Department and, particularly, to my family. I am grateful to all of them!"

"There assistance to me in having the Fire Department attain the level it has reached could not have been accomplished without the support I have received."

According to fire department sources, Chief Carl Valenti topped the Civil Service examination for chief, followed by Deputy Joseph Jackson. Deputy Chiefs Thomas Gorman and Herbert Rourke also took the exam.

It was also reported that Capt. Patrick Claire topped the examination for deputy chief, followed by George McRae.

Other captains who took the exam were Theodore Kressler, Paul Johnson and Charles Sacchetti.

MOVING EXPENSE DEDUCTIONS

QUESTION: I bought a house because of a job transfer. Are my moving expenses tax deductible?

ANSWER: Moving expenses are deductible if your new job site is more than 35 miles farther away from your home than your former job location. There is no dollar limit on DIRECT moving expenses (transporting household goods and your family). A 53,000 limit applies to indirect expenses, such as: househunting trips, expenses associated with selling your old home or buying a new one, and up to 30 days temporary housing at the new location. Only half (up to $1,500) of this amount can be deducted for the househunting and living expenses.

MOVING EXPENSES ARE DEDUCTIBLE IF they are job-related and meet other tests.

Postmaster General Pays Tribute To Abigail Adams At Stamp Ceremonies

A 22-cent commemorative stamp honoring Abigail Adams, wife of John Adams, second president of the United States, was issued Friday.

That honor was particularly appropriate since Mrs. Adams was not only the mother of one of the most important family dynasties in American public life, but also a noted letter writer.

"Abigail Adams' legacy is made more vivid for us by the 2,000 letters she left behind," said Postmaster Paul N. Carlin at ceremonies at United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq. "They create a patriotic panorama as well as a fascinating autobiography, and they exemplify a time when letter writing was the foremost means of communication as well as a literary art."

"She was a keen and effective politician, a shrewd businesswoman and manager, the founder of a family eminent for generations of public servants and an imaginative, incisive artist of letter-writing."

"Such accomplishments would be impressive at any time, but for a woman in the 18th century, they were most extraordinary."

"This was a time when the preordained role of women was strictly domestic; their task was to 'keep house and tend the children'—manage a household and rear a family, if sufficiently wealthy. And that alone was what they were supposed to do."

But, Carlin continued, as the woman historians credit as the first truly emancipated woman in American history wrote to her husband: 'excluded from honors and from offices...our property is subject to the control and disposal of our partners, to whom the laws have given a sovereign authority...If particular care and attention is not paid to the ladies, we are determined to form a rebellion, and will not hold ourselves bound by any laws in which we have no voice or representation.'

Born in Weymouth in 1744, she married John Adams in 1764. After 1801, Abigail spent nearly all of her life in Quincy, the site of the family mansion. She died in 1817.

Honored guests at the ceremonies Friday included Wilhelmina S. Harris, superintendent of the Adams National Historic Site, and Bart Forbes, designer of the stamp.

Remarks were given by Anne Kanies, president of the Abigail Adams Historical Society, and Abigail M. Browne of the Adams family.

The invocation was by the Rev. Keith C. Munson, minister of United First Parish Church. The welcome was given by Forrest I. Neal, Jr., chairman of the board of that church.

Philip L. Sullivan, sectional center manager-postmaster, Boston, presided at the ceremonies. Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, with commanding officer Colonel Sylvester A. Ray, presented the colors.

The Quincy High School Choral Group, directed by Catherine R. Carnabuci, presented "The National Anthem," "America Our Heritage," and "America the Beautiful."

The benediction was given by the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Quincy's school children were also represented at the ceremonies when Erin Kinnally and Judy Goodman of Quincy's Advanced Placement Class, directed by Dr. Diane Willard, read a poem "Abigail Adams: A Tribute to a First-Rate First Lady."

"Love and encouragement, Hallmarks of liberation. These she shared with Her husband, Her children, Her people," recited the students in an excerpt from the poem.

"Love interlaced with literacy-A reader, A writer. A thoughtful analyst of, Reasons and responses, People and politics, Encouraging enlightenment, Extolling excellence."

Sullivan will present the students with a hard-bound first day of issue remembrance Friday for their participation in the program.

Poverty In Wollaston?

A proposal to cut the metered price of parking in Wollaston from five cents an hour to two and a half cents an hour drew sharp criticism from City Councillor Edna B. Austin.

"I didn't think the people in Wollaston were so poor," she said as the City Council referred the proposal to its Ordinance Committee.

June 17-22

Public Works Commissioner Charles R. Herbert called the priceslash "a markdown sale which would sell parking meters to the people."

Councillor Amelio Della Chiesa said Wollaston parking meters were taking in an average of 16 cents per meter per day, while those in Quincy Square were averaging twice as much.

COMIC BOOK SUIT

A New York comic book publisher filed suit in Federal Court in Boston for a permanent injunction to prevent the Quincy Literature Review Board from banning its publications from the city's newsstands.

Named in the suit were Mayor Charles A. Ross, Police Chief John J. Avery and the three members of the Review Board, Rev. Joseph D. Parkman, Mrs. Katherine J. Quinn and Mrs. Ida G. Glasser.

The Board was set up by the City Council in December, 1948, to regulate the sale of comic books and paperback reprints that might, in the view of the Board, tend to corrupt the morals of the young.

Two comic books published by the plaintiff, Lee Gleason Publications, Inc., of New York, entitled "Crime Does Not Pay" and "Crime and Punishment," were among the first books banned by the Board.

NUMBERS ROOM

The City closed down the waiting room for bus passengers at the corner of Washington and Coddington Sts., because of vandalism and other abuses.

Park Department Foreman Harry Boyd said one of the other abuses was the use of the building by numbers pool operators as a headquarters in which to take bets.

The waiting room had been little used since the old street cars for Houghs Neck had been replaced by buses, which also picked up passengers at the main station on Hancock St.

Chamber Honored By Reagan For 'Earn-It' Program

President Ronald Reagan's wardrobe now sports a red-striped South Shore Chamber of Commerce tie, complete with a seagull insignia.

It was presented by Chamber President Peter O'Connell during a White House Rose Garden ceremony where the president honored the South Shore group for its role in "Earn-It," a pioneering victim restitution program conceived by Quincy District Court Judge Albert Kramer.

Reagan presented a crystal, pyramid-shaped award to O'Connell, of the O'Connell Brothers development and construction company of North Quincy. O'Connell then returned the favor, handing Reagan the tie.

Reagan, who presented awards to 30 winners from around the country, specifically referred to the South Shore chamber.

"The members of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce provided jobs for over 1000 youthful offenders (last year)," said Reagan, adding that their wages of nearly $350,000 "was paid back to victims."

The award winners were chosen by a committee of business leaders who have done outstanding volunteer service in the community.

that belong to the chamber, working with Judge Kramer, hire youthful offenders who in turn use their wages to repay the victims of their crimes. If there is no damage caused in the commission of offenses, defendants are still required to make up for their crimes by working in community service programs.

Earn-It, the first such program in the nation when it began in 1975, has already been copied by other courts, including Tucson, Arizona.

O'Connell joked that he was concerned Secret Service agents in attendance might leap into action when they saw him hand the boxed tie to Reagan. Just before reaching the president, O'Connell made a point of showing the tie to Andrew Card of Holbrook, a White House assistant, to let the security people know it was okay.

Condon Launches Petition Drive Against L.I. Sewage Site

Mayoral Candidate Joanne Condon is initiating a city wide petition this week for Quincy residents opposed to siting a sewage treatment plant on either Long Island or Nut Island.

"Every study has shown that the use of either location would be among the most expensive, the most time consuming, and the most disruptive of the available alternatives," said Mrs. Condon.

"I want to make sure that the E.P.A. realizes how strongly Quincy residents are opposed to both Long Island and Nut Island as possible sites."

Councillor Condon will use her city wide mayoral campaign organization to distribute the petitions.

"We have used all of the other available avenues to fight a Quincy siting. We have been outspoken at public hearings, we have written letters, and we have passed a council resolution stating our opposition."

Councillor Condon said, "This petition drive will take a great deal of work, but the workers in my mayoral campaign have been out on the streets with me for nine weeks now and they are still willing to take on this added workload. I applaud their efforts on behalf of all Quincy residents," Councillor Condon added.

The petitions will be turned over to Michael R. Deland, Regional Director of the Environmental Protection Agency.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Throughout our lives failures come to all of us. Sometimes no matter how hard we try things will go wrong. We should all remember that whatever we may look like to the world — whether it be hopelessly inefficient or brilliantly successful — most of us know that according to our own guidelines, we have failed at some time or another.

Take for example the baseball player who struck out 1330 times. This was a record in fulltime unapproached in the history of baseball. Yet that isn't what we remember about Babe Ruth. His 714 home runs completely obliterated the 1330 strikeouts! ... Then there was the man who was one of the tallest men who ever lived. He was always trying experiments that were unsuccessful. Yet we never think of Thomas Edison as a failure! ... At Fort Ness, during the French and Indian War, there was a young American officer who capitulated to the enemy. Yet we never think of George Washington as the man who surrendered to the French! ...

Isn't it true we would feel a lot less sensitive about failure if we remembered it just doesn't matter, except as a guideline for ourselves? Isn't it true that there is no such thing as utter failure to one who has done his best? ...

Talking With Young Children About Death

As adults we are familiar with the frequent questions of our children, those back-to-back "whys" of a child. Perhaps the toughest "why" to which we will ever have to respond is why someone has died. We have acquired a unique family-oriented brochure entitled, "Talking With Young Children About Death". It was produced under the direction of noted children's expert, Fred Rogers of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood. This acclaimed brochure is now part of our community resource collection. # Morrisette Bombs Wollaston For 2nd Straight Win

Wollaston Legion baseball team upset Morrisette in a playoff for the Zone 6 title a year ago, but Morrisette, winner of 22 zone titles, gained some measure of revenge Monday night when it walloped Wollaston, 11-3, at Adams Field for its second win in a row.

The loss was the second straight for Wollaston after an easy opening day victory.

Wollaston will host Dorchester Friday night at 8 p.m. at Adams Field. Morrisette will be at Holbrook for an 8:30 game and Quincy will be home to Weymouth at 6 at Adams.

Monday night Wollaston will face Randolph at 6 and Morrisette will meet Dorchester at 8 at Adams, while Quincy will play at Canton at 6.

Tuesday it will be Braintree at Quincy at 8 at Adams and Wollaston at Holbrook at 8:30.

Chris Bunker pitched six strong innings, allowing only three hits, against Wollaston Monday. Jack Outerbridge pitched the seventh.

Morrisette opened fast with back-to-back triples by Chris Marshall and Paul Ratti. Denis Cronin doubled in Ratti and he scored on Tom Ryan's single.

Morrisette added a run in the second, scored twice in the third on a Mike Joyce single and added three in the fifth when Cronin singled, Ryan walked, Rich Brooks singled and Marshall hit his second triple. The winners completed their scoring with single runs in the sixth and seventh.

Cronin went 3-for-4, while Marshall, Ratti and Ryan had two hits each.

The big blow for Wollaston was a long two-run triple by Ken Runge in the seventh. John Comeau was the starting pitcher and Dave Zuroms and Steve Higgins finished up.

Morrisette opened its 41st season last week with an easy 14-3 victory over Carter Post of Dorchester as Larry Taglieri, making his first Legion start, went all the way with a six-hitter, striking out six and not walking a batter. His mates gave him plenty of offensive support as they collected 16 hits, nine for extra bases.

The game was close for four innings, with Morrisette holding a 4-3 edge going into the bottom of the fifth. Herb Morrisette began playing long ball and scored three runs in the fifth and seven in the sixth.

Carter took a 1-0 lead in the first, but Morrisette came back with three runs in the bottom half. With two outs, Jack Bolster singled, Bunker doubled, Cronin walked and Bolster scored when Tom Connolly was hit by a pitch. Ryan drove in Bunker and Cronin with a single.

It added a run in the third when Bolster singled, went to third on a fielders choice and an error and scored on another Ryan single.

Bolster went 3-for-3 including a double, Bunker had two hits, drove in a run and scored three, Cronin had three RBI on two successive triples and scored four runs, Connolly had two hits and four RBI as he hit a home run over the left field fence. Ryan had two hits and three RBI, Brooks had two hits, Taglieri and Marshall had back-to-back triples and Mike Joyce had a run-producing double.

Wollaston, with several players missing, was throttled by Braintree, 18-4, in the first night game played at Braintree.

Good Season For Quincy But Could Have Been Better

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy girls' softball team recently completed its best season, advancing to the semifinals of the South Div. 1 tournament, but Coach Barbara Webster feels the First Ladies (12-6 regular season and 15-7 overall) might have done even better.

"We made too many mental errors, or maybe it was a lack of concentration," she said. "We could make the hard plays and boot the easy ones. We didn't have enough hitting, we just did not hit in crucial situations and left too many people on base. Naturally, it was a very good year, but there will always be that question -- did we really do our very best, or could we have given it a little bit more?"

"I don't think we were lucky to beat Brockton and Weymouth South in the tournament. We were good enough to do it and should have been that good in every game. But, it was an excellent season and this was one of the nicest groups of kids I have ever worked with."

Kathy Thornton was a workhorse on the mound and won all but one game, finishing at 14-6. She was steady and poised and nothing bothered her. She was an excellent fielding pitcher with a .960 fielding average.

Chris Cuccinattia, a steady third baseman, was one of the Suburban League's top hitters with a .356 average, an excellent defensive player with a .958 fielding average and one of the top base stealers with 10. She also had 22 RBI.

Catcher Andrea Griffin got better in every game and her .442 batting average was one of the best in the league. She drove in 12 runs and threw out six runners.

Although Beth Veneto, one of the league's top batters last year, was a little disappointing at the plate this year, she played excellent shortstop and stole 16 bases.

Left fielder Debbie Herron also improved in every game and made some outstanding catches during the tournament.

Second baseman Colleen Phillips fielded well and came through with several timely hits in the tournament. She drove in all three runs against Brockton and hit .444 in the tournament. Losing her against Dedham in the semifinals (2-1 loss) hurt the First Ladies' chances.

Patty Leonard was always there when called upon, even though she lost her starting job to sophomore Terry Duggan. She never missed a game and, according to Miss Webster, was as important as anyone on the team.

Quincy Team Edged For S.S. Soccer Title

The Quincy Earthquakes of the Quincy Youth Soccer League won its section of Div. II, boys under 12, in the South Shore League.

The Earthquakes came within a goal of winning the league championship.

The Earthquakes finished with a 7-0-2 record, identical to Holbrook, forcing a playoff game last Thursday.

Quincy won, 3-0, with

Derek Mooter scoring the first goal, assisted by Bernie Sharpe. Mooter scored the second, with Chris Cunio assisting, and Matt Flynn scored the third goal with Mooter getting the assist.

David Cedrone was outstanding in goal and Paul Kearns, Chris Hill, Chris Greene, Kevin Keane, Vin Bettes, Tom Polvere and Billy Kazakis all played well.

This set the stage for last Sunday's game with the other sectional winner, Weymouth, which won, 6-3, in double overtime.

Quincy trailed, 3-1, midway through the second half but rallied to tie the score at 3-3, with Mooter scoring all the goals. Two were unassisted and Bernie Sharpe assisted on the other.

Mike Wood, Brian Fitzgerald and Joe Ciralo all played well and Hill sparkled in goal, making many outstanding saves.

North Soccer Team Finishes Undefeated

The North Quincy Youth Soccer Club's under-14 team finished unbeaten (10-0) when it defeated Foxboro, 7-0.

The Under-16 team finished its season with a 6-2-2 mark, following a 2-2 tie with Needham.

Both North teams will play in a tournament in Montreal over the weekend.

Mike Hughes had two goals to lead the under-14 team, while John Pierce, Mark Pierce, Jamie Greene, Billy Monteith and Scott MacDougall had one each. Monteith had two assists and Greene, Jeff Freeman and Jimmy Gammell one each.

Chris Meyers had both goals for the under-16 team and Steve Wildes and Terry McKinnon had assists.

Tozzi also introduced assistant coach John Furey, new boys' coach Jack Bowen, Quincy Track Club Coach Jeff Hennessy, former North great Paul "Doc" Doherty, Michell Milane, a former North Quincy standout now starring at Northeastern University, the tri-captains of the boys' track team, Scott Coyne, Tom Wildes and Colin Powers, and Quincy Recreation Director Barry Welch.

Doyle, one of New England's top runners and a coach at Swampscott High, spoke and showed films of last year's Olympics.

Tozzi gave his annual slide show, showing many candid shots of North trackmen in practice and in meets.

He paid tribute to the girls for their fund-raising efforts and singled out the top raiser ($245), Tricia Leary, who received a pair of Nike running shoes; Teresa Collings, Tricia Barrett, Leanne Fitzgerald and Maureen Furey.

Principal Chrisom spoke briefly, paying tribute to the athletes and accepted the Div. I state cross country championship trophy and the Class A state winter track championship trophy for the school's trophy room.

"I wish there could be closer ties between the football players and the boys' track teams, as there were in past years," he said. "This would keep the football players in shape and would improve the track teams considerably."

Tricia Barrett was named the Most Valuable Player in cross country and Meg Leary received the coaches award.

Lisa Fitzgerald was the winner of the coaches award in spring track and Missy Silkwood and Leanne Fitzgerald were the unsung heroes.

In presenting the cross-country letters and other awards, Tozzi paid tribute to the team, the youngest he has had, with six of the top seven runners underclassmen. They had another fantastic year, winning the Suburban League title unbeaten for the third straight year, running their unbeaten record to 32 straight meets, winning the league championship meet for the third year in a row, capturing the Eastern Mass. crown for the fifth straight year, and also winning the Falmouth Invitational Meet. They also won the Manhattan College Interscholastic meet in New York.

The winter track team missed out on another league title, but won its fifth straight state championship.

Scholarships were awarded to Lisa Fitzgerald and Meg Leary.

Suburban League all-star certificates went to Leary, Noreen Connolly, Lisa Fitzgerald, Traficante, Tricia Barrett and Leanne Fitzgerald.

Missy Silkwood won the annual Grossman Foundation Award.

Each of the coaches received gifts and the girls presented a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Tozzi.

Tozzi presented a special gift of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leary for their continued support of the girls' teams.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Seminars Help Bartenders Prevent Alcohol Abuse

By DAN CONNELLY

With everyone talking about alcohol abuse these days, the Quincy on Premise Beverage Association decided to do something about it by providing seminars to help area bartenders deal with intoxicated patrons.

A third seminar is being planned for 9 a.m. June 26 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Among those expected to attend are Terrance Schiavone, state office of Highway Safety and Theodore DeCristofaro, Ward 2 Councillor.

Joe Hajjar, proprietor of Joe's Pub (across from General Dynamics main gate) is president and leading force behind the association which is the first of its kind in Massachusetts and is now three years old.

The association sponsors the seminars called: Training for Intervention Procedures by Servers of Alcohol-TIPS-which is a nationwide program designed to train the servers of alcohol on how to prevent alcohol abuse in bars, restaurants, lounges and clubs.

Through the use of written materials, video tapes and "role playing," bartenders, waitresses and other employees learn:

- Important information on the effects of alcohol.

- How to identify potentially troublesome drinkers or situations before they become a problem.

- How to deal with intoxicated customers, or those who appear to be on the verge of over indulging, without creating a scene.

The program was developed by Dr. Morris E. Chafetz of the Health Education Foundation in Washington D.C., which administers the TIPS program.

Anheuser-Busch became involved in the program and provides qualified instructors at reduced, nominal cost.

The Quincy Association's

first seminar was at Quincy Neighborhood Club, a back-to-back one held May 14 and 15.

Those observing included Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Police Chief Francis Finn, Robert Miller, Liquor Inspector; and Councillor Patricia Toland.

Sixteen businesses represented at the seminar by some 49 men and women were:

Aquarius, Conway & Nally, Finian's, Fowler House Cafe, Granite Rail, The Hollow, Irish Pub, Joe's Pub, Kane's Place, Manet Lunch, Neighborhood Club, North American Restaurant and Tavern, Alliance, Pete's Grill, Riley and Rielly Insurance Agency, Villa Rosa, and Washington Tap.

Hajjar emphasized that the seminar training program will reduce the chances that one of your servers will put you into a legal jeopardy by selling alcoholic beverages to intoxicated customers.

Sheridan Campaign Dance Attracts Over 200

The Committee to Elect Richard T. Sheridan, Jr., candidate for the Ward Six City Council seat, hosted a "Campaign Kick-Off Dance" Friday evening at the Squantum Yacht Club.

Over 200 supporters were entertained by a display of fireworks over Boston's skyline.

Speaking before his supporters, Sheridan said, "I am extremely delighted and encouraged by the response my candidacy has received throughout the ward."

"I have a commitment to this ward and city. Through strong leadership, sound planning, goal orientated objectives and your commitment, we as a team can achieve positive results."

Sheridan also stated, "Should it be decided that Long Island will house the proposed sewage facility, we shall unite in protest against the disruptive effect our ward will face, as was done in the early 1960s to defeat the Point Squanto Development."

Sheridan also mentioned that "We should be receptive toward alternative plans which would relieve our streets of congestion, however, such plans should be well thought out and should contain community input during the planning stages."

Regarding future development, Sheridan said,

"The idea of a temporary moratorium on development would only hamper Quincy's economy and have a negative effect on residential and business tax bases."

Those attending included Sen. Paul Harold, State Rep. Michael Morrissey, Councillor-at-Large Patricia Toland and Joseph LaRaia and candidate for Councillor-at-Large Ron Iacobucci.

Sheridan will continue to campaign throughout the ward.

Over 1,000 In Koch Flag Day Parade

There was a colorful sea of red, white and blue down Hancock St., Quincy, as the Koch Club's 34th annual Flag Day parade commemorated the significance of Flag Day and Quincy youth's salute to Old Glory.

Headed by Fire and Police Department color guards, the parade stepped off promptly at 6:15 p.m., followed by a new fire engine and over 1,000 boys and girls carrying small American flags and marching to Memorial Stadium.

The Quincy High School Presidents provided music and color guards from the Bryan Post, VFW and the Vietnam Combined Combat Veterans, Quincy's newest veterans group, were at the head of the units.

Prominent in the parade were contingents of Boy and Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls marching in honor of the 75th anniversary of Scouting in America.

The second division was headed by the Quincy Track Club followed by the Quincy Soccer League and St. Ann's Baseball League.

The sponsoring Koch Club Boys Basketball and Girls Softball Leagues wore their traditional hats and T-shirts and composed the third division with units from North Quincy, Broadmeadows, Montclair and West Quincy.

Along the parade route wreaths were laid on the tombs of John Adams, John Quincy Adams and Abigail Adams at the First Parish Church, and in the foyer of the John F. Kennedy Health Center, in memory of the late president.

One of the highlights of the parade was the unfurling of the new "Liberty Flag" by the Quincy City Club Flag Detail. This banner was designed to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the dedication of the Statue of Liberty in 1866.

Upon arrival at the Memorial Stadium, and after all units had taken places in the stands the Flag Day program got underway with an invocation by the Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

An American flag that once flew over the Nation's capitol building and which had been presented to the Koch Club by the late Congressman James A. Burke in the 1976 Bicentennial year, was raised to the top of the stadium flagpole by members of Bryan Post, VFW.

City Council President James Sheets was in the line of march as were councillors Michael Cheney, Theodore DeCristofaro, Patricia Toland, Richard J. Koch and Joanne Condon.

Anthony Delmonico,

chairman of the Koch Club scholarship committee was assisted by Howard F. Crowley and David J. Donaghue in presenting scholarship checks to Stephen E. Magee and Theresa McLoughlin of Quincy High School; Christos J. Pappas and Geraldine Murphy of North Quincy High School, and Peter McNeil and Patricia Lindblom from Quincy Vot-Tech High School.

Guest speaker was Chaplain (Major) Rev. Patrick J. Nicholson, U.S. Air Force, who told the assembly they should feel proud for taking the time to honor Our Flag and the freedom it represents.

James Moody, Mina Scanlan and Mr. and Mrs. George Jakub were recognized at the stadium as long time Koch Club members who participated in the Senior Olympics.

Park, Recreation Board Reaffirms Its Lease

The Quincy Park and Recreation Board unanimously approved a motion to reaffirm the lease consummated by the Department of the Interior and the City of Quincy in 1979 to use the 6.6 acre park and recreation complex on Southern Artery for public park and recreation purposes.

The Council resolve concerning the possible lease of space at the location by the Vietnam Veterans group was forwarded to the Park Department for the Park and Recreation Board's consideration.

The City Council Veterans Service Committee has requested City Solicitor Dean Nidistro to interpret the lease between the city and the Department of the Interior and the stipulations of the same.

Richard J. Koch, Sr., executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments explained to the board that he attended the Council Veterans Service Committee at the request of Chairman Councillor Stephen J. McGrath and provided the chairman with the information concerning the buildings at the Park and Recreation Complex.

The Park and Recreation Board unanimously endorsed the action of the City Council Veterans Service Committee's Resolve 271 to fly the POW-MIA Flag over selected sites in Quincy on Veterans Day.

Action on Council resolve was tabled by the Park and Recreation Board pending a legal decision by the City Solicitor's Office concerning the naming of the roadway that leads into Pageant Field, Vietnam Veterans Drive.

LaBrecque Field Memorial Asked For Charles Peter

The City Council passed a resolve Monday night that the Park and Recreation Board look into the feasibility of naming the basketball courts at LaBrecque Field in honor of the late Charles "Chris" Peter.

The resolve, introduced by Ward 1 Councillor Michael T. Cheney, states that Mr. Peter, a lifelong resident of Houghs Neck, was the victim of an automobile accident Sept. 14, 1984.

"Chris Peter touched the lives of many people in our community in a positive and everlasting way...he was known to all as a cheerful, energetic, youthful, loving and caring person...he spent many of his afternoons with his friends at the basketball courts located at LaBrecque Field," stated the resolve.

Cheney said that a petition with 250 signatures was submitted along with the resolve.

A memorial bloodmobile for the son of Trudy and Charles Peter will be held on his birthday, July 16, 2 to 7 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., added Cheney.

The king of New England seafood. Don't let it get away. Put on a bib. Have a few steamers. Some clam chowder. Pick every little bit of shell with care. Dip it in the butter. Ummmmmm! Sweet! You can also have your lobster baked and stuffed, fried, scuted, cold in a salad. You'll agree. There is just no seafood restaurant quite like

WEEK OF: JUNE 20

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Speaking out on a pet cause wins you the admiration of people you admire yourself. Energy level is high. Family plans become more complicated by the day.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Loved ones are inconsistent in the way they react to the varied events of the week. Contests are spotlighted. Friendly new faces may appear in the neighborhood.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Family member is surprisingly touchy but responds to your commonsense approach. Hunches are strong but don't rely on them exclusively, especially in financial situations.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Routine jobs are anything but routine in a week that finds you expecting the unexpected. Willpower is strong and this is a good period for embarking on a fitness program.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Potential for career success is high, but watch that you don't overextend yourself. Relationships are improving, but let them take a natural course and don't leap to conclusions.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Financial impressions may not be as reliable as you think. Loved one tends to overemphasize and exaggerate. Modest financial gains are favored during or after the weekend.

LEO - July 23-August 22
New assignment may be more complex than first thought; proceed with caution. You and family member find surprisingly similarities, leading to a much improved relationship.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
New assignments or new roles are spotlighted through this period, and an award or honor may come your way by Wednesday. In romance, act equally from the head and the heart.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Libra one may overreact to your announcement or plans, and a highup may challenge your ideas. Still, the week offers opportunities for professional advancement and improved relationships.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
You find yourself in an influential position, able to make some far-reaching decisions. One time admirer may approach you for a favor. Travel may include some mixups.

Shopping with friends can be an expensive affair; generally, you accomplish more through solo activities. Avoid dwelling on past feuds. Romance partner is much more considerate.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Recognition comes your way after a long wait and modest financial gains offset a recent setback. In family matters, stop dwelling on ancient history and plan positively for the future.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're famed for changing your mind, a trait that can have some positive results in the coming year. The key is to be flexible without being flighty. Though some say you live in the past, the coming months are for modernizing and updating your skills.

Board Grants 5 Licenses For Squantum Events

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to grant five of the six licenses requested by the Edmund Fitzgerald, 542 East Squantum St., for special events which start Friday.

Four of the licenses granted were for beer and wine, the fifth was an all alcoholic license. All of the licenses requested are for special events to be held in a private tent at Marina Bay in Squantum.

A sixth request for a beer and wine license for Marina Bay Festival, scheduled to be Sunday, Sept. 1, was placed on hold by the board until the Edmund Fitzgerald has its plans developed enough for the board to approve them, said Fire Chief Edward Barry.

"The noise from the bands at last year's festival was so loud it shook the plates in the neighbor's houses," said City Clerk John Gillis. "We're going to hold off on granting a license to the festival until we get more information."

James J. Wells, General Manager of Barrett Family Restaurants which operates the Edmund Fitzgerald, said the all alcoholic license will be used Friday, June 21, 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. for the grand opening of Marina Bay Village. Approximately 250 invited guests will attend the event.

He said the beer and wine licenses will be used for the following events:

Marina Bay 100, Saturday, June 29. This will be the 2nd annual Marina Bay 100 boat race.

Dinghy Day at Marina Bay, Sunday, August 4. Dinghy Day will include a party for people who own boats under 11 feet in length, excluding sailboats and motorboats.

Boston Harbor Treasure Hunt, Saturday, August 17, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Participants will be given a list of 100 questions after which they will take their boats into Boston Harbor to find the answers. The license will be used for an awards ceremony.

Sea Way Blue Fishing, Sunday, August 25. This is a two day event, but the license was requested for an awards ceremony on the second day.

THE NEW coastal ship Newport Clipper.

Luxury Yacht Cruises Start At Marina Bay

The Clipper Cruise Line's Newport Clipper is using Marina Bay in Squantum as the turnaround port for its vacation cruise through New England waters this summer.

The ship provides luxurious facilities and excellent personalized service for some 100 passengers who board her each Sunday morning for a seven day cruise through Cape Cod Canal, and travel to Nantucket Island.

Cruising back to the mainland, passengers spend time in New Bedford, in the heart of the old whaling territory.

The Newport Clipper then proceeds to Newport, R.I., the summer resort of many illustrious families.

Passengers then cruise to Martha's Vineyard, where there's plenty of time to take in its beaches.

The return portion of the voyage takes them to historic Plymouth, followed by the captain's farewell cocktail party.

The final leg of the cruise returns passengers to Quincy.

GD Task Force Backs Ship Contract Efforts

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A Blue Ribbon Task Force on General Dynamics held its first meeting at City Hall last week, and those attending agreed to make their first priority helping the shipyard secure contracts.

"People want to put on the back burner alternative uses of the shipyard until we know what's going on," said City Councillor Patricia Toland.

Mrs. Toland suggested formation of the task force after announcement by General Dynamics of impending layoffs of workers. The task force is a joint effort of the City Council and Mayor Francis McCauley.

Letters endorsing the efforts of the shipyard to obtain contracts will be sent to Navy Secretary John Lehman and to General Dynamics, after motions by Charles Pearce, chairman of the board of Quincy Savings Bank, and Planning Director James Lydon.

The meeting began with many of the 20 people attending questioning whether a meeting of the Blue Ribbon Task Force on possible alternative uses of the Quincy shipyard was not only premature, but possibly undermining the efforts to obtain contracts.

The group agreed to refer to itself in the two letters as simply the Blue Ribbon Task Force on General Dynamics.

Larry Chretien of Rep. Thomas Brownell's office said that a bill in the Senate would provide for a study to determine the feasibility of maintaining the economic viability and employment of the Fore River Shipyard.

Lydon, who noted that the shipyard is private property, suggested that "the best thing we could be doing is saying to General Dynamics 'what can we do to help you get contracts?'"

Joseph Rowan of Congressman Brian Donnelly's office said that the shipyard should learn before the end of July whether it will receive two major contracts.

Weymouth Selectman

Peg Goudy suggested that there be interaction between Quincy and other towns regarding General Dynamics.

Joseph Hajjar, proprietor of Joe's Pub & Grub, 132 East Howard St., Quincy, suggested the task force talk with management of General Dynamics and determine if the company is making a commitment to stay.

"If they do," said Hajjar, "everyone in the room will be behind them."

"The company wants to stay," said Dick Piccuito, president of the shipworker's union Local 5, who supported sending the two letters of endorsement.

Elizabeth Sherman of the South Shore Conversion Committee said that government policy is the bottom line with regard to the shipyard.

The task force will invite Gary Grimes, vice president-general manager of General Dynamics to its next meeting in about five weeks.

Quincy Housing Authority To Receive $139,682

State Secretary of Communities and Development Amy S. Anthony announces the award of $139,682 to the Quincy Housing Authority to fund supportive services programs for the authority's residences.

The award will enable the authority to continue its youth employment program, as well as the outreach, recruitment, and client advocacy programs provided through the South Coastal Career Development Agency.

In addition, the QHA will initiate an elder services program by hiring an elder services coordinator who will facilitate the delivery of homemaker, medical and other services to residents.

The EOCD grant is one of 29 awards made to local housing authorities for education, job training, and support services for public housing residents throughout the state.

Supportive Service awards, totalling over $5 million, are expected to serve over 7,000 public housing tenants during the next fiscal year.

"This program takes an important step towards improving the quality of life in public housing, as well as providing a means out of the cycle of poverty so often experienced by low-income citizens," said Secretary Anthony. "Many public housing residents have difficulty breaking out of the cycle due to a lack of marketable skills, limited work experience or the lack of adequate support services such as child care."

Quincy Bar Clambake

PRAYER to the HOLY SPIRIT:
O Holy Spirit. You who enlightens me, who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with You to thank You for everything and to confirm once again my wish to never be separated from You, even in spite of all material distractions. I desire to be with You in eternal glory. Thank you for all your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession, after the three days, favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then published with instructions as soon as possible, with your initials

McCauley Drops Proposal For Health Board

Mayor Francis McCauley planned to submit to the City Council Wednesday a home rule petition dropping the idea of a health board as well as the requirement of an M.D. degree for Quincy's Health Commissioner.

McCauley had earlier submitted a home rule petition to establish an unpaid, five member Board of Health and a Health Commissioner appointed by the Mayor for three years.

But the council last week added two amendments, introduced by City Councilor Joanne Condon, which specified that members of the board of health and the health commissioner be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the City Council.

A third amendment, also introduced by Condon, deleted the specification of members of the board of health as special municipal employees.

"The council made so many amendments that it (the home rule petition) is not palatable," said McCauley, who balked at City Council input on appointments to health commissioner or the board of health.

In the new home rule petition, requirements for health commissioner are a master's degree in public health, with at least two years full-time experience in a responsible position in public health service.

The commissioner, who will work full-time at the position, would be appointed by the mayor for three years.

The initial appointment would expire the first Monday of February, 1988.

The salary would be determined by the City Council.

"We don't necessarily need a medical doctor," said McCauley, who explained that, years ago, a person in such a position would have to deal with communicable diseases, many of which are now under control.

"It's a different type of job now," said McCauley, who gave as an example the supervising of the Health Department's employees.

"We've already got several applications," said McCauley, "we've eliminated a real big stumbling block."

The city has been trying to fill the health commissioner's position since last January after the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey, McCauley said.

A major problem was getting a doctor to give up his or her practice for a salary of slightly over $40,000, said the mayor.

If the council approves

Court Hearing Still On Nurses 'Sick Out' Appears Over At Hospital

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Things were back to normal at Quincy City Hospital Tuesday afternoon after nurses returned to their jobs following what the hospital has considered a "sick out" since last Friday.

But as of press time Tuesday, a hearing was still scheduled to take place today (Thursday) at Norfolk County Superior Court to determine whether 100 nurses at the hospital had violated a court order issued Friday barring them from conducting a sick out.

According to hospital spokesman William Henderson, the normal complement of nurses arrived for their 3:30 to 11:30 p.m. shifts Tuesday following the resumption of contract negotiations about 2 p.m.

Talks had ended last Thursday.

Negotiations have been in progress since April on the nurses' two-year contract which expires Sunday, June 30.

Salaries and the amount of time nurses receive for vacations, holidays and illness are among the obstacles to a settlement, according to Mary Finnin of the Massachusetts Nurses Association which represents the hospital's 355 registered nurses.

Finnin denied that the union knew about or condoned an organized sickout.

As many as four to five times the normal number of nurses had called in sick since the last negotiating session, according to David Grunebaum, an attorney for the hospital.

Nurses are forbidden from engaging in concerted work stoppages according to a clause in the current contract.

"Patient care was continuous throughout the whole sick out," said Henderson, who explained that nurses were asked to work double shifts or to work on their days off.

Supervisory personnel as well as agency nurses were also utilized, Henderson said.

"The only effect was Friday morning when a few elective surgeries had to be postponed until Monday," said Henderson.

Dukakis Won't Tour Long Island

Gov. Michael Dukakis has declined the city's offer to tour Long Island which Quincy and other South Shore communities hope will be ruled out as a site for a sewerage treatment plant.

That decision is due about July 10, sources said.

Dukakis stated in a letter received by Mayor Francis McCauley Monday that "I think it would be better if I did not tour either potential site (Long Island or Deer Island)."

"The decision rests with the Mass. Water Resources Authority, and I will support the board's decision."

Dukakis stated that Secretary of Environmental Affairs Jamie Hoyte, M.W.R.A. board chairman, has kept him updated on the situation, but that he thought it was important that he, as governor, not get involved.

Dukakis was invited to tour the island by McCauley, who stated, "I believe that it is imperative that you see for yourself why the placing of a sewerage treatment plant on Long Island would cause a thing of beauty to be destroyed."

The suggestion of a tour came from City Councilor Michael Cheney during a City Hall meeting called by the mayor to gather regional opposition to Long Island, as well as Nut Island, as the Four more candidates have taken out nomination papers for the preliminary city election Sept. 10.

The candidates are James Sheets, 926 Furnace Brook Parkway, Ward 4 (incum-

Gasoline Storage For Motorcycles Approved

By LINDA WILKINS

The License Board has granted a request from Albert M. Zero for storage of 50 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of approximately six motorcycles.

The board also granted Zero's request to transfer motor repair and full storage licenses from his name to A-Z's Repair Service, Inc., 471 Hancock St. Rear.

"Mr. Zero is simply changing his business from a single proprietorship to a corporate structure. He is incorporating for normal business reasons," said Atty. Dennis Harrington, who represented Zero.

Harrington said notice was given to A-Z's Repair Service, Inc.'s neighbors concerning the storage license.

Two of those neighbors, residents of Hancock St., were present at the meeting to voice their concerns about noise from the motorcycles.

They said noise from the motorcycles going up and down their street "is a disgrace," especially on Saturdays and Sundays. They also said, however, that they were not sure if the motorcycles they referred to were from Zero's shop or motorcyclists riding by.

"The noise I think they're talking about is from Harley-Davidson bikes.

They're very noisy bikes. The ones I work on are Japanese bikes and they're very quiet. I don't even service Harley-Davidsons," said Zero.

Zero added that his shop is not open on Sundays.

"The plan is to use a rear lower level garage that has access from the rear of 471 Hancock St. for storage of maybe six motorcycles, which means about 50 gallons of gasoline. The reason for this storage is so tanks don't have to be drained and refilled," said Atty. Harrington. "He's been at this location for a number of years without a complaint from abutters."

The license for storage of 50 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of motorcycles was granted with the restrictions that testing of the motorcycles be conducted between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., the cycle's mufflers be baffled to restrict noise. Final approval will be given after the building inspector checks for egress.

$810,000 Grant To Retrain 300 At GD

General Dynamics Emergency Assistance Center in Braintree is $810,000 richer thanks to the state executive office of economic affairs who funded the money to retrain about 300 Quincy shipyard workers.

Secretary of Economic Affairs Evelyn F. Murphy and Secretary of Labor Paul J. Eustace made the announcement at the General Dynamics job placement center at 10 Forbes St., Braintree.

The newly announced state grant will provide enough money to retrain about 300 Quincy shipyard workers—about 10 percent of those being laid off—for new jobs.

But the state is committed to helping "absolutely every one" of the nearly 3000 employees being laid off from General Dynamics, Murphy said.

Murphy added: "This is the single largest program we have funded in our two years of helping dislocated workers. Our goal is to provide services to the already laid off workers and to those who will be laid off in the coming months. The state funds will complement the job placement activities by the General Dynamics company. We will be providing training, educational and counseling support services."

Secretary Eustace said: "I would like to congratulate the unions and the company for their terrific cooperation. Not only has this been one of the largest programs we have operated to date; it is also one of the best in terms of the company, the union and the local officials working together to create a program we believe is flexible and responsive to the needs of all the workers."

The grant will also pay the salaries of four state Division of Employment Security employees assigned to the Braintree center and the salaries of three union members also on staff at the center.

Demand Reagan Act JDL Members Demonstrate Against Hijacking

By NANCY
McLAUGHLIN

Seventeen members of the Jewish Defense League of Boston demonstrated peacefully in front of the Islamic Center of New England, in Quincy Point Monday night and burned in effigy the Ayatollah Khomeini.

The demonstrators, reacting to the hijacking of TWA Flight 847 June 14, called for President Ronald Reagan to declare war against Lebanon and Syria. "It's time that Ronald Reagan wages war and fights back," said Ken Sidman, 34, head of the Boston JDL. "We've got Jimmy Carter in an actor's uniform."

"There is a time for peace and a time for war. This is the time for war."

Calling Reagan a "do nothing president," Sidman charged the president to "lead us or leave us."

Sidman said his group chose the Islamic Center at 470 South St. as a protest site because members had heard that the mosque sympathized with the hijackers.

No representative of the Islamic Center spoke at the demonstration, but a statement was issued which read, in part:

"In regards to the incident of the hijacking of TWA Flight 847 on June 14, 1985, we do not condone violence and sympathize with the families of those who have been illegally held hostage. We hope that all hostages and detainees will return to their countries and families in a peaceful manner."

"The Islamic Center is not involved in local or national politics. Its main function is educational and cultural activities for the Muslim children and adults. It takes no political stands on national or international issues."

Before Khomeini was burned in effigy, pickets carrying small American flags demonstrated in front of the Islamic Center shouting such things as "No rights for Shiites" and "Release Our People Now". Police Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives, estimated the crowd at 50 to 60, including about 27 police officers and detectives.

There were no arrests made. The picketers were there for about an hour.

Robert H. Kittrell, executive director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Northeast Region, said, "I can understand their (the J.D.L.'s) frustration."

"But to make the statement by demonstration or verbally that all Moslems are 'bad Moslems', and somehow culpable with the terrorists in Lebanon is disgusting, inappropriate and damaging to goodwill. "It also severely retards any sustained efforts at conciliation and peace."

"The J.D.L.'s actions would lead the public to believe that the congregation at the Quincy Mosque are Shiites and therefore in sympathy with the current act of terrorism in the Middle East that has all of us so concerned."

"The reality is they are Sunni Moslems, as are over 90% of all Moslems worldwide, and they are as dedicated to peace and harmony as the rest of us claim to be."

"These people in Quincy are not part of the Ayatollah Khomeini's brand of Islam, and for the J.D.L. or anyone else to so charge or condemn them is itself an act of terrorism."

McCauley To Name Acting Fire Chief

Mayor Francis McCauley says he will appoint an acting fire chief to serve after the retirement of Chief Edward Barry Aug. 2.

"I'll have to review the situation," said McCauley, who noted that a new Civil Service list is not yet available.

Deputy Chief Carl Valenti topped the list for the first part of a Civil Service exam for chief, followed by Deputy Chief Joseph Jackson.

The second part of the exam is scheduled for July 20 at 9:30 a.m. at Boston Latin School.

"It's a four-hour exam on a complex fire problem," said Valenti, who noted that it could take four to six months for the results to be released.

Valenti said he would accept the position of chief if he were offered to him.

IF IT COSTS YOU $24 A YEAR FOR A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX, WHAT WILL IT COST YOU
FOR NO SAFE DEPOSIT BOX?

Sadly, it could be much, much more.

Because even with insurance, the permanent loss of an heirloom or a personal treasure can be greater than the cost of a dozen safe deposit boxes.

Right now, there are plenty of secure, convenient and very affordable safe deposit boxes available at South Shore Bank. Depending upon availability, you can choose from thirteen different sizes.

The small yearly fee for renting one is well worth the peace of mind it brings. And even the biggest, most expensive box is a bargain when it saves your possessions from fire or theft.

Access to your valuables is uncomplicated and unlimited during banking hours too. Just ask any South Shore Bank officer to show you the vault area.

Countries Should Unite To Combat Terrorism

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
International terrorism has to be handled on an international basis and all the countries of the world should band together to find necessary measures to combat terrorism which knows no national borders.
It cannot be left to a few countries, mainly the United States to handle the problem.

Terror must be addressed at the United Nations and in every capital of every civilized nation.
When one country is held hostage to terrorists, then all nations are equally held captive. When one person is held prisoner, then every person in the world is a prisoner.

Airport security around the world must be tightened, and any nation which won't take these necessary precautions, should be boycotted. International pressure must be used as a weapon in this war on terrorism.

The civilized nations of the world must stand up to terrorism because if they don't, terrorists will rule the world. The United States must also send a message that we will not allow ourselves to be continually victimized by terrorists. If we don't challenge terrorists abroad, we will surely find them at home.

Terrorism can be beaten by unified support from the nations of the world.

City Taxes Due

Fiscal year 1985 ends
June 30 and Mayor Francis McCauley is urging residents to pay their taxes.
All city residents who owe outstanding real estate and personal property taxes as well as water bills and automobile and boat excise taxes are asked to pay these bills on or before Friday,

June 28.

All monies received on or before Friday will be credited to fiscal 1985 and will help ensure that the city will finish the fiscal year in the black, the mayor said.

1986 Budget

The 1986 Budget process is drawing to a conclusion with the formation of a conference committee to iron out differences between the House and Senate versions of the budget, both branches of the legislature having submitted their budgetary requests for this session.

The House of Representatives submitted a $8.796 billion budget request with the Senate requesting slightly less, $8.792 billion.
Although similar in amount, they address different needs in the Commonwealth. The House of Representatives has proposed a state takeover of county jails and houses of correction which will result in significant new local aid, modest increases in human services and a good sized down payment on the unfunded pension liability, a liability that could cause fiscal nightmares if not addressed.

The Senate on the other hand has made the unfunded pension liability a priority, as well as the deteriorating system of institutional care and widely underestimated "local mandate" provisions of proposition 2½ and reductions in federal support.

Both budgets reflect a sincere effort by the legislature to address the needs of the Commonwealth.
The conference committee is charged with the difficult task of working out a compromise between the House and the Senate. Each line item that is in dispute between the branches will be reviewed and compromised in an effort to reach a fiscal solution for the July 1st deadline. The new version is then represented to both branches for their approval after which it then goes to the Governor's desk for his signature.

Little Council Action

It would seem that not many boys and girls want to grow up to be a ward councillor.

Here it is only 35 days before the Aug. 2 deadline for taking out nomination papers and the only real hot race is in Ward 6 where there is an open seat.

Only one other contest looms so far in the other five wards and that's Ward 3 where Howard MacKay of Ardell St., North Quincy, has taken out papers to challenge incumbent John Lydon.

But, the other four wards at this writing are like a political Sleepy Hollow.

No other challengers have stepped forward. And none seem to be waiting in the wings.

Which means four incumbents, Michael Cheney
(Ward 1), Ted DeCristofaro (Ward 2), James Sheets (Ward 4) and Steve McGrath (Ward 5) will have free rides to re-election unless there's a surprise or two somewhere in the works.

THE CITY COUNCIL at-large race at the moment reminds you of a movie you've already seen.

It's the same cast: Incumbents Richard Koch, Joseph LaRaia and Patricia Toland and lone challenger Ron Iacobucci.

Whether or not it has a different ending then it had first time around in 1983 remains to be seen.

Right now, it's hardly a political thriller to make voters line up at the voting booths.

MEANWHILE, back in Ward 6 it is now a four-man race for the seat being vacated by Joanne Condon to run for mayor.

It may yet get to be a four-man, one-woman contest.
School Committeewoman Mary Collins is still considering making a bid for the Ward 6 seat instead of seeking re-election to the school board.

"I'm still giving it some thought," she says.

The four male contenders for the seat are Thomas Koch, Thomas Nutley, Richard Sheridan and John Walsh.

McCauley Drops Health Board Proposal

the new home rule petition, it would then be forwarded to the Legislature where McCauley said he sees no problem with its being approved.

The position would then be advertised in trade journals and other publications, he said.

"I don't think we'll see anyone on board (as health commissioner) earlier than the latter part of September," estimated Mc-Cauley.

The council was also to have before it Wednesday the first home rule petition in the amended form it requested that the city solicitor draft.

THE BEST ADVERTISING

QUESTION: Why can't I advertise my home as effectively as a Realtor? Advertising is advertising, right?
ANSWER: Do you want to ADVERTISE your home or do you want to SELL it?
Will your "For Sale By Owner" sign be seen by enough — or any — prospects? Newspaper advertising can become more costly and less effective than you think if done improperly.
You may be inundated with curiosity seekers.

The reason for advertising is to attract prospects who are ready, willing and able to buy. There's a more effective way. List it with a Realtor who already has prospects and may be able to sell it without advertising at all.

DO YOU WANT TO ADVERTISE your home

SENATOR Paul Harold had a timely visitor to Quincy the other day.

David Campbell-Bannerman and Harold met in England two years ago, and Harold told him if he ever got over here to look him up.

Campbell-Bannerman was in the U.S.A. on a around-the-world trip and called Harold.

His grandfather was prime minister of England after World War I.

His arrival here coincided with the 200th anniversary of the beginning of diplomatic relations between England and its former colony with John Adams the first ambassador.

IF YOU LIKE daylight savings time, you'll love
Alaska this time of year, says Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCAULEY

McCauley and his wife, Sandra, attended the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Anchorage last week.

"It's a long day there this time of year," he reports. "About 19 hours of daylight and twilight."

In winter it is the opposite. About 19 hours of darkness.

The McCauleys' found Alaska pretty, but "stark."
Appearing at the opening of Marina Bay Village in Quantum shortly after their return from Alaska, His Honor said:

"Alaska could use the O'Connell Brothers."

INCIDENTALLY, you might say McCauley has drawn first blood in this year's mayoral race.

He was bitten on the hand by a dog while campaigning door-to-door in Quincy Point.

He left his campaign literature there anyway.

A daughter was at home at the time. When the mother came home and found out what happened, she called McCauley to apologize and to assure him that he had nothing to worry about — the dog had had all his shots.

McCauley told her the bite wasn't bad and he didn't need attention.

"And, by the way," he added, "your dog doesn't have to worry, either. I've had all my shots, too."

site for the plant.

"I think we have presented a strong case (against Long Island or Nut Island as the facility site)," said McCauley, who explained that Quincy has been well-represented at meetings on the issue and letters have been sent to Dukakis by citizens and organizations.

"Paul Anderson (Quin-cy's Public Works Commissioner and a member of the MWRA board) has been working hard to convince the board members.

"If they go by the reports-it's open and shut.

"Deer Island would have the least problems."

McCauley also rejected the idea of placing Boston's jail on Long Island and the sewerage plant on Deer Island as outlined in a bill drafted last week by Joseph
M. Tierney, Boston's City Council president.

"A jail doesn't belong on Long Island either," said McCauley. "It should be preserved as a natural site."

Shipyard Workers Return After 22-Week Strike

Members of Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 began returning to their jobs at the Fore River Shipyard following a 22-week strike that was settled when a new three-year contract was signed covering eight East Coast yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co.

James McGonnigal, executive secretary of Local 5, predicted that between 1,500 and 2,000 workers would never return to the Fore River yard since they have obtained other jobs during the long walkout.

The shipbuilders received a 25 cents an hour increase in wages spread over three years and increased pension, insurance and sick pay benefits under the new contract. Strikers were given 10 days to return to their jobs.

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa said the strike cost the city of Quincy an estimated $255,969 in veterans and welfare benefits and police service, representing a $1.43 increase in a future tax rate.

SALARY BOOST AT HOSPITAL

The City Council authorized a $2,000 salary increase for Dr. John Fletcher to enable him to remain as assistant pathologist and director of medical education at Quincy City Hospital for $18,000 a year.

"No one man can constitute such an emergency," said McCormack.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

I was born on June 14th, 1977. I am more than just cloth shaped into a design. I am the refuge of the World's oppressed people. I am the silent sentinel of Freedom. I am the emblem of the greatest sovereign nation on the earth. I am the inspiration for which American Patriots gave their lives and fortunes. I have led your sons into battle from Valley Forge to the ridges of Viet Nam. I walk in silence with each of your Honored Dead, to their final resting place beneath the silent White Crosses, row upon row. I have flown through Peace and War, Strife and Prosperity, and midst it all I have been respected. . . My Red Stripes . . . symbolize the blood spilled in defense of this glorious nation. . . My White Stripes . . . signify the burning tears shed by Americans who lost their sons. . . My Blue Field . . . is indicative of God's heaven under which I fly. . . My Stars . . . clustered together, unify 50 States as one, for God and Country. . . "Old Glory" is my nickname, and proudly I wave on high. Honor me, respect men, defend me with your lives and fortunes. Never let my enemies tear me down from my lofty position, lest I never return. Worship Eternal God and keep His commandments and I shall remain the bulwark of peace and freedom for all mankind. . . I AM YOUR FLAG. . .

The fact that the aerial ladder on the ladder truck stationed at the Houghes Neck fire station is out of commission caused much concern.

"As a public servant I have always given public safety the high priority that it deserves," said Mrs. Condon. "The aerial ladder has been out of commission since April 25 with no replacement in sight. I think the people of Ward 1 deserve more consideration than that."

Condon will be campaigning in Ward 5 this week.

Contestants in the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant to be held Friday, July 19, will vie for over $1,000 in prizes.

Most of the prizes will go to the winner and the rest shared by the four runners-up.

Deadline for entering the pageant is Friday. There is no entry fee.

Entry forms are available at the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association office, 1416 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., and at member stores and businesses and at South Shore Yacht Club.

Talking With Young Children About Death

As adults we are familiar with the frequent questions of our children, those back-to-back "whys" of a child. Perhaps the toughest "why" to which we will ever have to respond is why someone has died. We have acquired a unique family-oriented brochure entitled, "Talking With Young Children About Death". It was produced under the direction of noted children's expert, Fred Rogers of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood. This acclaimed brochure is now part of our community resource collection.

Please feel free to call or drop by if you would like a complimentary copy.

Young People Lead Worship Service At Squantum First Church

Young people of the First Church of Squantum led the worship service at the church Sunday, June 23.

The service opened with a Call to Worship given by Marci Hurd. Bonnie MacRitchie led the opening prayer and greeted the congregation. The Scripture, taken from the fourth chapter of the Book of John, was read by Karin Reister. Andrew Ogilvie gave the Pastoral Prayer and Lori Ogilvie gave the Prayer of Dedication.

The sermon was divided into four sections and dealt with Worship. Susan Scott called worship "our public confession of the 'worthship of God'."

Sarah Mildram suggested to the congregation that the purpose of worship is "to give God glory and to change our lives."

Three of the elements of worship - prayer, singing, and offering - were discussed by Andrew Ogilvie.

Mindi Hurd spoke of the other two elements of worship: scripture and sermon.

Special music for the service was played by saxophonist John Chapman, who performed his arrangement of the hymn, "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling." Mr. Chapman also accompanied the hymns during the service.

Ushers for the morning were Mr. Tore Wallin and Mr. Stewart Scott.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, has taken several other young people of the church to a Christian camp in Oceanwood, Me., where they will be learning and enjoying Christian fellowship for the week.

There will be two services next Sunday, June 30. The first is a guitar service at 8:30 a.m.; the second will be the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

North Quincy Sidewalk Sale A 'Great Success'

By BOB BOSWORTH

The right ingredients combined last week to make the North Quincy Super Sidewalk Sale a great success.

In addition to the two days of warm, pleasant weather, there were clowns, pony rides, refreshments, bargain sales, and over $1,000 in prizes awarded to 43 lucky shoppers.

Carmella Corbin, president of the North Quincy Business and Professional Association said, "It was a great sale. Everyone had a good time during the two days."

"I want to thank all the customers and merchants in the North Quincy area who participated and made the sale a super success," she said.

Comparing it to the first sidewalk sale held last year, she said, "There weren't as many people but it was still super. We're (NOBPA) looking forward to the third annual super sidewalk sale next year."

The slightly smaller turnout was attributed to the ideal beach weather the Sidewalk Sale had to compete with.

Wollaston Drops 4th

Morrisette Runs Win Streak To 6

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team continues to roll merrily along in Zone 6 and Monday night defeated Dorchester, 8-0, to improve its record to 6-0.

Meanwhile, Wollaston, defending zone champion, saw its winless streak reach four as it lost to Randolph, 8-4, dropping its record to 1-4-1. Randolph, coached by former Quincy High player John Mariani, ran its Zone 6-B record to 6-0.

Morrisette will host Randolph Friday at 6 o'clock at Adams Field in one of the season's big games, and Wollaston will meet Mass. Truck at 8 in the second game of the doubleheader.

Monday night Morrisette will be at Canton and Wollaston at Carter Post, Dorchester, at 6, and Quincy will be home to Holbrook at 8 at Adams.

Tuesday Morrisette will host Mass. Truck at 6 and Wollaston will face Quincy at 8 at Adams.

Next Wednesday Morrisette will be home to Weymouth at 8 at Adams, and Wollaston will play at Canton and Quincy at Milton at 6.

John Christiani, making his first appearance after his B.C. High team completed its schoolboy tournament season, went the distance for Morrisette Monday, allowing only a bunt single in the third inning, striking out seven and walking four for Morrisette's first shutout.

"Everything is falling into place," said veteran coach Ray Cattaneo. "We have received outstanding pitching and hitting and our defense has been strong."

Morrisette scored three runs in the second when Chris Bunker collected the first of his three doubles, moved to third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch. Tom Connolly walked, Tom Ryan singled and Rich Brooks singled in the second run. Ryan scored on Christiani's sacrifice fly.

In the third Bunker doubled and scored on Denis Cronin's single. Morrisette added three in the fifth. Ryan walked, Christiani reached on an error, Mike Joyce singled in a run, Jack Bolster doubled in another and Bunker doubled in Bolster.

The defensive play of the game was turned in by Joyce in right field when he took a sinking fly ball at his knees going at full speed and doubled up the runner on first with a perfect throw.

Last Friday Morrisette came from behind in the last two innings to defeat Holbrook, 6-2. Cronin and Larry Taglieri shared the pitching with Taglieri picking up his third win.

Holbrook led, 2-1, after four innings but Morrisette scored three in the top of the fifth to go ahead to stay. With one out, Bunker and Cronin walked, moved up on an infield out and scored on Ryan's long triple to left. Ryan scored on a wild pitch. Morrisette added two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Morrisette was held to six hits, three by Ryan, Bolster, Bunker and Connolly had the others.

Morrisette, following a big win over defending state champion Braintree, came out flat against Weymouth but, after Weymouth had jumped on starter Jack Outerbridge for three runs in the first, Morrisette bounced back to win going away, 13-3, as Outerbridge and winner Joyce pitched shutout ball the rest of the way. Joyce pitched four scoreless innings, allowing one hit, one walk and struck out three. He also aided his own cause, going 2-for-2 including a run-producing double.

Morrisette scored a run in its half of the first when Bolster hit a long two-out triple and scored on Bunker's single. Four runs in the second clinched it. Walks to Outerbridge and Rich Brooks, an infield hit by Bob Hunter, an infield out, a wild pitch, an error and Cronin's single accounted for the runs.

Bolster continued his long ball hitting with a triple and double and an RBI. Bunker drove in two with a double and single and Hunter, starting his first game at second base, went 2-for-4 and played well in the field.

In its previous game Morrisette captured its biggest win, 4-2, over Braintree, sparked by the clutch hitting of Bolster and gutsy pitching by Taglieri, along with some excellent defense.

Morrisette had only six base runners and scored four runs, while Braintree put 15 runners on the bases and scored only two unearned runs. Three runners were knocked off the base paths and 10 were stranded.

Braintree scored first in the second inning when Rich Mazzola doubled.

Morrisette Runs Win Streak To 6

went to third on an error and scored on a balk when a hidden ball attempt backfired.

Morrisette, held without a base runner for three innings, went to work in the fourth as Ryan led off with a walk, Brooks singled and, with two outs, Paul Ratti singled up the middle for a run. Bolster hit a towering triple to center for the go-ahead run as Brooks and Ratti scored.

Braintree threatened in the fifth, sixth and seventh, but couldn't score as Taglieri met each challenge. Bolster then put the finishing touches on the game by clearing the left field fence. Braintree's 15-year-old Ted Novio pitched excellent ball, giving up four hits, striking out six and walking one. But he couldn't get the ball past Bolster.

Wollaston jumped off to a 3-0 first inning lead over Randolph in the first game of Monday's doubleheader, but Randolph tied it in the third and clinched the win with four runs in the fourth. Mike Malone started for Wollaston and pitched well until tiring in the fourth and gave way to Dave Zuroms.

After romping over Quincy in its opener, Wollaston was bombed by Braintree, tied Milton and lost in two extra innings to Dorchester before Monday's game.

Wollaston lost several outstanding players from last year's championship team, but has eight returnees, including Chris Rossi, one of the league's best catchers; pitcher John Comeau, infielder Steve Constas, outfielder-pitcher Steve Higgins, outfielder Bob Kozlowski, outfielder Greg McGlame, infielder Bob Pitts, and infielder Ken Runge.

Newcomers are infielder Steve Austin, outfielder Bob Kane, infielder Tom Logan, pitcher Malone, pitcher-outfielder Zuroms, outfielder Rich Nabstedt, outfielder Joel Rogers, pitcher Dan Santry, infielder Dave Tocchio and catcher Steve White.

The coaches are veteran Dick Travers, Kevin Cahill, Mike Gormley and Dave McMillen.

Meanwhile, Quincy continues to have rough sailing with a 0-4 record. The team is having its troubles scoring and the pitching has been weak.

After being shut out by Wollaston and Randolph (one hit for Quincy), the team scored its first run against Mass. Truck but lost, 10-1, with Jerry Arroyo having two of Quincy's three hits.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Mattson, DiBona Shine In Special Olympics

John Mattson, 15, of Quincy took first place in the freestyle crawl and the backstroke in the Massachusetts Special Olympics over the weekend at the Boston University pool.

Anthony DiBona, 16, of Quincy, took second place in the same two events in his age group.

More than 800 special athletes took part in the weekend activities at BU.

Mattson, a student at Little People's School in Newton, won the two events in the regional meet. He is now working on his diving technique.

His two coaches, Sandy Stover and Karen Koslowski, water safety instructors with the Quincy Recreation Department, volunteer their expertise to teach basics of competitive swimming to Mattson, DiBona and Lisa Lydon. Lydon did not compete in the finals.

"It is amazing how much John has improved," said his mother, who has watched John's strength, stroke and endurance improve steadily. "The coaches deserve a lot of credit. These kids are getting the individual attention they need."

Practicing since September, Mattson, DiBona and Lydon have progressed from just keeping afloat to performing the front crawl.

"All three could swim very little," coach Koslowski said. "We've worked on perfecting their strokes. They're very eager to learn, being early for every practice, and are so excited to go into the finals."

Although every competitor receives a participatory award, Stover and Koslowski's team, the Swimming Seals, isn't concerned about winning.

"Just going and having fun is a plus to them," said Koslowski, who credits the Quincy Recreation Department for its support of the swim program. "They've given us the pool facilities for a very special cause."

John Mattson, who attends the Happy Cares Summer Camp, belongs to a Boy Scout Troop and his leaders are the well-known twins, John and Buell Fuller, who for many years have been scoutmasters.

John is also a member of the Quincy Youth Soccer League's special needs team.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: JUNE 27

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Singles may find that a friendship is leading to romance, while attached Aquarians may decide the time is right for a romantic getaway. Group expenses should be reviewed by weekend.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Tendency to be pessimistic can be counterproductive, which is unfortunate in a week that highlights creativity and imagination. Platonic friends prove their loyalties. Travel mixes with education.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
The news you've been awaiting for much of the year finally arrives and may include a surprising announcement. If presenting your case, stress facts over emotion.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Tendency to be picky, loved ones count on your upbeat, generous nature. Week favors the launching of a personal alliance. New source of income is worth investigating.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Outspokenness may not win friends, but it does gain you admirers. Good week to improve physique, travel to new destinations, upgrade skills. Image is important after the weekend.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Travel may be extended although the budget remains the same. Moderation is all important, especially in areas of health and diet. Family feud comes to amicable end.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Pursue long-term goal with new determination. Variety is the spice of your life in a week that includes reconciliations, travel, cultural events and detective work.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Economic picture brightens but don't jump to too many conclusions. Friend becomes more logical, and you respond well to that approach. Watch tendency to be overly critical.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Gemini or Pisces may step into friendship picture, with much of the relationship remaining on an intellectual level. Watch tendency to overcommit yourself. Romance is on an even keel.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Politics are featured; you may be running for office or lending support to a local candidate. Relationship benefits from an open discussion and perhaps a change of scene.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Week sees you rearranging priorities, with a quick series of decisions made after the weekend. Self-education is accentuated. Solution to romantic dilemma comes from surprise source.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Weekend ideas may backfire by Tuesday but you can come up with new and improved suggestions. Prestige starts to increase. Partner becomes less preoccupied, more sentimental.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Ability to empathize wins you life-long friends -- you understand the special needs of people. Your powerful imagination can have both positive and negative results. This year it can lead to spectacular accomplishment -- provided you learn to use it effectively.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 27th, singer Anna Moffo; 28th, composer Richard Rodgers; 29th, producer Robert Evans; 30th, singer Lena Horne; July 1st, actress Leslie Caron; 2nd, actor Brock Peters; 3rd, director Ken Russell.

200 Newport Ave. Office Building Opens

Two Hundred Newport Ave., located in the North Quincy Office Park, and developed by Macomber Development Associates of Boston and Dickinson Development Corp. of Braintree has officially opened.

Secretary of Administration and Finance Frank Keefe, principal speaker at the recent ribbon cutting ceremony, noted the public and private partnership that the building represents and focused on the positive effects such relationships are having across the state.

The new office building is built on air rights over the North Quincy MBTA parking lot. The air rights were leased by the city for 95 years from the MBTA; and the city then subleased it to the developers.

MBTA General Manager James O'Leary pointed out that this type of novel approach to development will yield 150,000 square feet of new office space to North Quincy, and will produce an estimated $82,000 of additional reserve commuter revenue for the MBTA.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING, 200 Newport Ave., North Quincy, is now open.

For the city, Planning Director James Lydon anticipates interest payments on a $1 million Urban Development Action Grant awarded to Quincy which was then loaned to the developers for the project.

Through the UDAG, Quincy becomes a financial partner in the venture receiving both income participation and interest payments. In addition, Quincy will see real estate taxes as well as an estimated 600 new jobs for Quincy. The $17 million precast concrete and bronze glass building was designed by John M. Shesky and Associates of Quincy. The complex has eight floors with views of the Blue Hills, Boston Harbor, and the downtown Boston skyline. A three story atrium filled with tropical plants creates a dramatic focal point to the lobby.

A 360-space parking garage adjacent to the building and the close proximity of the North Quincy MBTA station make

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore, MD, has already leased and occupied 31,130 square feet in the building.

Return To American Ideals, Walsh Urges At Elks Flag Day

John Walsh of North Quincy, Ward 6 councillor candidate, gave the principal address at the Quincy Lodge of Elks 75th annual Tribute to the American Flag.

Speaking before more than 200 persons at the Elks Lodge in Squantum, Walsh, a disabled veteran and member of the American Legion, urged a return to the ideals and aspirations that made America great.

"The Quincy Lodge of Elks has already been a strong voice in urging citizens to take an active part in the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship."

"The American people have always honored veterans of previous wars that our country has been involved in, but for the veterans of Vietnam, that honor was a long time in coming." He was referring to the flags flying at the new Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C.

Walsh also urged a better understanding by the young and old of the unique purpose that gave birth to our nation and the "deep and noble significance" that the American Flag holds for the world as a whole.

"Let's never forget that our flag is not merely a piece of cloth, it is a way of life, a challenge, and a hope in this world of turmoil," he said.

CITY OF QUINCY
IN COUNCIL

Order No. 143

April 1, 1985

All buildings that are required to be equipped with a Type I or Type II Fire Alarm System as determined and described by the Massachusetts State Building Code regulations, Massachusetts Fire Prevention Regulations, or City of Quincy ordinance, shall have all Fire Alarm System devices tested not less than two (2) times each calendar year by a qualified Fire Alarm service company. Lodging homes having thirteen or more tenants shall be equipped with a Type I system. Lodging homes having twelve or less tenants shall be equipped with a Type II system. Devices to be tested are all alarm actuating (automatic or manual), signaling, supervisory circuits, standby battery supplies, and other system and single station units within the structure installed for the purpose of fire protection. The building owner shall be responsible for maintaining proper written records of the tests, indicating dates, time, and signature of the qualified tester, and such records shall be available to be viewed by any Public Safety representative employed by the City of Quincy. The Chief of the Quincy Fire Department, his representative, or the Quincy Wire Inspector shall determine the qualifications of the Fire Alarm service organization or individual.

The owner shall have written proof of a maintenance contract or agreement with a qualified Fire Alarm service company and such agreement or contract shall indicate that the service company is on twenty-four hour call and will respond within twenty-four (24) hours for maintenance or repair of the Fire Alarm system.

Should a Fire Alarm system require maintenance or repair it is the responsibility of the owner or his representative that such system be repaired and placed back into service within twenty-four (24) hours of the discovery of the fault by the owner, service company, or Quincy Public Safety Official. Notification of such fault to the owner or his representative may be written or verbal.

Should the system provide protection for a structure where a life hazard exists including but not limited to apartments (six units or more), hotels, motels, catering houses, hospitals, nursing homes, schools, day care centers or nurseries, it is the responsibility of the owner to have the system in proper operation within the twenty-four (24) hour period or, at his expense, provide a Quincy firefighter during the night time hours or when a life hazard exists. Those failing to comply shall be considered in violation of this ordinance. The Chief of the Fire Department shall determine when a life hazard exists. When such conditions exist, the Chief of Department or his representative shall determine when the fire watch will be removed.

Any owner to be found in violation of this ordinance shall be fined the sum of no less than three hundred dollars ($300.00) per day for each day of violation until the fire alarm system is placed in service to the satisfaction of the Chief of Department or his representative.

All residential structures of five units or less are exempted from the requirement to procure a formal maintenance contract. However, it is the responsibility of the owner of such structure to properly maintain and keep in good working order all fire protection and fire alarm devices.

The name and emergency telephone number of both the owner and the qualified service organization shall be posted in a conspicuous place, preferably on the fire alarm control panel.
